CALIFORNIA TRIES TO OBEY TREATY

But Designs in the New Alien Land Bill to Make Exclusion More Complete.

WEBB BILL ADROITLY DRAWN

BRYAN CHEERS UP WILSON

Telegraphs the President Not to Credit the Alarmist Reports Sent from Sacramento.

SACRAMENTO, April 30.—Floor leaders in the Senate to-day prepared an open right of way for final action to morrow morning on the Webb Anti-Alien Land bill. Before to-morrow night a concrete expression of the Legislature's attitude toward Secretary Bryan's visit will be at hand in the shape of a vote on the most drastic land holding act yet proposed.

Secretary Bryan spent the day in San Francisco, not returning until late to-night. It was not known whether he had received further instructions from President Wilson regarding his proposals to the Legislature.

In his absence the original plan to permit no further delay was carried out, and when the Senate adjourned to-night the Webb bill, which stands as the accepted substitute for the original Thompson-Birdsall measure, was in shape for action when the upper house convenes to-morrow morning.

A long debate is not improbable, and a few amendments may be offered, but they will be resisted with the full force of the Administration leaders, who said to-night they expected the bill to be passed in its present form.

There was wide discussion of the new bill to-day, although but little criticism was forthcoming from the standpoint of California. In comparison with various drafts that preceded it, the Webb act is said to be more drastic and effective in reaching the Japanese farmers of the State than any other proposed measure. At the same time it is regarded as the least objectionable of all from an international point of view.

Wipe Out Japanese Colonies.

Senator Thompson said to-night that the bill provided for "the immediate and direct solution of the Japanese problem." He denied that the wording of the bill, or any part of it, could be taken as a concession to the objections of Secretary Bryan. Gov. Johnson said that so far as he understood the situation the bill did not have the approval of President Wilson.

"It is altogether probable that we would have reached this form of bill in any case," said Senator Thompson, "and it cannot fairly be said that the draft prepared by Attorney General Webb reflects any of the sentiments of Mr. Bryan except his desire that we do not offend any one, and that, of course, has been our guiding principle from the beginning. At no time have we had a wish to offend the people of any nation, and our desire to avoid the words 'ineligible to citizenship' has been quite as strong as that of the Federal Administration.

"Those words are not used in the Webb bill, but I do not hesitate to say that the effect and result are precisely the same as if they were included, and it will be so understood. There was no way to avoid it."

A close study of the Webb bill shows the full extent of the restrictions placed upon aliens who are not permitted to become citizens, although the limitations are precisely those imposed in the existing treaties between the United States and Japan, China, and other nations whose subjects are ineligible. In the case of the Japanese they are prohibited entirely from acquiring or holding land for farming or agricultural purposes, and it is asserted that the adoption of the bill will put an end, not only to the growth of Japanese farming colonies, but eventually to the colonies themselves.

The bill reaches its purpose in two ways:

First—On the death of an alien land owner the bill provides that his ownership ceases and that the property must be taken over by the Probate Court and sold to the highest bidder. Under its terms an alien cannot bequeath real property except to a citizen. The proceeds from the sale of such land are distributed to the heirs by the court.

Second.—No leases whatsoever are permitted. Originally it was planned to permit leases covering a maximum period of three to five years, but the Webb act denies this opportunity for colonization by aliens and provides that any lease of agricultural lands is subject to escheat to the State on the day it is begun. To make this more effective the bill provides that when suit is begun to escheat such leases the court shall appraise the lease, sell the property at a forced sale and pay the value of the lease to the State. The remainder of the proceeds shall go to the citizen owner of the land.

It is held that this section of the act will absolutely prohibit all leases of agricultural land, whether for gardening purposes or otherwise.

"Only citizens and those eligible to become citizens may be proprietors of land," said Senator Thompson. "They may employ Japanese and Chinese, but they cannot lease or otherwise give such aliens an interest or share in their proprietorship. Such land as is now held by Japanese and Chinese cannot be bequeathed to their alien heirs. It must be sold.

"All further acquisitions of land by these aliens will be prevented, leasing colonies will be exterminated, and at the end of the present generation most of the land now held by Japanese and Chinese wil be owned by citizens of California."

Gov. Johnson gave out this statement to-day as the views of the majority party:

YALE SENIOR HELD AS THIEF

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 30.—John P. Leary, a member of the senior class of Yale Law School, was arrested to-night on the charge of stealing a number of articles belonging to members of his class. Leary was one of the most promising members of the class and stands near the top in scholarship. He later confessed to many of the robberies. The stolen articles represent a value of several hundred dollars.

Leary's arrest followed that of two thieves, who were caught in his room in Vanderbilt Hall by Richard Davidson of Dayton, another Yale senior. By leveling a pencil at them Davidson bluffed them into thinking that he had a pistol and held them until the police arrived. They confessed to a long series of Yale and Harvard thefts, including the looting of the room of Robert Alphonso Taft of Harvard, son of ex-President Taft.

The prisoners said they were Alexander Drummond of 4,598 Jefferson Avenue and Henry Peter Wendland of 1,184 Brooklyn Avenue, Brooklyn. Wendland told the police that he was a son of an electrical engineer. They are about 20 years of age.

They confess that they have been through the Yale campus buildings in the past few weeks and have sold their loot in Boston. They confess that they raided Harvard dormitories and sold most of their stolen goods in Providence. Several suitcases filled with stolen property were found in their lodgings here. They say that they left New York City as insurance agents, but becoming discouraged at poor business decided to try robbing college dormitories.

Charles F. Wendland, a mechanical and construction engineer, lives at 1,184 Brooklyn Avenue, Brooklyn. When a reporter called there last night a young girl said she had a brother of the name of Henry Peter Wendland. He was not at home, she said, and she had not seen him at all during the day. She refused to say whether or not he was in New Haven or if he was related to Charles F. Wendland. She said she did not know any one of the name of Alexander Drummond. There is no such address as 4,598 Jefferson Avenue, the highest number on that street being 1,489.

BRIDE ON FIXED POST DUTY.

Police Husband Couldn't Get Off, So She Kept Watch with Him.

The love which laughs at locksmiths also defies the conventionalities of the Police Department, if the case of Patrolman Lewis Bauman of the West 125th Street Station is a fair criterion. Bauman is the first man in the history of the department, according to Capt. Gray, to perform an eight-hour detail of peg post duty under the personal supervision of his wife, and as a result Bauman is being mercilessly "ragged" by his comrades.

It happened that at 9 o'clock on Tuesday night Bauman took to himself a bride in the person of Miss Lillian Gebler. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi H. Benjamin at the home of Miss Gebler at 1,229 Park Avenue, and shortly afterward the stalwart bridegroom was forced to doff his wedding attire and don uniform and brass buttons in order to report for duty at 11 o'clock at the station.

The new Mrs. Bauman insisted upon accompanying her husband to see "if that horrid old Captain won't let him off for just this once." Capt. Gray regretfully assured his fair visitor that her hubby would have to go on duty or lose his job.

Thereupon Mrs. Bauman announced that she would accompany her husband to his post and remain with him during his vigil. Capt. Gray anxiously searched through the police rules, but could not find an order of the department to fit the case. Accordingly he merely cautioned Mrs. Bauman against talking to her new husband while Bauman was on duty.

Arm in arm, the pair left the police station and proceeded to Grant's Tomb, where, after making his wife comfortable on the steps of the mausoleum, Bauman took up his solitary post in the centre of the Drive. As the hours waned he whistled Mendelssohn's wedding march, and was rewarded by a cherry twitter from the shadow of the steps.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning the newlyweds departed from the scene of their vigil to the new home which the policeman has provided for his wife in the Bronx.

WOMAN MORTIFIED IN COURT

Justice Announces from the Bench Her Posture Is Immodest.

A comely young woman, called to the Supreme Court yesterday afternoon as party to a suit, was seated in Justice Gavegan's courtroom listening to the arguments of counsel, when, all unconsciously, she assumed a position which offered a display of gray silk hosiery to any of those present who might have happened to be staring in her direction. The attention of the courtroom was not attracted, however, until judicial cognizance was taken from the bench.

Without warning to the young woman, the shocked Justice startled the courtroom by proclaiming:

"I want to inform that young woman in black that she is disrespectful to the Court in making, perhaps unconsciously, an indecent exposure of herself."

It did not occur to the woman that these remarks were aimed at her, so she did not move.

"If she wishes me to be more explicit," Justice Gavegan went on, "I will say for her benefit that her lower limbs are insufficiently clad. She is making too free an exhibition of them."

By this time all eyes in the courtroom were following the fixed gaze from the bench, and the startled woman realized for the first time what it was all about. Scarlet with mortification and confusion, she hastened to assume a more prim attitude, while her lawyer uttered a protest.

"I don't care who she is," said the Justice in a tone suggestive of righteous indignation. "She is making an indecent exposure of herself in this court."

The staring of all the spectators brought tears to the woman's eyes, but she did not have a chance to explain or apologize.

PLAN HIS HUMILIATION

Assembly Also Means to Defeat His Pet Proposal—Harsh Criticism by Senators.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 30.—Gov. Sulzer's Direct Nominations bill suffered an overwhelming defeat in the Senate to-day. Eight votes, two of which were cast by Republicans, were all that the advocates of the bill could muster in the upper House. Forty-two votes were cast against it.

The keynote of a four-hour debate which preceded the final vote was denunciation of the Governor by Senators of his own party, who objected to what they called the dictatorial methods he had adopted in his effort to force his bill through. They were displeased also by the campaign of cajolery and intimidation that, they said, had been carried on in the executive chamber during the last two or three weeks.

As far as the Senate was concerned the bill was beaten beyond the hope of resuscitation. After its defeat by 42 votes to 8 votes Senator Elon R. Brown, the leader of the Republican minority, moved that the Senate reconsider. A vote was taken on this motion at once. It was defeated by a vote of 18 to 28. This was the finish of the Governor's bill as far as the Senate was concerned. If a friend of the bill had made the motion to reconsider and had succeeded in having his motion tabled the bill could have been held in the upper house as unfinished business to the end of the session.

Despite Gov. Sulzer's optimistic views with regard to the prospective action of the Assembly, everything indicates that the bill will be defeated there as decisively as it was in the Senate. Gov. Sulzer had the Democratic State Chairman George M. Palmer, John H. McCooey of Brooklyn, and William H. Fitzpatrick of Buffalo, Leader Murphy's principal lieutenants with him to-night in an attempt to forestall what he considers "bonehead politics" on the part of the organization and to stave off the inevitable. For all that it is known that the Sulzer bill is foredoomed in the lower house.

The action of the Senate to-day helped to hold wavering members of the Assembly. The violent attacks on Gov. Sulzer in the Senate to-day were part of a plan to put the Assembly in a suitable frame of mind for to-morrow's battle.

Blauvelt Reintroduces His Bill.

After the Senate had defeated the Sulzer bill and the motion to reconsider, Senator Blauvelt reintroduced his bill which was denounced as a "fraud" by Gov. Sulzer in his recent veto message. Some slight amendments had been made. One objection would have stopped the introduction of the new Blauvelt bill, but none arose to champion the cause of the Governor. The law makers have decided to pass the amended Blauvelt bill and send it to the Governor for his approval, after they have defeated the Sulzer bill. It was at once advanced to the order of final passage in the Senate.

Those who voted for the Governor's bill in the Senate, to-day were: Duhamel of Kings, (Ind. Dem.); McKnight of Rennsaeler (Dem.); O'Keefe of Suffolk (Dem.); Palmer of Ulster, (Rep. and Prog.); Seeley of Steuben, (Dem.); Wende of Erie, (Dem.); Wheeler of Delaware, (Dem.), and Whitney of Saratoga, (Rep.)

Sulzer Sure of Future Victory.

While the Senate was debating the bill Gov. Sulzer himself was attending a funeral. When he returned from the services he gathered a group of newspaper correspondents about him. In his talk with the correspondents he made it plain that he would call an extraordinary session of the Legislature "when the people give the word." He expressed the conviction that before the end of the present year his present bill, without a change, even to the crossing of a "t" or the dotting of an "i" would be on the statute books.

From a source through which so-called "inside news" usually reaches the public came the announcement late to-day that five Republican Senators had called on Gov. Sulzer during the day to assure him that they would take the stump in favor of his bill in their districts the moment the present session of the Legislature adjourned. Who the five were could not be learned, and a diligent search among the minority members of the Senate failed to reveal their identity.

In a similar manner the newspaper men were informed that there was a wild scramble for the Sulzer bandwagon among members of the lower house who, if they desire to continue in the Assembly, must return to their constituents for re-election next Fall.

Gov. Sulzer at his afternoon conference with the newspaper correspondents at the Capitol spoke bitterly about the action of Senate Leader Wagner in binding the members of his Democratic flock by caucus action to oppose the Governor's bill.

"There never was such a spectacle in all the history of the State of New York as this attempt to tie up the Democratic members of the Legislature through a caucus to oppose the solemn platform pledges of their party," said Gov. Sulzer. "They are getting ashamed of what they are doing already. The Assembly leaders have abandoned their caucus. They won't be able to beat my bill in the Assembly."

Gov. Sulzer declined to say anything more. Apparently he was much moved. His friends say that he is staking his entire political future on the attempt to put his Primary bill through.

Eager to Attack Sulzer.

The merits of the bill itself were lost sight of in the Senate to-day in the eagerness of Democratic members to attack the Governor of their own party. The Governor was branded as a political Tamerlane by Senator John F. Murtaugh, a Democrat with independent leaning, from Chemung. Leader Wagner accused the Governor of insincerity and despotism.

Elon R. Brown, the Republican leader, led the debate on the Governor's bill. He opposed the provision which eliminates the State Convention and provides for the direct nomination of all candidates for State office.

"It would be most repulsive to me," said Senator Brown, "if a candidate for the office of Judge of the Court of Appeals should find it necessary to take the stump in various parts of the State to ask for votes."

"The Governor's bill would throw the State Government into the hands of the demagogues. The party council provided for in this bill is to be composed either of office holders or office seekers. It would drive out of party councils some of the best minds in citizenship. The most progressive and the strongest

PATERSON BABIES NOT FOR CITY'S CARE

Mayor Willing to Take Them, but the I. W. W. Balked When the Test Came.

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., April 30.—Ten thousand men, women and children jammed Ellison Street in front of the City Hall late this afternoon to witness the promised presentation to the city for safekeeping and proper feeding of about 100 little children, all of them belonging to families whose breadwinners are on strike. It was intended that the move should be the most spectacular of any yet made by the silk mill strikers, but instead of proving a big send-off for the strikers the presentation ceremonies turned out to be a ten-strike for the Mayor, the Commissioner of the Outdoor Poor, and the police.

The agitators secretly harbored a wish that Mayor McBride would refuse the children, but when the committee of strikers arrived at the City Hall with eighty-six little boys and girls and babes in arms they found Commissioner O'Neill of the Outdoor Poor waiting, and ready to take charge of every youngster whose parents lived in Paterson, and whose condition could be proved to be such as to justify the city in taking charge of their children.

The committee was so surprised at the quick acceptance of their challenge that it decided to postpone the presentation until to-morrow, the excuse given for the delay being that it wanted to find out what "Big Bill" Haywood, the indicted chief of the Industrial Workers of the World, had to say about it.

"Why, you have been talking about this thing for a week," said Commissioner O'Neill," and the papers have been full of it. Surely Haywood and all the rest know about it by now, so I don't see why you don't come up right now, give us your name, and then after we have investigated each case we will give assistance to every deserving family. But we won't care for children whose parents do not live in Paterson."

But Mrs. John Gold, head of the committee, would not agree. She was so surprised by the warmth of the welcome extended by the city that she had difficulty in expressing herself.

"Oh, I just must go back and consult with the strikers," she said.

"All right, and if they still think they need our help come back to-morrow. We'll do our part and now it's up to you," replied Commissioner O'Neill.

It was a rather crestfallen looking group of men and women which trudged back to Turn Hall with the news that the Mayor was ready to make good his promise to care for the little ones. "Big Bill" Haywood had no comment to make on the turn affairs had taken. Neither did Miss Flynn have anything to say.

Prior to the afternoon demonstration William D. Haywood, the head of the Industrial Workers of the World, and his four lieutenants, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Carlo Tresca, Patrick Quinlan, and Adolph Lessig, all of whom are under indictment for inciting to riot and unlawful assemblage, were arraigned before Judge Abram Klenert in the Court of Special Sessions. All entered pleas of not guilty and the Judge, despite the protests of the lawyers for the strikers, set the cases for trial next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. In the event of conviction, Haywood and his subordinates can be sent to prison for from one to seven years. The strike leaders were released under heavvy bail for their appearance on Wednesday.

Each of the strike leaders assumed a defiant air as the court clerk read the indictments. The charge against Haywood was inciting to assault the police. Tresca was charged with inciting to assault, inciting to personal injury and unlawful assembly. Quinlan faced a charge of advocating the burning and destruction of property, inciting to assault and inciting to personal injury. Inciting to personal injury was the charge against the fiery Miss Flynn.

Not one word did Haywood utter while he was in the court. His one good eye glittered defiance, but he kept himself in restraint, although it was plain that he was much agitated. In nearly every speech he makes he declares that he has been arrested for "nothing," and denounces the Grand Jury that indicted him.

The court room was crowded, while outside on the green a crowd the police estimated at about 3,000 clamored to get in. A big force of deputies were on guard at every entrance, while outside the police were massed ready to frustrate any attempt at disorder.

A demonstration followed the appearance of Haywood, Miss Flynn, and the other leaders when they were released on bail. "Big Bill" lifted his black sombrero and nodded his appreciation. Then he led his cohorts to Turn Hall, where he and the other indicted leaders harangued all the strikers who could jam themselves into the hall.

To-morrow the strikers will parade through Paterson, and the strike leaders say they will have 25,000 strikers and their sympathizers in line. Seventeen brass bands have been engaged for the parade, which will start at 10 o'clock in the morning.

To-morrow is the date set by the manufacturers for the strikers to return to the looms with the understanding that they were to return for the old wages and hours, with a promise of a readjustment within the near future.

The campaign carried on by the manufacturers met with very little success and a very small percentage of the workers will return to-morrow morning. Those that do return will find a strong picket line awaiting them, for the agitators urged every striker to be out patrolling the picket line to-morrow morning.

The Manufacturers' Association will meet to-morrow afternoon, when a decision will be reached on whether they will keep the mills open or close them down for a period of two months, as they threatened.

William D. Haywood announced in New York last night that 500 children of Paterson strikers would arrive in New York to-day. He said arrangements had been made to have them cared for in the homes of New York members of the Industrial Workers of the World.

STRIKE IN BUFFALO STORES.

Fifteen Hundred Department House Employes to Walk Out To-day.

BUFFALO, April 30.—Fifteen hundred department store employes met to-night and voted to go on strike to-morrow for increased wages and shorter hours. They organized under the name of the Department Store Employes' Association.

The clerks demand an eight-hour day, with Saturday half holidays in June, July, August, and September, and minimum wages of $15 for men, $8 for boys, girls, and women, and $18 for drivers and chauffeurs. They assert that the bundle counter clerks now receive between $2.50 and $3 a week and that the average wages of the girl and women clerks is $5.

The drivers and chauffeurs will affiliate with the Teamsters' Union, which, it is said, will call a general strike next week.

"Gen." Mrs. Drummond and Five Others Arrested—Mrs. Belmont Just Escapes.

LONDON, Thursday, May 1.—At last the British Government appears to have determined to grasp the nettle of suffragette militancy with firmness.

The police yesterday raided the headquarters of the Women's Social and Political Union in Kingsway, arrested six leaders of the movement and took possession of the books and documents of the organisation. Later when the prisoners were charged at Bow Street with conspiracy under the Malicious Damage act a representative of the Director of Public Prosecutions stated that in future proceedings would be taken against any printer who printed militant literature, against subscribers to the funds of the militants, and against persons delivering inflammatory speeches.

The Government's action is generally believed to have struck a severe blow at the heart of the suffragette movement, and will, it is expected, complete the useful work of the so-called "Cat and Mouse" bill, which, though derided by the militant orators and some sections of the anti-Governmental press, is otherwise universally recognized as a formidable weapon of punishment, turning the laugh against the hunger strikers and paralyzing the ring leaders' power for mischief.

The most important immediate result of yesterday's raid was the suppression of the weekly organ of the militants, The Suffragette, of which Christabel Pankhurst is the editor and which has openly advocated criminal attacks on property as a method of agitation.

Among the six women arrested yesterday were the assistant editor, the chief sub-editor, and the busi[illegible] manager of the paper. [illegible] doubtless willing to step [illegible]cant places, but the G[illegible] warning that any printer issuing suffragette literature will be prosecuted will probably preclude the regular issue of a suffragette publication.

The raid on the Kingsway offices took the Women's Social and Political Union entirely by surprise. The militant flag was flying gayly over the building when fifty plainclothes men and twenty-four constables arrived at the offices on the stroke of 11 A. M., marched in and locked the doors behind them. The services of an elevator boy were obtained, and he took some of the police in batches from floor to floor. Others tramped upstairs, and the sound of their feet was the first hint the women and girls in the building, who numbered about fifty, had of their presence.

Too startled to protest, the women waited in various rooms of the four floors while warrants were read out to the leading officials. The police seized the telephones and cut off communication with the outer world.

The young women and girls, mostly typists and voluntary workers, gathered up their belongings. Their bags were searched, their names and addresses were taken, and then they were led out of the building, only five leaders being detained by the police.

Just as the last of the girls, who were not arrested, left the building "Gen." Mrs. Flora Drummond, general organizer of the militant movement, who was out on bail, arrived in a taxicab. She was allowed to enter the building and was then arrested. She and the five other prisoners were taken to Bow Street in taxicabs.

During the afternoon big green shutters were put on the windows, the flag was hauled down, and the militants' citadel was left in the hands of the police.

Papers Commend the Action.

Home Secretary McKenna receives mild commendations in this morning's papers on at last having taken measures to deal with the militant organization. The Standard heads its editorial, "The Doom of the Militants," and says it believes that though the movement may cause some small annoyance even after the loss of the leaders, the rank and file can do nothing effective. Adding:

"An attempt will probably be made to re-establish the Women's Social and Political Union elsewhere, probably under another name. If so the police must make another raid and continue the process till the whole fabric of militancy is shattered. To keep the militants on the run is the surest way to extinguish their activity.

"The vitality of militancy, which has ceased to have real connection with the vote and has lost the sympathy of the great mass of suffragists, cannot survive the destruction of its organization."

The Daily Mail says editorially that the authorities are taking the right course.

LONDON, Thursday, May 1.—The six women arrested yesterday in the raid

MUST PAY INTEREST ON NATION'S CASH

McAdoo Requires 2 Per Cent. from National Banks on Active Government Deposits.

$10,000,000 MORE FOR THEM

Making Deposits Total $52,649,964, from Which the Treasury Will Earn $1,053,000 Annually.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—An important departure in the fiscal operations of the Government was announced late this afternoon by Secretary McAdoo, who stated that hereafter all Government depositaries, both active and inactive, would be required to pay interest at the rate of 2 per cent. annually on public deposits of Government money.

At the same time Secretary McAdoo authorized the transfer from the Treasury to these National bank depositaries, in different parts of the country, of an additional $10,000,000 of public money. This is in addition to the $42,649,964 which the Treasuror of the United States already has to his credit in the National banks, thereby increasing the total to $52,649,964.

The new policy of requiring all National banks which are Government depositaries to pay interest on Government deposits will become effective on June 1. The interest is to be paid on average monthly balances, to be credited twice annually, on Jan. 1 and July 1. On the basis of deposits aggregating $52,649,964, which the banks will now have on deposit when they receive the additional $10,000,000 of deposits, the amount of interest payable annually by them on such amount would be $1,052,999.28.

Secretary McAdoo's announcement reads in part:

> Beginning June 1, 1913, all Government depositaries, both active and inactive, will be required to pay interest at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum on average monthly balances, to be credited semi-annually Jan. 1 and July 1 of each year.
>
> Under Section 5,153 of the Revised Statutes, National banks which have been or may be designated as Government depositaries, instead of placing with the Treasurer as security for deposits, as heretofore, bonds exclusively of the United States or of the provincial Governments for the full amount of their deposits, will hereafter be allowed to secure 70 per cent. of such deposits with Government bonds of the above classes, and the remaining 30 per cent., at the election of the depositary bank, either with similar Government bonds at par or with high-class State, city, and county bonds, acceptable to the Secretary of the Treasury, to be taken as security at [illegible] of their market value, but not
>
> [illegible] banks paying interest on Government deposits the Secretary may be [illegible] keeping larger balances in the [illegible] banks, thereby increasing the [illegible] of money in circulation, and to that [illegible] reducing the amount locked up in [illegible] Treasury.
> [illegible] free balance in the general fund, in[illegible] funds in the Treasury of the Philip[illegible] and in the National banks, amounted [illegible] close of business yesterday to $141,[illegible].

It was in 1908, under authority of the Vreeland-Aldrich act, that the Government began to exact interest on its deposits held by National banks. Interest at the rate of 1 per cent. was charged, by direction of ex-Secretary Franklin MacVeagh, from June 15, 1908, upon special deposits. On April 18, 1912, the rate of interest was made 2 per cent. on deposits made in the National banks in the District of Columbia. On April 22, 1912, notice was given by Mr. MacVeagh to all banks having "inactive" accounts that, beginning July 1, 1912, the rate would be 2 per cent. This has been the rate since that time.

On Jan. 3, 1913, the Treasury statements showed that there were approximately $47,000,000 in the banks belonging to the Government in deposits, both regular and special, with less than $1,000,000 of them drawing interest, and the remaining $46,000,000 without interest. Mr. MacVeagh considered the $46,000,000 of deposits an active bank account and justified his declination to charge interest on that sum on the ground that it was "active."

There exists between depositary banks and the Treasury Department a complete understanding that the Government is not to deplete or withdraw its deposits, but to keep them up to the amount authorized, and in the event of invading the amount the Government replenishes the deficit, which understanding the Treasury Department has always religiously observed. Up to May, 1908, no interest was charged and received by the Government on any of its bank deposits.

The Cox Committee, in its investigation, discovered that the aggregate amount of public money deposited in active or regular depositaries, without interest, at times reached the vast sum of $188,000,000, but that the total amount of interest collected by the Treasury Department from "temporary" depositaries from June 15, 1908, to June 30, 1912, aggregated $497,888.08, and from regular deposits $190,519.18, making an aggregate of $688,407.26, the only interest the Government had ever collected from its deposits up to the beginning of the fiscal year 1913.

The Cox Committee reached the conclusion that large sums of money had been unnecessarily retained in the Treasury as part of the working balance, lying idle, aggregating at times more than $100,000,000; that the Government had lost in the last twenty-six years, in not collecting on its deposits, the sum of $36,600,923, figured at 2 per cent., and that the Government had also lost, on the excess retained in the Treasury over and above $35,000,000, the sum of $47,610,860 in interest, figured at the same rate.

According to statistics given to the House Commitee on Expenditures in the Treasury Department last Winter, the authorized balances of public funds held by each regular (active) National bank depositary at the beginning of the fiscal year 1913, in New York City, were:

AMERICAN EXCHANGE NATIONAL BANK—Since August, 1909, $150,000.

BANK OF NEW YORK NATIONAL BANKING ASSOCIATION—Since its redesignation in September, 1888, $220,000.

CHATHAM AND PHENIX NATIONAL BANK—Since February, 1911, $150,000.

CHEMICAL NATIONAL BANK—Since August, 1909, $150,000.

NATIONAL CITY BANK—Since January, 1909, $250,000.

NEW YORK COUNTY NATIONAL BANK—Since August, 1909, $150,000.

According to this statement ten New York City banks are authorized to carry Government deposits, as regular depositaries, aggregating $1,918,000. On that basis the interest to be paid by them would be approximately $38,360 annually or regular deposits at 2 per cent.

Senate Committee to Make Adverse Report on Nomination.

It Is to be Taught In the Plainfield (N. J.) Public School.

Special to The New York Times.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., April 30.—Believing that boys and girls should have a practical education aside from the ordinary studies taught in the school room, Supt. A. B. Vossler of the North Plainfield Public School is planning to include in the school curriculum the art of milking cows, poultry raising, and vegetable gardening. Mr. Vossler has taken the matter up with the Board of Education, and the plan has the approval of its members.

The idea is to introduce in the school a course of agriculture which has been urged by the parents of many of the children. The course will be started on a small scale at first.

Martine Thinks Nothing Can Beat Him, Assuming Wilson Doesn't Run

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, April 30.—If William J. Bryan is a candidate for the Presidency in 1916 nothing can prevent his election, according to Senator James E. Martine of New Jersey, who is here to attend the dedication of the Jefferson memorial. Mr. Martine said the one-term plank in the Democratic platform would prevent President Wilson's renomination.

"Bryan will be the logical candidate," he said. "People have come to know and to understand him better. People think that he has become more stable in his views, struck an equilibrium, as it were. The fact is, that Mr. Bryan is just as radical to-day as he was twenty years ago, but the people have grown up to him."

He also said the tariff fight would keep Congress in session all Summer.

RENO, Nev., April 30.—Reginald William Rives of New York, who obtained a divorce here a year ago, was married to-day in Carson City to Miss Elizabeth Struthers Taylor, also of New York City, at the residence of Judge James G. Sweeney, former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, of Nevada, Justice Patrick A. McCarren, his successor, officiating at the ceremony. A religious ceremonial was afterward performed by the Rev. W. H. Hornaday.

SAVES MAN THOUGHT DEAD.

Pulmotor Prevents Fatalities in Two Gas Asphyxiation Cases.

The pulmotor was credited yesterday with the saving of two more lives in the cases of persons accidentally asphyxiated in their homes. It took twenty minutes' use of the pumping machine to revive Mrs. Anna Schiss, who was found unconscious in her room at 1,472 Wilkins Avenue, the Bronx, with gas pouring from an open jet.

The value of the pulmotor was even more conspicuously demonstrated in East New York, when Benjamin Kaplan was overcome while he lay asleep on the sofa in his home, at 561 Cleveland Street. Kaplan's friends thought he was dead, and a physician gave the same verdict, but the pulmotor revived him.

PURDY FOR COLLECTOR.

President of New York Tax Board One of O'Gorman's Seven.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo held a long conference this afternoon over the New York Collectorship. Nothing transpired to indicate any change in the situation as affecting Mr. McAdoo's candidate, Frank Lyon Polk, who seems to have been ppractically eliminated from consideration. It was said to-day that the President had been favorably impressed with the qualifications of Lawson Purdy for the office, and the chances now appear to favor such a selection.

Mr. Purdy is President of the New York City Board of Tax Commissioners. He was appointed to that place by Mayor Gaynor. According to information received here, Mr. Purdy has not been identified with politics to any great extent. He was one of the seven men brought to the attention of President Wilson by Senator O'Gorman from whom to select a Collector. Secretary McAdoo's disposition toward Mr. Purdy is not known.

TWO HOLD-UPS IN THE PARK.

Police See in Them Sure Signs of Approaching Summer.

To the police the surest sign of approaching Summer is the peopling of Central Park after dark and the arrival there of hold-up men. Two cases of park robbery were reported last evening to the East 104th Street Station.

The first complainant, James McGrair of 1,248 Franklin Avenue, the Bronx, handed his own prisoner over to the police in the somewhat battered person of James M. Tusaro of 2,151 Second Avenue. He, according to McGrair, was one of three who jumped out from the shrubbery and snatched McGrair's watch and chain. The other two got away and one of them had the watch.

This happened while McGrair was walking near the Harlem Mere. At the same spot half an hour later Morris Golper of 126 East 101st Street and Isaac Fine of 54 East 104th Street were sitting on a park bench with two girl friends when four men interrupted with what looked like leveled revolvers and what sounded like a demand for money. Golper gave them $5 and Fine yielded $1. The four victims lifted their voices in shrieks that aroused the police and led to the arrest of John V. Valler of 1,948 Second Avenue and Jacob Brun of 1,655 Madison Avenue.

Four ex-Inspectors Hear Him as a Witness Tell How They Raised Bribe Funds.

MRS. WALSH PAID HIM $600

Accused Men, Their Writs of Habeas Corpus Dismissed, Go Back to the Tombs in Deep Gloom.

Ex-Police Capt. Thomas W. Walsh, whose graft confession forms the basis of the prosecution's case, was on the witness stand all day yesterday in the trial before Justice Seabury in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court of former Inspectors of Police Sweeney, Hussey, Murtha, and Thompson for conspiracy. When his cross-examiners had finished with him at 5:15 P. M. each one of the four Inspectors had been deeply involved in the graft scandal.

The day was severe for the four defendants. They had spent the night in the Tombs, and they were taken from the prison handcuffed together in pairs to the Appellate Division Court House at Madison Avenue and Twenty-fifth Street. There the writs of habeas corpus, obtained to prevent, if possible, their incarceration in the Tombs pending the outcome of the trial, were dismissed.

It was as prisoners without hope of release on bail, therefore, that they were escorted before Justice Seabury to listen to the developments of the second day of their joint trial. The smiles of the day before had vanished when the Tombs bars closed behind them for their second night's confinement, and the comrades who were again on hand to cheer them and shake their hands also went away with dejected faces.

The stolid Sweeney was least affected by the damaging evidence given by Walsh. Hussey and Thompson followed the testimony of their former associate with deep attention, fidgeting in their chairs and occasionally frowning and shaking their heads. Murtha was most affected by the developments. Although his name was mentioned less often than any of the others, he was plainly much worried by the testimony and consulted frequently with his attorney, Abraham S. Gilbert.

Walsh Needed a Stimulant.

Capt. Walsh, the only witness of the day, was the centre of attraction in the crowded courtroom from the time he took the stand, shortly after 11 o'clock. He appeared to be in better health than he was during the trial of Patrolman Hartigan, six weeks before, but the pallor on his face and the circles around his eyes were unmistakable signs of a low vitality.

"He is a very sick man all right," one of the lawyers for the Inspectors remarked after the examination had proceeded only a little way.

Walsh was accompanied to court by his physician, Dr. William H. Upton. Just before going on the stand a stimulant was given to the ex-Captain. The drug, the doctor said, would have the effect of quickening the blood, but it might also make the brain sluggish. The latter prediction was fulfilled. Walsh, his head sunk deep between his shoulders, was subject to occasional lapses of memory.

It was obvious on direct examination that he wished to do everything in his power for the District Attorney so as to gain that immunity which had been promised to him for his services. Under cross-examination he was caught in many minor contradictions. In no importan detail, however, did he permit himself to be trapped. He grew steadily weaker as his examination progressed. It took him two hours and a quarter to tell his story on direct examination, and his cross-examination occupied about the same length of time. He slept on a couch in Mr. Whitman's office during the noon recess.

Assistant District Attorney Clark, who examined Walsh, launched immediately into the graft transactions in Harlem, showing how Walsh, as the Captain of the East 126th Street Station, had divided the graft collected in that precinct with the Inspector of the district. He said that Patrolman Fox was his only collector.

Divided Graft with All Four.

"What were your dealings with Fox?" asked Mr. Clark.

"Fox went to several places in the precinct and collected money from liquor stores and disorderly hotels. That began in 1901."

"How much did Fox collect?"

"It amounted to about $400 a month. Fox got 20 per cent. of it and the Inspector and I divided the other 80 per cent. between us."

"Who were the Inspectors that you divided with?"

"Thompson, Hussey, Murtha, and Sweeney. They were all heads of the Sixth Inspection District, at different times, but in that order."

"Did you have the same arrangement with each of these four?"

"Yes, but the amount varied a little."

Walsh said that the only disorderly resorts from which he collected were the disorderly hotels. One of these hotels, he said, was known as the Baltic, and was owned by George A. Sipp. He said that he collected $100 a month from the Baltic, of which he gave $40 to the Inspector, kept $40 for himself, and gave $20 to Fox.

Walsh's voice was so weak that every folio of the testimony had to be read to the jury by the stenographer. At first the lawyers for the defense made vigorous protests whenever a name of an Inspector was involved in the testimony, but later they permitted Walsh to tell his story very much in his own way.

The ex-Captain brought into his testimony the names of Chief Inspector Schmittberger, Deputy Police Commissioners Dillon and Dougherty, and also referred frequently to "the Commissioner," meaning Rhinelander Waldo. He never used the latter's name. These persons were mentioned in connection with Walsh's trips to Police Headquarters after George A. Sipp had testified before the Curran Aldermanic Committee last December. Lawyer Jacob Rouss also figured in the story in connection with the attempt to get Patrolman Fox, whom Sipp had accused before the Curran Committee of being Sweeney's collector, out of trouble.

"On Dec. 19," said Capt. Walsh, "Rouss came up to me while I was at Police Headquarters and said: 'Inspector Sweeney told me to tell you to tell Fox to say nothing.' I told Rouss I was no messenger. I told him to tell Fox himself. Rouss said he didn't know Fox, and I pointed Fox out to him. Then Rouss had a talk with Fox. The next day I saw Fox."

"What did you say to him?" asked Mr. Clark.

"I asked Fox what lawyer he was going to hire. He said he was going to take Rouss. I told him to make definite arrangements about the price. 'Oh, that's all right,' said Fox; 'Rouss has been engaged by Sweeney.' Then I went to Sweeney, and Sweeney denied that he had retained Rouss for Fox."

"Did Sweeney say anything about bailing Fox out?"

"Yes; he said: 'I'll do all I can.'"

"Did you do anything toward getting bail for Fox?"

Sweeney and the Sipp Fund.

"On Dec. 26," continued Walsh, "Fox came to me and said that Sipp wanted $2,000 to keep quiet. Fox said the money ought to be given to Sipp to keep us all out of trouble. I said I'd try and see what I could do. I saw Sweeney that night and I told him about Fox's proposition. 'I don't like that kind of work,' said Sweeney. I told Sweeney it would be better to raise that $2,000 than to pay more later on. Then Sweeney stopped to think a while. Then he said he'd see what he could do. The next day I saw Fox, and he said: 'You'd better hurry and get the money. The lawyers are yelling "murder-watch" for it.' The same night I saw Sweeney. I asked him whether he had the money for Sipp. He said no, but that he was working hard to get it.

"The next day, Saturday, Dec. 28, I saw Sweeney again. He said it was all fixed, meaning the money. I told him Fox had been here again yelling 'murder watch.' 'You tell Fox to keep his hands off,' said Sweeney. 'It will be $1,400 instead of $2,000.'"

At this point Walsh retold the story of how Sweeney sent his messenger, Patrolman Hartigan, to take the money to Fox. Walsh said that Sweeney had told him that he had seen Hussey before the $1,400 had been subscribed. The story then drifted to the drawing up of the affidavits to get Sipp back from Atlantic City as a prisoner. Walsh said that Sweeney had admitted to him that he had obtained the affidavits, and continued:

"I went to Sweeney and asked him what he meant by drawing up those affidavits against Sipp. At first he denied that he had anything to do with them. A few days later he said: 'Chief Schmittberger talked to me, and asked me what I thought of that case up in Harlem. I told Schmittberger that I had a couple of affidavits against Sipp. He told me to bring them down. I did and while I was in Schmittberger's office I was summoned to Commissioner Dougherty's office. I suppose that is the way the affidavits found their way into the Mayor's office.'"

$15,000 Hush Fund for Fox.

Mr. Clark next took up the proposed $10,000 fund for the family of Patrolman Fox. Capt. Walsh testified that in this fund, as in the case of the Sipp fund, Sweeney was the master of ceremonies.

"Who did Sweeney say should give to this fund?" asked Mr. Clark.

"The four Inspectors and myself," replied Walsh. "Sweeney said that my share on the first installment would be $600. This conversation occurred in my house. I only had $500, and I turned to my wife and said, 'Nellie, the Inspector wants another $100.' She went out to get it, and when she came back she gave the $600 to Sweeney.

"Then she left, and Sweeney said to me, 'That is the worst of it—having these damned women about.' 'She is only my wife,' I said. 'You have nothing to fear from her.'

"Sweeney then told me that I would have to put up $1,400 more in a few days. He said the total fund for Fox would be $15,000 instead of $10,000. 'Keep a stiff upper lip, old man,' he said, 'and you'll be all right.'"

Wellman Obtains Admissions.

Walsh's cross-examination of Capt. Walsh began at 3 o'clock. Mr. Wellman was the first to take up the cudgels. He obtained some astonishing admissions. The testimony ran:

Q.—When you became a Captain seven years ago, did you start at once to collect from disorderly resorts? A.—I guess I did.

Q.—And Fox was an honest policeman until you sent him out to collect money? A.—Yes, so far as I know.

Q.—Did you tell the Inspectors over you that you were collecting? A.—They knew all about it.

Q.—Did you suggest that you would give them some of the money Fox collected? A.—No; they just ordered me to continue doing as I had been doing. The Inspectors told me whom I could collect from; that is, I got a list of the places from Jimmie Wren, who was one of Sweeney's men. Sipp's hotel was on the list.

Walsh admitted having lied to Deputy Police Commissioners Dillon and Dougherty when they questioned him at Headquarters concerning Fox's collections. He persisted, however, that he was telling the truth at the present time and that even if he had lied to his superior officers some months ago he had not intended to do so. He explained this by asserting that he was ill at the time.

Mr. Whitman looked worried when, after Walsh had testified that he had spoken with Sipp only four times in his life, Mr. Wellman compelled the witness to admit that Sipp had taken an extended trip with him to Jacksonville, Fla., and that Sipp had been a week-end guest on many occasions at the Walsh Summer home in New Jersey.

Mr. Wellman made capital also of Walsh's treachery toward Sipp. When Sipp appeared before the Curran Committee, it was recalled, he threw all the blame for Harlem corruption on Sweeney, saving Walsh's name altogether. Walsh returned this kindness, it was made to appear, by telling Deputy Commissioner Dougherty that Sipp was a degenerate. This was some of the testimony:

Q.—Why did you do all these things against Sipp, your friend? A.—To save my associates.

Q.—Whom are you helping now? A.—Myself.

Q.—You knew that the only way to save yourself was to give the honorable District Attorney some one higher up? A.—I had my choice of standing trial or telling the District Attorney everything. I chose the latter. I was promised immunity if I told the truth and nothing but the truth.

Q.—He promised to let you go free? A.—No; he just promised me immunity.

Q.—Do you believe you are free now? A.—I don't think I am.

Misstatements to Grand Jury.

Mr. Stanchfield, who then took up the cross-examination, spoke particularly for his client, ex-Inspector Thompson. He brought out that Thompson had raided four or five places from which Walsh accused Thompson of collecting. One of these places Walsh admitted was the Baltic Hotel.

"How do you explain that George A. Sipp's place was raided?" Mr. Stanchfield asked.

"He wasn't raided to be hurt. Sipp told me himself that he expected to be raided once in a while, but that he didn't want it to come too often."

Mr. Battle, in his part of the cross-examination, brought out that Walsh, as a witness before the Grand Jury, had charged Sweeney with dividing graft with him for three or four years, whereas Sweeney was in Harlem only one year and five months. The first bribery indictment against Sweeney was based on this evidence. Yesterday Walsh admitted that he had confused his dates. He admitted that Inspector Murtha had later been indicted on the charge of dividing graft with him during the same period which was set forth in the Sweeney indictment. Again Walsh explained that his illness had affected his memory.

The trial will be continued at 10:30 o'clock this morning, and there will be an evening session to shorten the trial for the benefit of the jurors, who must remain locked up throughout its course. The State's first witness will be Mrs. Walsh. Others who are expected to follow are Miss Mischel, a nurse in the Walsh home; George A. Sipp, Mrs. Sipp, Howard Sipp, lawyer Edward J. Newell, lawyer Rouss, Patrolman Fox, and Fox's brother, James Fox. There are several other witnesses whose names Mr. Whitman refused to divulge yesterday. It is not probable that the prosecution's case can be completed by this evening. The defense will present no less than nine or ten witnesses. It is likely, therefore, that the trial will continue into next week.

District Attorney Whitman expressed himself last night as well satisfied with the testimony of ex-Capt. Walsh. He admitted that the Captain had broken down in small details, but asserted that his story of the Sipp bribery fund and of Harlem corruption in general had been unshaken.

WRITS QUICKLY DISMISSED.

Higher Court Holds That Defendants Were Properly Committed.

Handcuffed together in pairs, ex-Inspectors Sweeney and Murtha and Thompson and Hussey were taken in taxicabs early yesterday morning to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court for a hearing on the writs of habeas corpus which had been sued out for them late on Tuesday night. A jeering mob greeted them at the court building, and the handcuffs were not unlocked until after the courtroom had been reached. The four ex-Inspectors appeared very much embarrassed.

The proceedings before Presiding Justice Ingraham and Justices McLaughlin, Scott, and Laughlin were very brief. Justice Ingraham interrupted the argument of Herbert C. Smyth of counsel for the prisoners, and after a momentary consultation with his associates announced that it was the decision of the court that Justice Seabury had a perfect right to order the prisoners locked up during trial.

Mr. Smyth argued that the indictments against the ex-Inspectors merely charged misdemeanors and that the bail bonds never should have been surrendered.

"These men are now on bail," began Mr. Smyth.

"You mean," interrupted Justice Ingraham, "they were under bail."

"There was never any suggestion that their bail was insufficient," Mr. Smyth went on. "We contend that it is a matter of right that the bail bonds be continued until the trial is finished. Section 553 of the Criminal Code provides that the defendants need not be present at any part of the trial until after the jury has found a verdict."

"Do you mean that this section gives them the privilege of absence from their trial?" again interrupted Justice Ingraham.

Mr. Smyth said that was his contention, and added that in his belief the commitment during the trial was an abuse of the powers of the court.

"Well," said Justice Scott, "I imagine if I were trying a case and the defendant didn't appear I would issue a bench warrant. It is a matter of discretion with the court whether the court wants the defendants present or not."

"The right of a person indicted for a misdemeanor to liberty under bail has never been questioned," said the lawyer, while George Gordon Battle, who sat near by, nodded his head.

"If that argument were tenable," observed Justice Scott, "a man found guilty could not even be put under arrest before final judgment."

"And if the court can't compel a defendant to appear before him," added Justice Ingraham, "how can he compel him to appear for judgment?"

The Presiding Justice recognized District Attorney Whitman's appearance in court, but said that it would be unnecessary to take up Mr. Whitman's time or the time of the court on a question which had no foundation. He dismissed the writ and remanded the prisoners to the Tombs.

HOUSE OWNER IN TROUBLE.

Held Under Bail for Harboring Disorderly Women Tenants.

As a sequence to the arrest and conviction of four women for keeping disorderly apartments in a house in West Twenty-fifth Street, Mrs. Sarah Ballin, owner of the property, was haled before Magistrate McAdoo yesterday and held in $500 bail for examination on May 6. Complaints were made against the house two months ago and detectives were assigned to investigate. They arrested three sisters, who subsequently were convicted in Special Sessions and released under suspended sentences.

On April 10 the janitress of the house, Helen N. Cracke, was arrested. Her two children were taken from her and placed in charge of the Children's Society. Following her conviction, the police allege, she charged Mrs. Ballin with visiting the house weekly and personally collecting the rents.

Mrs. Ballin lives at 365 West 118th Street. She appeared bfore Chief Magistrate McAdoo yesterday accompanied by Henry W. Unger, her counsel, who had been instructed to produce her. Detectives Clonan, Ross, and Hanlon, who made the complaint, said that the Twenty-fifth Street house was known to the police because numerous arrests have been made there on charges of disordrly conduct.

SHEPARDS ARRIVE ON BERLIN

In Honeymoon Tour in Four Countries—Enjoyed Egypt Most.

Among the passengers who arrived yesterday on the North German Lloyd steamship Berlin were Finley J. Shepard and his wife, who was formerly Miss Helen Gould. Speaking of his trip abroad, Mr. Shepard said:

"We have had a most enjoyable tour through England, France, Italy and Egypt, and enjoyed it as all good Americans do, especially Egypt. We arrived at Cairo too late to get a dahabeah, but went up as far as the First Cataract on Cook's steamer. As it was the last sailing from Cairo for the season there were not many passengers."

Mrs. Shepard wore a blue serge suit, with hat and plume to match, and sat on a bench on the pier while her husband was interviewed by the reporters. The tan which the Egyptian sun had bestowed upon them was still perceptible when they arrived.

VOTE FOR JAPANESE IYENAGA'S SOLUTION

INSISTS ON RACE EQUALITY

Reminds Japan Society of His Country's Achievements — Wanamaker and Others Support Wilson.

The Japan Society, whose purpose is to promote friendly relations between this country and Japan by educational methods, held a largely attended meeting in the Hotel Astor last night, at which the present problem presented to the two nations by the trouble in California was discussed. The society had invited as its chief speaker Dr. T. Iyenaga, Professorial Lecturer in the University of Chicago. He deprecated the likelihood of war between the nations, which, he asserted, were moving in parallel lines of development.

Dr. Iyenaga said the problem in California chiefly was racial, and should be faced squarely. He insisted, however, no injustice should be countenanced by making color of skin a criterion as to superiority of race, and that Japan's equality with the best nations of Christendom should be admitted, in view of her achievements in the last half century.

Lindsay Russell, President, introduced William Jay Schieffelin, who presided.

Dr. Iyenaga was the first speaker. After tracing the civil and military growth of Japan in the reign of the late Emperor, Dr. Iyenaga said in part:

"The 'Ghost of War' once more is stalking about in the street and in the shadow of yellow papers. He has ridden over the whirlwind raised in California. Many steps taken by President Wilson to prevent the enactment of the Anti-Japanese Land bill by the California Legislature indicate clearly the attitude of the Federal Government toward Japan. When this friendly attitude of the American Government is reinforced by the public opinion of the country as expressed in its press and the pronouncements of various influential societies and organizations, it is sufficient to dispel Japan's fear that anything adverse to her national honor or interest might materialize, or that the trouble might not be settled amicably.

Foresees No Grave Result.

"We indeed are gratified by the appreciation given to Japan's position by the American people at large. We feel grateful to the members of the Japan Society, who have grudged neither labor nor time in their effort to arouse public opinion to realization of what they consider just and fair. Whatever may be the outcome of the present issue in California, I, therefore, see ahead no grave complication between Japan and the United States. We most sincerely hope, however, that the authorities on both sides of the Pacific soon after this episode is over will take a decided step to investigate thoroughly the causes and apply the lasting remedy.

"Otherwise, as this kind of trouble surely will recur at frequent intervals, it will tend to deepen in the hearts of Americans and Japanese a suspicion of an impending danger, which is bound to react detrimentally on the relation between the countries. Such a suspicion easily might be utilized by false prophets of war for needless increase of armaments on both sides. For the cause of peace and mutual welfare of Japan and America, we therefore earnestly appeal to the statesmen of both countries to use all their tact and wisdom for finding the permanent solution of the Japanese question in California.

"I am fully aware that it is a delicate and difficult question, for in it are involved the economic, social, political (I mean local politics) and racial problems. Among them the most perplexing is, of course, the last and this, in fact, is the fundamental point in all this dispute. For, if it is established clearly that Japanese are eligible to American citizenship, the present imbroglio will vanish like the mirage. That potent phrase, 'ineligible to citizenship,' which has caused no small embarrassment to the American Government, as is reflected in the extraordinary mission of Mr. Bryan, then, will have no meaning for us. Let us try, then, not to evade the issue, but to face it with the American spirit, that of frankness and manliness.

"The race problem has been the stumbling block to nations. It is easy to decry the folly of race prejudice. But we are not all philosophers. And it is too harsh to blame only the Californians for their dislike of aliens different in race. The Greeks and Romans, the Hebrews and Hindus, the Chinese and Japanese, even the Teutons and Anglo-Saxons, have all in their history often shown the disposition to regard themselves as the only chosen sons of God, and to place other races under the ban of 'barbarians' or 'inferiors.'

Admits Race Inequality Exists.

"Nor do I ignore," the doctor continued, "the indisputable fact of an inequality existing among races, as there is such an inequality among human beings of the same race. Injustice comes only when the color of the skin is made the sole criterion of inferiority. We appeal to the world's court of justice to pronounce its judgment on us. The achievements of the Japanese race in the arts of peace, to which the world may add as it pleases those of war, and the noble endeavors Japan is making to-day for the attainment of the highest ideals of civilization—these, we confidently believe, justly entitle her to take equal rank with the powers, and to receive from them the treatment due to such a position.

"What we want is the unreserved recognition by the world of this fact—of our equality in every respect with other peoples of Christendom. Once that recognition is made, let statesmen attend to the way of working out the principle smoothly in this world of ours, so full of human frailties. Personally I have an entire confidence that this desired end can and will be attained between America and Japan, the former the land of liberty and equality, the latter the most devoted and grateful friend of America."

President Russell read several telegrams and letters from prominent men throughout the country. Efforts by the society to solve the problem, he explained, had been along the lines of supporting President Wilson. If California desired to restrict the ownership of land by aliens, he remarked, she had a perfect right to do so, and it was her own business, but there were a right way and a wrong way to go about it.

Sees Peril to Progress.

John Wanamaker telegraphed:

> Not in favor of any legislation hostile to the Japanese. If California sets such a precedent it will set back the march of civilization.

A telegram from John W. Foster, ex-Secretary of State, read:

> California has the same right to pass a law prohibiting aliens from holding land that Congress had to pass such a law for the District of Columbia. But in exercising this right the Legislature should not affront the Japanese people by invidious distinction not necessary to attain their object.

John Grier Hibben, President of Princeton University, wired:

> I am in hearty sympathy with the object of your meeting, and trust that your efforts may be instrumental in furthering the cause of National peace and honor as regards our present and future relations with Japan.

Dr. Lyman Abbott, editor of The Outlook, in a letter to Mr. Russell said:

> Our treaty of 1911 with Japan is explicitly declared by the Constitution of the United States to be the supreme law of the land and is to be so regarded, "anything in the laws or Constitution of any State notwithstanding." It is the duty of the people of the United States to see that this treaty is honorably fulfilled. The people of Japan can rest assured that it will be fulfilled.
> I do not believe that any considerable portion of the people of California wish to disregard it, and if a fair construction of the treaty proves prejudicial to the best interests of either nation, the remedy will be found in amicable negotiations for an amendment to the treaty such as will be honorable and satisfactory to both nations.

Dr. Rudolph Teusler, head of St. Luke's Hospital of Tokio, who is trying to raise a fund of $200,000 in this city to buy land and a building to replace the present institution, and toward which the Japanese Government has promised in that case to give $50,000, also deprecated the likelihood of serious permanent difficulties resulting from the trouble in California. It was untrue, he said, that foreigners were prohibited from owning land in Japan. He added that he had bought land in Japan with title for 999 years, and a great deal more was owned there by Christian missions.

GUTHRIE GOING TO TOKIO.

Ex-Mayor of Pittsburgh Accepts Offer of Ambassadorship.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—George W. Guthrie, ex-Mayor of Pittsburgh, has accepted President Wilson's offer of the post of Ambassador to Japan. His name will be sent to the Senate very soon. Senators Penrose and Oliver of Pennsylvania called at the White House this afternoon at the President's invitation and assented to the President's proposal that Mr. Guthrie be appointed to the Japanese Embassy.

In view of the international situation produced by the Alien Land law agitation in California, the post of Ambassador at Tokio has become of additional importance. The Embassy is vacant, following the return to the United States of Larz Anderson, who served for a brief period at the end of the Taft Administration. It is regarded as essential that Mr. Guthrie go to Tokio with the least possible delay. The Japanese Government has been sounded as to whether he would be acceptable, and it is understood a favorable response was received.

TOKIO THANKS BRYAN.

Japanese American Association Commends the Secretary's Efforts.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—The Japanese American Association of Japan, at a meeting held in Tokio to-day, according to advices received by The Japanese American, a local Japanese newspaper, adopted a resolution thanking Secretary Bryan for his visit to Sacramento and appealed to him to continue his efforts toward a satisfactory solution of the alien land law problem in the California Legislature.

A cablegram also was received by the newspaper, saying a mass meeting would be held to-morrow at the Young Men's Christian Association Building at Tokio to protest against the land legislation pending in the California Legislature. Among the speakers will be M. Oishi, formerly Minister of Agriculture.

BEHEADED IN THE SUBWAY.

Woman Supposed to be Helen Tabb Threw Herself Before Express Train

In the presence of half a dozen persons who were waiting to board an uptown Broadway train at the 145th Street Subway station shortly before last midnight a well-dressed woman of middle age threw herself from the platform under the wheels of an express train and was ground to pieces. The service was tied up for fifteen minutes, until the body, which was firmly wedged under the forward trucks of the first car, could be removed.

Supt. Merritt of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company stated later that the dead woman, who was of stout build and apparently about 35 years old, had first descended to the Subway at 11:40 o'clock, and had been observed by Switchman Frank Hera, who was in charge of the switch tower at the northern end of the platform, to accost two policemen in uniform, with whom she appeared to be acquainted. The policemen boarded a Dyckman Street express and left the woman standing on the platform.

The next train to draw into the station was a Van Cortlandt Park express in charge of Motorman M. Bark and Conductor Thomas Hagan. As the first car came opposite to her the woman turned suddenly and jumped to the tracks before it.

When the body had been removed from under the trucks it was found that the head had been severed. The only clue to the woman's identity was a card found in her brown leather handbag. The card bore the printed address of Fred P. Champlin of 508 West 171st Street. On the reverse side was written in pencil, "Helen Tabb, care of Champlin." The woman's handkerchief bore the initial T.

asserted, treaty obligations will be scrupulously observed. The Japanese will not be singled out by any act. The classification made by the naturalization laws of the Nation, established by the constitution of California, and sanctioned by the laws of other States will probably be followed.

This, of course, is our legal and moral right, and such enactment by California cannot justly and logically be either offensive or discriminative.

WORDS OF CHEER FROM BRYAN

Secretary Wires Wilson That Outlook for Adjustment Is Hopeful.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—In a dispatch to President Wilson received late this afternoon, Secretary Bryan said the outlook for a satisfactory adjustment of the situation in Sacramento over the alien land bill was very hopeful. He advised the President not to credit what he called misleading accounts of the status of the proposed legislation, sent out from Sacramento.

Mr. Bryan expressed a hopeful belief in the ultimate solution of the difficulty with satisfaction to the people of California and honor to the general Government in its relations with Japan.

Neither the White House or the State Department was productive of much comment on the situation, but the President's friends said that practically he had won all he had hoped for, and that in the end Japan would acquiesce.

The President let it be known that the entire subject was at a delicate point, and that it was necessary to study the proposals of the California legislative leaders before the position of the National Government could be announced.

It is believed that the Japanese Ambassador will be sounded as to the probable reception of the Webb bill in Japan. The legal counsel of the State Department may give an opinion as to whether the language now employed may be construed as a discrimination or in conflict of treaty obligations.

There is no disposition at the White House to regard Secretary Bryan's mission as having been completed. Mr. Bryan will probably stay on the ground until the whole matter is definitely cleared up.

Officials here commented to-day on the fact that anti-alien agitation was extending over the whole Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain section, even as far north as Alaska. It also was pointed out that recent utterances of Southern Senators and Representatives in Congress indicated that the sympathies of that section were strongly with the Californians in this issue.

It is probable that the President may begin consideration of the extent to which the National Government may go toward enforcing the treaty rights of aliens. The negotiations with the Japanese Government likely to follow the action in California probably will be the means of developing this policy.

The President may deem it advisable to undertake the negotiation of a new trade and commerce treaty with Japan and in some circles here, it is believed this can be accomplished.

Meanwhile, beyond perhaps quietly admonishing the territorial authorities of Alaska to abstain from any act of discrimination against Japanese fishermen, there is little that can be done in Washington until Secretary Bryan returns to the capital.

Representative Richmond Pearson Hobson of Alabama talked to President Wilson to-day about the international conditions produced by the California situation. Mr. Hobson has been preaching for many years that the country should prepare for war with Japan.

To-day, however, he spoke conservatively, deprecating any alarmist remarks by public men. He declined to say what he had told the President, but indicated guardedly that the Californians were foolish to irritate Japan at this time. The questions involved in the present controversy, he said, should be postponed until the United States was more of a naval power in the Pacific.

POWDER MILL SAFE; HILLS IN THE WAY

Of Course, Japanese Land Owners Might Cut Them Down and Shoot Up the Place.

THEY'D LIKE TO SELL OUT

To Some Patriotic Citizen, Looking for a Bargain in New Jersey Woodlands.

Any one sufficiently patriotic and possessing enough cash to buy 1,602 acres of New Jersey woodland can protect the United States from what a morning newspaper described yesterday as a Japanese menace. The purchaser incidentally would put ginger into a real estate deal that is languishing at present, much to the disappointment of several Nipponese who are anxious to make a quick turn on their money.

According to the newspaper which sounded the warning, the Japanese-owned Jersey acres are "touchin' on or appertainin' to," as Mr. William J. Devery would say, the plant of the du Pont de Nemours Powder Company at Haskell, N. J. So what is more plausible than the deduction that should trouble arise between Uncle Sam and the Son of the Sun, guns could be planted on the jiu-jitsued ground and the powder works lambasted until they were put out of commission?

Certain subjects of the Mikado are perfectly willing that the most pessimistic view be taken of this New Jersey situation if it will result in the sale of the lands. They are situated near Ringwood, N. J., a hamlet equipped with a corner grocery and several dwellings, also an Erie depot. Only eight miles distant are the factories of the powder company from which Uncle Sam buys most of his smokeless powder. Eight miles is as eight feet in these days of long-distance artillery. Any artilleryman with half an eye for a target ought to be able to take aim from Ringwood and score nine out of ten bull's-eyes at Haskell. But—

There are two ranges of the Ramapo Hills intervening. Experts agree that it takes time and patience to knock off hilltops with cannon balls. But, shells failing, shovels could be brought into play until the ranges were leveled, and then! The prospect is too drab to contemplate. Wherefor, returning to the real estate end of the matter, the Ringwood woods were purchased two years ago without thought of the strategic value they might possess. It came about in this way, according to Lawrence H. Tasker, a real estate dealer with offices at 154 Nassau Street:

He was a long-time friend of Heitaro Fujita, and when the latter inquired about land investments the purchase of the Ringwood property was suggested. Mr. Tasker told Mr. Fujita he might have to wait some time before realizing on his investment, but as the property was only thirty-odd miles from New York it would eventually sell for gilt-edge prices. So Mr. Fujita bought, paying about $50 an acre. It is understood others were interested with him in the deal. In fact, advertisements published in newspapers in Japan contain glowing accounts, it is said, of the merits of the land.

Sales have been few. Mr. Tasker said yesterday he would like to make an appointment with the editor of the newspaper which published the "alarm" story and enter into negotiations for the sale of the Japanese-owned acres. The newspaper will realize on its investment in the long run and meantime save the country from a danger which it described as imminent, Mr. Tasker said.

K. Saito, Consul General of Japan in New York, when asked about the matter yesterday in his office at 60 Wall Street, held his hand to his face much after the manner of a man seeking to hide a smile, and authorized The Times to quote him as saying:

"I have not very much information on the subject."

Special to The New York Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 30.—"The fact that Japanese have bought 1,600 acres of land adjoining the smokeless powder plant of the du Pont Company at Haskell, N. J., has been known to officials of the company for some time. It has no significance and is merely a coincidence."

This announcement was made to-day by Col. Edmund G. Buckner, Vice President of the du Pont Powder Company, who has charge of all sales of the company's explosives to the Government.

"When the story was published this morning," he said, "Harry F. Brown, chief of the smokeless operating department of the du Pont Company and head of all the smokeless plants, came to my office and said he knew all about the purchase of the land around Haskell by a Japanese syndicate. He did not even regard it as of sufficient importance to formally report it to the company."

Col. Buckner called attention to the fact that, should there be a war, the Government would surround the powder plants with soldiers and keep everybody at a distance, no matter who owned the surrounding land.

"This was done during the war with Spain," he said, "and it would be done again."

When asked if he had heard of Japanese being seen around any of the du Pont plants other than the one at Haskell, he replied:

"The only Japanese I have seen hereabout is a valet in the service of one of my neighbors, and he is peaceful enough.

"The whole story," he said in conclusion, "is absurd."

Ice Company Causes Summons to be Issued for Joseph A. Sheridan.

Joseph A. Sheridan, who has charged the Knickerbocker Ice Company with trying to bribe him, and who has been charged by the ice company with trying to blackmail it, was served yesterday afternoon with a summons to appear on May 8 before Magistrate McAdoo to answer to a charge of extortion. The summons was issued on an affidavit by Charles C. Small, a district Superintendent of the ice company, who swears that on April 23 he paid $1,000 to Sheridan, ostensibly to silence him after his threats to start a newspaper crusade against the company.

COMPENSATION BILL PASSED

Remarkable Lobbying in Senate Forces Foley Measure Through.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 30.—After a bitter debate that continued for nearly four hours, the Senate late to-night passed the Workmen's Compensation bill which was favored by the State Insurance Department.

Two bills were pending. One was introduced by Senator Foley and the other by Senator Murtaugh. The Foley bill was indorsed by the Insurance Department. The Murtaugh bill had the support of the State Federation of Labor.

The Foley bill allows employers to insure with casualty companies. The rates of compensation are a little higher in the Murtaugh bill than in the Foley measure.

The Foley bill was passed after one of the most remarkable exhibitions of lobbying that has been witnessed on the Senate floor in many years. When the roll call was finished the vote stood 26 to 20, the necessary number to pass. Then Senators Bussey and Godfrey, who had voted in the affirmative, changed their votes to the negative. This left the bill with only 24 votes.

Senator Wagner, who worked vigorously for the measure, started to talk with the Democrats who had voted against the measure. He first appealed to Senator O'Keefe, who changed his vote.vote. Then Senator Patton, a former labor man, was urged to change his vote. He arose and expressed his belief in the Murtage-Jackson bill, but said that for the sake of his party he was willing to sacrifice himself and change his vote. This gave the Foley bill votes enough to pass.

Then Senator Ormrod, who had voted for the bill, changed his vote, breaking the majority. Senator Peckham, in turn, changed his vote at the request of Senator Wagner, and as quickly this shift was offset by the shift of Senator Seeley, who ha dvoted for the bill on the first roll call. This placed the bill within one of passing. Wagner made his final plea and Senator Velte changed from the negative to the affirmative, giving Foley the necessary number of votes to pass. The final vote was 26 to 20.

In the Assembly Mr. Jackson of Erie, who was sponsor for the Murtaugh bill in the lower house, moved to discharge the Committee on Rules from further consideration of the measure in order to get it before the house for debate. This motion was defeated by a vote of 55 to 67. It is planned to have both bills before the House for debate on Friday.

The Blauvelt bill, a companion to the Foley measure providing for the formation of mutual insurance companies to provide security for the payment of compensation awards was passed by the Senate.

COUDERT FEARS LYNCH LAW.

Says It May Come in This City if Chauffeurs Are Not Curbed.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 30.—Senator White, Chairman of the Internal Affairs Committee of the Senate, to-day reported favorably a bill containing the amendments to the automobile law proposed by the Secretary of State. These amendments provide for a revocation of automobile licences for cause and for the licensing of all operators of cars. Mr. May has made an active campaign in favor of these changes on the ground that they are necessary to make the automobile law effective. The bill also reduces to $1 the examination fee for chauffeurs, with no fee for renewals.

On the objection of Senator Sage to the advancement of the bill out of its order, it was placed on the general orders calendar, which, at this stage of the session, is referred to as the morgue. The amendment of the automobile law at this session is not probable.

Gov. Sulzer to-day received a letter from Frederic R. Coudert of the Highways Protective Society urging him to lend his support to the Herrick bill, which embodies the amendments urged by Mr. May.

Mr. Coudert referred to recklessness on the part of automobile drivers in New York City and to riotous scenes that followed a recent accident in which a priest was killed. He said that unless the legislation suggested by him was adopted "the recurrence of scenes analogous to the one I have described will inevitably arouse a public sentiment which will lead to violent self-protection, and we should not be surprised if the passions aroused by such recklessness will end in domesticating within our city the lynch law which hereofore has been confined to border towns."

The Governor promised the Secretary of State to aid him in the passage of the May amendments, and he may send a special message to the Legislature urging action which will give the relief asked for.

TO VETO CALL LOAN BILL.

Sulzer Also Condemns the "Blue Sky" Measure.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 30.—It became known to-night that, should it be sent to him, Gov. Sulzer would veto the "Blue Sky" bill introduced by Assemblyman Goldberg, which creates a commission composed of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, and the Controller to pass on the value of securities before they are placed on the market.

It may be stated authoritatively also that the Governor will not give his approval to the bill in his own Wall Street series limiting to 15 per cent. the rate of interest on call loans. This last bill was prepared under the Governor's personal supervision and was warmly advocated by him in a special message to the Legislature. Since then, however, the Governor has been brought to believe that the enactment of such a measure would result in hardship and possibly disastrous losses to investors in times of money stringency.

All the other bills in his series of Stock Exchange reform measures the Governor will insist that the Legislature pass. Indeed, he has emergency messages ready to expedite their passage. This includes the Stock Exchange Incorporation bill, which the Senate Judiciary Committee, according to influential members, never will disgorge.

Persons in position to speak authoritatively say the Governor does not believe that certain of his Stock Exchange reform bills should be written into the law, but he wants to throw them into the discard himself, after the Legislature has passed them, feeling that he alone is strong enough with the people to take the responsibility.

Gov. Sulzer has emergency messages ready for the passage of other bills, including that for the repeal of the Long Sault charter, under which a powerful group of Pittsburgh millionaires holds water concessions on the St. Lawrence River worth many millions; the bill for continuing the modernizing of court procedure, and the bill reorganizing the State Health Department.

TO ADJOURN SATURDAY.

Resolution Reported for End of Albany Legislative Session.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 30.—The Senate Finance Committee to-night reported favorably a resolution providing for the final adjournment of the Legislature Saturday at 1 P. M. The important measures of the session were disposed of before adjournment to-night except the financial bills, upon which there will be no debate.

The adjournment resolution will be sent to the Assembly to-morrow for concurrence.

Confers with Whitman About Bribery Prosecution.

It was said at the District Attorney's office yesterday that Attorney General Carmody would visit Mr. Whitman today to discuss the charges against Senator Stephen J. Stilwell, which will be presented to the Grand Jury early next week.

The charges were sent to Mr. Whitman on Monday and consist of all the testimony taken during the hearing into the alleged bribery on the accusation of George H. Kendall, President of the New York Bank Note Company.

ROAD SCANDALS TO COURT.

Proceedings Soon Against Contractors, Politicians, and Officials.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 30.—Before many days the scandal surrounding the letting of highway contracts during the Dix administration is likely to be aired in the criminal courts. Following the return of Executive Auditor John A. Hennessy to the capital to-day it was learned that the preliminary steps in criminal proceedings against certain contractors, politicians, and high officials connected with the late State Highway Department would be begun next week.

Mr. Hennessy returned from a tour of road inspection during which he traversed twenty-two counties. He will present his report to the Governor to-morrow. During the trip two road engineers who accompanied Mr. Hennessy took samples of the material used on the roads. Examination of these samples, it is alleged, has shown that only in exceptional instances were contracts lived up to. In some instances, it is said, Mr. Hennessy found that the State had paid for repair work which had not been done at all, the charges running as high as $12,000 a mile.

Senator Murtaugh of Chemung, who followed Senator Brown, denounced Gov. Sulzer in a fiery way.

"This bill comes before the Senate backed by a threat," he shouted. "I leave it to the Senate to determine whether or not it is right for a Democratic Governor to say that he will destroy and drive out of the party honest, well-intentioned Democrats because they happen to differ with him over the form of a bill which is of the utmost importance to the people of the entire State.

"If the threat he made to the County Chairmen last Saturday and his pronunciamentos to the press are lived up to, we may soon witness the spectacle of Gov. Sulzer starting out on his State-wide campaign blazing a crimson trail all the way from the Capitol steps to the placid waters of Chautauqua Lake. In his tracks he will leave scenes of desolation and political slaughter.

"His pathway will be strewn with the corpses of ruined Democrats, for this scourge of the people has announced that he will ask for no quarter and give no quarter.

"One would fancy that the days of chaos had descended anew on this fair State of ours, and that there were to be repeated again the dreadful scenes described by Carlyle in his essay on Voltaire. When we hear that the Governor expects to gather the heads of decapitated Democrats and erect a pyramid one cannot help but recall the picture of Tamerlane at the Damascus gate erecting his pyramid of 70,000 skulls of fallen enemies."

Senator Brown said that he was surprised to learn that there had been pressure of an improper nature in the interest of the Governor's bill. With a smile he read a provision against such a course from the Penal Code.

Wagner Hints at Insincerity.

Senator Wagner intimated that Gov. Sulzer was insincere, as he had known of the Primary bill conferences early in the session and had not intimated that he had any views to propose. If Gov. Sulzer had shown an interest in the question earlier, Mr. Wagner said, there might have been harmonious action on the question.

"He knew of the progress of the Blauvelt bill," Senator Wagner said, "but never a word from him. If he had spoken he would have lost the limelight and the first page. He says: 'The bosses are against my bill and I am against the bosses. You must pass the bill just as it was prepared by my committee of 100. I will permit no change. It will be my bill or nothing.' I do not need to come to the defense of the Senate, of which I am leader. I think we all have duty to perform to our constituents and we should conscientiously stand up against threats and offers of patronage or promises.

"I would not sell my soul or my conscience for mere petty patronage and I think little of an official who attempts to threaten or tempts with patronage. I hope the promises alleged to have been made will be carried out. If they are a few more bills will be necessary to create more offices. I learn that State officials received a summons to appear at the hearing on Saturday on the Governor's bill and here is the postscript on the summons:

"'You are holding a lucrative office under the present administration. You are expected to be present and if possible speak for the bill.'

"This is the Governor's command: This or nothing. You have no mind, no intelligence. You were elected to sit and register my will."

The "summons" to which Senator Wagner referred was a letter which was sent from the Executive Chamber to a Democratic office holder. This letter was signed by Chester C. Platt, an "independent" who is secretary to Gov. Sulzer. The Platt letter could not have been more tersely dictatorial in tone had it been written by the late "easy boss" of the same name.

Senator Griffin said he would not permit himself to be excommunicated politically because he did not accept the views of one man.

"Until we destroy the Constitution," said Senator Griffin, "I will not take the dictation of any one man as to what I shall do as a legislator. The bill has the title of the Sulzer Direct Primary bill. This is unusual, as all the bills for our consideration bear the name of a legislator.

"We are at the parting of the ways. Why, if a man could get on a ballot with one per cent. of the party vote you would have a candidate on every corner. You would have chowder party candidates."

Senator Patten of the Second District received word from Borough President Connolly of Queens, Democratic leader, to vote for the Governor's bill, but he did not obey the instructions.

The bill will be taken up in the Assembly, probably to-morrow, and the lower house, braced by the decisive action of the Senate, will give it short shrift.

FRIEDMANN LEAVES TOWN.

Will Treat No New Patients—Parts with Associates.

Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann left yesterday for Montreal, where he will administer second treatments of his turtle vaccine to tuberculosis patients. At the completion of this work he will visit Providence, R. I., on a similar mission. In neither city will he undertake further clinics, as he planned originally. He considers that the cases already treated are sufficient in number to satisfy those who seek proof of the efficacy of his treatment.

Dr. Friedmann's departure revealed that he had surrounded himself with a new staff. He left behind de Vidal Hundt, who accompanied him to this country from Berlin as secretary and publicity promoter, and Dr. M. A. Sturm, house physician at the Hotel Ansonia, where Dr. Friedmann has apartments. He announced that Mr. Hundt and Dr. Sturm were no longer identified with him. The latter was indignant yesterday over what he described as the ungracious treatment he had received. Dr. Dwinell, a Providence physician, accompanied Dr. Friedmann; also a stalwart addressed as Arnold.

PEACE MAY DEPEND ON MEETING TO-DAY

PLEADS WITH MONTENEGRO

Italy Tries to Induce King Nicholas to Give Way—Other Powers Ask Austria to be Patient.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Thursday, May 1.—While there is no marked new development in the Scutari situation, which Lord Morley in the House of Lords described as "one of the most perplexing knots imaginable," diplomacy was not inactive yesterday, and Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, besides attending a Cabinet Council at which the attitude to be adopted by England in all eventualities was decided upon, had long conferences with some of the Ambassadors, who are to meet in a fateful conference to-day.

Austria, according to her promise, is waiting to see what is the outcome of to-day's meeting of the Ambassadors, but unless some definite means is discovered of inducing Montenegro immediately to evacuate Scutari, only confirmed optimists believe that the Dual Monarchy will hold its hand much longer.

There is some tendency to regard the situation as hopeless, but it must be borne in mind that even if Austria determines to take action, with or without Italian co-operation, against Montenegro, such action will not necessarily involve a breakup of the European concert, still less a European war.

As The Times points out, however, the menace to general peace is more serious than at any other moment since the outbreak of the Balkan war, in the course of which there have been several perilous moments.

Sir Edward Grey himself has not abandoned hope of being able to set before to-day's conference proposals which will avert the danger of immediate action by Austria, and the Italian Government and monarch on their side are using every influence with the King of Montenegro to induce him to bow to the will of Europe.

The most hopeful point in the situation is that Austria is not demanding immediate coercive action against Montenegro, but is only pressing for a decision of the powers to take forcible steps to compel King Nicholas to evacuate Scutari if he continues to oppose the summons to do so. It is on this that Sir Edward Grey bases his hope of success to-day.

All the powers remain agreed that Scutari must be evacuated. Sir Edward's difficulty is to reconcile their different views as to the method by which the evacuation can be obtained.

Germany and Italy are both pledged to support Austria, though both would prefer concerted to separate action, and are counseling patience. If Austria's patience is exhausted Italy will probably decide to take a hand with her, for Italy's interests in Albania are as vital as Austria's, and she cannot allow her ally to act alone.

France and Russia are, with Great Britain, agreed about the eventual evacuation of Scutari, but Russia is particularly averse to coercive action until all other means have proved unavailing, and the other two powers of the Triple Entente take a similar line.

In the meanwhile, it is suggested, a middle course out of the difficulty may be found. This would consist in giving more active form to the blockade by the international fleet of the Montenegrin Coast, which has hitherto excited merriment on the part of King Nicholas's subjects, and in landing from the fleeet a detachment to seize Antivari and Dulcigno, so as to show Montenegro that Europe is in earnest about Scutari.

Such a step, it is argued, would satisfy Austria that the European Concert is not playing her false and induce her to consent not to take separate action for ten or twelve days, during which Montenegro might come to her senses and also have an opportunity of settling the terms of compensation which King Nicholas requires for abandoning Scutari.

While it is impossible to predict this as a fact, there is reason to believe that some compromise of the kind will be reached at to-day's conference and that the danger of fresh warfare will thereby be averted.

ROME, April 30.—It is considered here that the last hope of avoiding the gravest complications in the Balkan situation lies in the meeting of the Ambassadors in London to-morrow, when the question of united action by the powers will, it is expected, be decided.

The general fear in Rome is that Great Britain, France, and Russia, not because they desire discord, but because they do not wish to back Austria in immediate action against Montenegro, may procrastinate, thus forcing the isolation of Austria. In such case, Italy, for the protection of her own interests, will almost certainly intervene to insure order in Albania and enforce there the decisions of Europe.

PARIS, April 30.—The attitude of Austria-Hungary toward Montenegro is watched both by the Government and the public with strained attention.

The inquietude on the Bourse was deeper to-day than at any time since the Balkan War began, yet an intimation, seemingly derived from official circles, was in circulation that the issue from the present crisis was likely to be peaceful and that a way would be found to persuade Montenegro to yield Scutari in return for other unnamed advantages. Much is expected from to-morrow's conference of the Ambassadors in London.

LONDON, Thursday, May 1.—A Constantinople dispatch says that the Porte has ordered Essad Pasha to disarm and disband his native troops and to send the regulars to Beirut.

Both Austria and Montenegro, according to Vienna advices, are continuing their military preparations. Montenegro has dispatched 5,000 troops drawn from Scutari toward the Austrian frontier and has mounted heavy guns above Cattaro. Great Ministerial and diplomatic activity prevails in Vienna, where a council of war was held at the Foreign Office last evening.

One hundred thousand Austrian troops are now moving in the direction of the Montenegrin frontier, according to an Antivari dispatch to The Daily Mail. The majority of these are from Styria. A large number of Austrian troops are also proceeding to Antivari by sea.

Mrs. Perkins Recovers $3,000 Damages from a French Railway.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, April 30.—Mrs. Edward Perkins, formerly Miss Sarah Ashley, a well-known American resident of Paris, was the plaintiff to-day in an action brought against the Western State Railway, in which she claimed $10,000 damages for injuries received in a railway accident at Nantes in 1911.

After hearing the evidence the court awarded her $3,000.

PRISONERS FREED BY RUSE.

Armed Men in Sailors' Uniforms Board Cruiser in Lisbon Harbor.

LISBON, April 30.—Revolutionaries by a daring plan obtained the release yesterday of a number of prisoners arrested in the course of Sunday's political disturbances in the capital and confined on board the Portuguese cruiser Republica in the harbor.

Several boats filled with armed men dressed as sailors clambered on board the cruiser at 2 o'clock in the morning and demanded that the prisoners be handed over to them. At the same moment three shots were fired from the guns on the cruiser, for what reason has not been disclosed.

The prisoners were then given up by their guards to the men who had boarded the warship. It appears as though the affair were carried out with the connivance of some of the officers and crew.

The boarders and the rescued prisoners then departed, and they landed and disappeared before the naval authorities in the harbor understood what was going on.

The firing from the cruiser caused great alarm in the capital, many persons believing that a fresh revolution had started and that fighting was going on.

The Monarchist papers Dia and Nacao and a Socialist journal were suspended yesterday by the Civil Governor in spite of their protests that the press law had not been violated.

Martial law has not yet been proclaimed in the capital.

He defeated Capt. E. M. Browne, Unionist, by a vote af 1,722 to 1,556.

They were sold to Butler.

SUFFRAGE OFFICES IN LONDON RAIDED

on the offices of the Women's Social and Political Union were later taken before the Magistrate at Bow Street. They were all remanded without bail.

Archibald H. Bodkin, counsel for the Treasury, prosecuted on behalf of the Government. He said the proceedings involved a charge of conspiracy and had been taken with a view to bringing to an end a state of affairs which had become dangerous to the civilized portion of the community in the British Isles. The Women's Social and Political Union, he continued, of which all the defendants were ringleaders, had been responsible for an enormous amount of crime and vast and almost daily inconvenience to the public.

Mr. Bodkin intimated that still more serious charges might be brought against the prisoners when the police had completed their investigation into the "nefarious practices" of the organization. He then warned aiders and abettors of the society, as well as its contributors, among whom are many American women, in the following words:

"I desire to give fair public warning that if any person makes a speech in encouragement of this cause proceedings will be taken against the speaker. If any printer prints or publishes literature originating from the Women's Social and Political Union he may find himself in a very awkward position. If those who have money cannot find a better use for it than giving it to this organization for the commission of crime they will be prosecuted, if discovered.'

The raid on the headquarters of the Women's Social and Political Union was affected by police, commanded by Superintendent Patrick Quinn of Scotland Yard, who has been placed in charge of the department for dealing with the suffragettes. The women arrested, besides "General" Drummond, were Miss Barbara Kerr, the Secretary of the Women's Social and Political Union; the Misses Lake, Lennox, and Barrett, and Mrs. Saunders, all of whom are officials of the society, and were in charge of the offices at the time of the raid. A large quantity of documents were seized.

Confiscate Galleys of Type.

Not content with arresting the two women editors of the militants' paper, the police yesterday raided the printing office and carried off all the galleys of type set up for to-day's number. The women workers in the office, who escaped from the clutches of the police, assumed an indifferent attitude, but stood gazing forlornly at the doors and at the bare flagstaff from which the great purple, white, and green flag had floated day and night for months.

The women say the raid on their offices was expected, and assert that they had removed most of their valuable belongings to two empty houses they had in reserve in case they should be required.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont made an exhaustive trip round the suffragette centres yesterday. She reached the headquarters of the Woman's Social and Political Union too late to be included among those arrested by the police. When she arrived she found policemen in possession, and decided that it was safer to gaze at the offices from the outside than to attempt to penetrate into the interior.

Mrs. Belmon has joined the International Suffrage Club of London, and has purchased a large selection of photographs of militant suffragettes and of campaign posters for the adornment of her political headquarters in New York. She intends to start for Paris to-day, and will invite Christabel Pankhurst to spend the Summer with her in her villa at Deauville.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, April 30.—A violent attack was made to-day by a party of anti-suffragettes on a shop and offices used as the headquarters of the Women's Social and Political Union here.

Bricks were hurled through the windows, and all the desks in the place were broken open, while quantities of suffrage literature and bannerets were destroyed.

TRYING TO SPOIL PEACE CELEBRATION

MRS. DRUMMOND'S MESSAGE

Wants "These War Provokers" Boycotted — Suffragists Here Say They Won't Make Demonstration.

LONDON, April 30.—The British delegation now on its way to the United States in connection with the celebration of the Anglo-American peace centenary may encounter some hostile demonstrations. Certain leaders of the extreme Irish and Labor movements are advising their American friends to express opposition to the British mission, and suffragette leaders are appealing to American women to denounce any friendly dealings betweeen the two countries until England gives the vote to women.

The opponents of the peace mission predict that its public appearance will provoke outbreaks such as occurred at the peace meeting at Carnegie Hall in December, 1911, in support of the ratification of the arbitration treaties pending between the United States, Great Britain, and France.

Because Lord Weardale and other members of the delegation are connected with the Carnegie Peace Foundation the Laborites call it "The Carnegie Mission."

The English labor unions will hold meetings, as is their custom, in Hyde Park to-morrow, May Day. Representatives of German unions will parade with them for the first time, and English and German speakers intend to denounce the "Carnegie Mission." Their ground is that the mission is designed to foster an Anglo-American alliance and to alienate American sympathies from Germany, whereas, they argue, workers of all nationalities should stand together for their own interests.

Ben Tillett, Secretary of the Dock, Wharf, Riverside, and General Workers' Union of Great Britain and Ireland, will send a cablegram to Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, asking him to oppose the British delegation.

"General," Mrs. Flora Drummond, one of the leaders of the militant suffragettes, who was arrested to-day, succeeded to-night in smuggling out of the jail to a friend a message for the American suffragettes. This message, which later was cabled to the Women's Suffrage Union of New York, was as follows:

> Carnegie's so-called peace delegates are nearing your shores. None of them has raised a voice against the torture of women in English prisons. The Tory members of Parliament among them won their seats on a sink the German Navy policy. They have all voted against home rule. Suffragettes, Irishmen, and Germans organize a national boycott against these war-provokers.

Miss Scott-Troy, the San Francisco suffragette, sent a cablegram to Senator O'Gorman at Washington, saying:

> If the Senate will investigate Carnegie's peace fund they may find an olive branch wrapped around a sword. We hope the Senate will not attend the functions given in honor of the peace delegates, who dictate to Americans that they must rewrite their history to save English feelings and sully the fair name of George Washington.

New York women suffragists have taken no action in regard to the British delegation now on its way to the United States for the celebration of the Anglo-American Peace Centenary, in regard to demonstrations, hostile or otherwise. No word had been received last night by Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch, President of the Women's Political Union, to whom "Gen." Mrs. Flora Drummond is said to have cabled in regard to the peace delegation. Mrs. Blatch said last night that she would have nothing to say about the matter until she had received some word from the women on the other side.

Miss Mary Garrett Hay, President of the Woman Suffrage Party, founded by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the President of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance, said last night that the party would make absolutely no demonstration in regard to the peace delegates.

"Our work is with the women of America," said Miss Hay, "and I do not think we should interfere in any way with the women of other countries."

CANADA'S PEACE DELEGATES.

Sir Edmund Walker and Four Others Coming Here Next Week.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 30.—The Executive Committee of the Canadian Peace Centenary Association completed to-day its arrangements for the conference at New York May 5-9 of delegates representing the United States, Great Britain, Canada, and Newfoundland concerning the approaching commemoration of 100 years of peace between English-speaking nations. The Canadian delegation will consist of five members of the Executive Committee, namely: Sir Edmund Walker of Toronto, President of the association; C. A. Magrath of Ottawa, a member of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission; Senator Dandurand of Montreal, former Speaker of the Senate; Travers Lewis of Ottawa, and C. F. Hamilton, Honorary Secretary of the association.

After the conference the Canadian delegates will visit Boston and Washington.

CAMORRIST PRIEST FREED.

Vitozzi Kisses the Ground and Hastens to Church to Pray.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

ROME, April 30.—The Camorrist priest Vitozzi, who at the Viterbo trial was sentenced to six years' hard labor, was released from prison to-day. Counting the five years spent in jail awaiting trial, he had served his sentence.

Vitozzi, who had been confined in the Florence Penitentiary, kissed the ground when he was discharged, and loudly proclaimed his innocence. He drove at once to church, where he prayed a long time. Afterward he was escorted to the station and took the first train for Naples.

One of the Camorrists convicted at Viterbo, Mattei, who is serving a sentence of twenty years, has gone mad and will probably be transferred to an insane asylum.

CUBAN "REBELLION" A YARN.

Stories of Smuggled Arms at Matanzas Prove Baseless.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, April 30.—The Governor of Matanzas Province denies the reports that arms have been landed near the City of Matanzas. He wired to-day that his investigations showed that the supposed arms were empty boxes purchased in Matanzas by natives, who were unloading them along the coast with the idea of using the lumber for building shacks.

Reports that a revolution is breeding have received wide publicity, but all investigations regarding the landing of arms at various places are resulting like the one described. There is not the slightest indication that the Liberals have any intention of starting a revolution now.

KAISER'S HEIR ON WAR.

Crown Prince Declares the Sword Will Always Be the Final Factor.

BERLIN, April 30.—Crown Prince Frederick William, in writing the preface to a book, "Germany in Arms," published to-day, of which he is reputed to be the author, exhibits himself, the future German Emperor, as a nonbeliever in the possibility of ever abolishing war. He declares that diplomacy may delay and occasionally avert conflicts, but that "the sword will remain the final and decisive factor until the world's end."

In another passage he says: "Only with the support of our good sword we maintain that place in the sun which is due to us, but which is not willingly accorded to us."

The author points out Germany's unfortunate geographical position and warns his countrymen that the German Army and Navy must be kept continually at the highest point of efficiency. He says that increasing commercialism and the desire for riches threaten to destroy the old ideals, "since for the undisturbed earning of money one needs peace at any price. History shows that the nations in which commercial interests have decided their policy have ended ingloriously."

The Prince appeals to all Germans to be ready to sacrifice their blood and their possessions, and continues: "Then the world may be full of devils arrayed in arms against us, but we shall conquer."

The Army bill was again before the Budget Committee of the Imperial Parliament to-day, when an important amendment was voted, the six new cavalry regiments demanded by the Government being cut down to three. This change was adopted by a vote of 16 against 12, some of the committeemen arguing that cavalry had become less necessary owing to the development of aviation and the virtual abolition of cavalry charges. A further motive for the reduction of this arm of the service was advanced by one member, who declared that the officers of cavalry regiments were snobbish.

The bill was erroneously reported to have been voted in its entirety yesterday, whereas only that part of the measure dealing with the increased peace footing of existing infantry regiments and the raising of additional units had been adopted.

DECLARES RUDOLPH WAS A CONSPIRATOR

JOHN ORTH HER INFORMANT

Long-Missing Archduke, She Says, Told Her the Emperor's Heir Had More Than One Reason for Suicide.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, April 30.—Eveleigh Nash to-day published in England Countess Marie Larisch's loudly heralded book "My Past," which the Putnams are publishing in America.

The principal feature of the work is, of course, the chapters in which the Countess claims to throw new light on the Meyerling tragedy. She declares that Archduke Rudolph committed suicide not only because of an unhappy love affair, but because he had conspired against the throne of his father, Emperor Francis Joseph. Knowledge of the latter fact, the Countess says, only reached her some time afterward when she met a mysterious stranger who turned out to be Archduke John of Tuscany (John Orth).

The story, which is not likely to be fully accepted as a correct version of the Meyerling tragedy, nevertheless has all the interest of a melodramatic romance.

Countess Larisch is now in London visiting Mrs. Ffoulkes, who, it is understood, helped in the preparation of the book for publication.

While the Meyerling chapters are the sensational feature of the book, the general reader will probably be more interested in the picture it gives of the ill-fated Empress Elizabeth of Austria, who, according to the author, her niece, left an autobiography which cannot be published until forty-five years after her death.

Crown Prince Rudolph, only son of Emperor Francis Joseph, was found dead in a hunting box at Meyerling on Jan. 30, 1889. He was born in 1858, and in 1881 married Princess Stephanie of Belgium. It was not until a considerable time after the tragedy that it became publicly known that not only the dead body of the Archduke, but also the body of a beautiful woman, Baroness Marie Vetsera, was discovered in the Meyerling hunting box.

Archduke John of Tuscany did not disappear until 1891, so Countess Larisch's book does not throw any new light on the fate of that Prince, who renounced his rank and titles and sailed for South America after taking the name of John Orth. He has been many times reported to have been seen in various parts of the world, and several persons have claimed to be the missing Archduke, but the general opinion is that he perished at sea with the woman whom he married and for whose sake he gave up his royal position.

The story of the Meyerling tragedy as revealed in the Countess Marie Larisch's memoirs will be told in the Magazine Section of next Sunday's TIMES.

POPE LEAVES HIS ROOMS.

Declares He Is Now Quite Well, but Is Urged to be Very Cautious.

ROME, April 30.—The Pope to-day sat in an armchair at his desk in the large library of the State Department. This was the first time since his recent illness that the Pontiff had been able to leave his apartment for the floor below. During the past week he has gained much in strength, and the removal of the restrictions placed upon him by his physicians had cheered him greatly.

The Pope sent for Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, to surprise him, but the Cardinal, although proffering his warm congratulations, urged the utmost caution.

The Pope remarked that he could not be more prudent, because, although now quite well, he had postponed the reception of several personages who wished to see him on important affairs for several more days.

DUCHESS'S STATE CRITICAL.

But the Condition of Connaught's Wife Was No Worse Yesterday.

London, April 30.—The condition of the Duchess of Connaught, wife of the Governor General of Canada, remains stationary.

The results of yesterday's operation for abdominal trouble are regarded as satisfactory, but the critical period will not be passed for several days, in the opinion of the surgeons in attendance. The following bulletin was issued just before noon to-day:

> The Duchess of Connaught had a fair night. Her condition will be a most anxious one during the next few days.

LONDON, April 30.—At a meeting of the Maidstone Town Council today the Mayor announced that the local Government Board had empowered the Council to borrow $10,000, to be repaid in sixty years, to enable it to purchase the famous Tithe Barn, which a wealthy American was reported to have contemplated removing to the United States.

NOBLE ACCUSED OF MURDER

Baron Bisping, Rich Landowner, Charged with Killing Prince Lubecki

WARSAW, April 30. — An extraordinary sensation was caused to-day by the arrest of Baron John Bisping, one of the wealthiest landlords of Lithuania, on the charge of murdering Prince Ladislas Drucki Lubecki, a close relative by marriage, whose body was found, pierced by two bullet wounds, on April 22 in the park adjoining his residence at Teresin, near Warsaw.

Prince Lubecki, who was a well-known Polish nobleman and President of the Automobile Club of Warsaw, left his house eight days ago with Baron Bisping with the intention of accompanying him to the railway station. As the Prince did not return, a search was made, and his body was found in the park, with his carriage and horses standing near by.

The arrest of Baron Bisping followed on his evidence at the inquest, which, the police allege, was contradictory in regard to the last moments the two men spent together.

Baron Bisping married a Princess Radziwill, daughter of Count Andrew Zamoyski and Princess Caroline de Bourbon.

1,000-MILE FLIGHT WINS.

Guillaux Successful with His Journey from Biarritz to Holland.

PARIS, April 30.—Ernest F. Guillaux, a French airman, with his aeroplane flight on Sunday, when he traveled from Biarritz to Kollum, Holland, a distance of nearly a thousand miles, won a prize of $10,000 and the Pommery or Single Day Distance Cup. The contest was decided at sundown tonight.

Competition for the Pommery Cup, valued at $1,500, is open every six months, and the prize is awarded to the aviator making the longest flight in a straight line between sunrise and sunset of the same day.

Guillaux started from Biarritz, in the extreme southwest of France, at 4:42 o'clock Sunday morning, and after making two stops—at Bordeaux and Villacoublay—to replenish his fuel, finally reached Kollum, Holland.

Pierre Daucourt, also a Frenchman, won the cup on the last previous occasion, with a flight on Oct. 6, 1912, from Valenciennes to Biarritz, a distance of 530 miles.

ROUEN, April 30.—Jules Vedrines, the French aviator, started at 4:37 o'clock this morning from Lyons on his monoplane on a flight, the objective of which was Edinburgh, a distance of approximately 930 miles in an airline to the North. He reached Villacoublay at 8:10 A. M., and spent fifteen minutes there refilling his tanks.

After an eighty-mile flight from Villacoublay Vedrines met with a windstorm when over this city, and was forced to abandon his journey.

COMPIEGNE, April 30.—Eugene Gilbert, a French aviator, attempted to fly to-day from Amberieu, in the Department of Ain, across France and over the English and St. George's Channels to Ireland.

After flying a distance of 260 miles the airman was obliged to descend at Compiegne, where he ended his flight.

FEDERALS LEAVING MEXICAN BORDER

AMERICAN REPORTED SLAIN

Mining Man Said to Have Been Victim of Rebels, Together with Other Foreigners.

EL PASO, Texas, April 30.—Federal forces are to evacuate Juarez, opposite this point, the most important port of entry on the border, and terminus of the Mexican Central Railway. Orders to hasten to Chihuahua City, the State capital, were received late to-day by Col. Juan N. Vasquez, the Juarez garrison commander.

The projected movement is in keeping with the general order issued some days ago, that all Federal forces in the State mobilize at Chihuahua City, threatened by attack from the south. Already the Constitutionalists are pressing close to Juarez from the territory along the Rio Grande to the east.

The movement to the State capital will be hastened by to-day's desertions from the Juarez garrison to the insurgents. Empty military trains arrived to-day at Juarez from Chihuahua City to convey the border town's garrison of 500 men to the State capital.

The Federals at Parral, the American mining centre southwest of Chihuahua City, were also ordered to move to the State capital, but have been unable to do so, owing to the almost complete destruction of the railways.

For several days Gen. Antonio Rabago, military Governor of the State and commander of the northern military zone, has been accumulating food and ammunition supplies at the State capital, preparatory to the general mobilization.

The Constitutionalists have recaptured Jiminez, an important junction point on the Mexican Central; they still retain Santa Rosalie, and their troops stretch south from a point near Parral northward to Bachimba, thirty miles south of the city of Chihuahua. They have prevented the Federals at Parral thus far from advancing toward the relief of Chihuahua City.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30. — Consul Bonney at San Luis Potosi, Mexico, reported to the State Department to-day that Matehuala had been captured by the rebels, and that a British mine manager and several others had been killed. No details were given beyond this statement.

The State Department has received no confirmation of the reported killing of William A. Dingwall, a citizen of the United States, in the City of Mexico.

The Department also has a dispatch outlining a plan announced in a proclamation at Piedras Negras by Gov. Carranza for enforcing a loan of 5,000,000 pesos (about $2,500,000). To effect this loan, Carranza says that he will issue and force the circulation of paper money to the amount named, and that the money will be guaranteed by the Constitutionalist Government.

Persons who refuse to receive or circulate this proposed money will do so at the peril of a month's imprisonment for the first offense and six months for the second offense. Those who take the new money at a discount will also suffer imprisonment.

Carranza promises that when constitutional order is restored laws shall be passed that will provide a way to redeem the paper money and fix a date for its redemption. The majority of the merchants at Ciudad Porfirio Diaz and Piedras Negras are foreigners, and the prospect has created much alarm among them.

TARIFF BILL PROOF AGAINST ASSAULT

House Democrats Stand Firm in Allowing Only Verbal Changes Proposed by Committee.

STEEL TRUST A TARGET

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Republican and Progressive Party members of the House to-day abandoned all hope of amending the Underwood Tariff bill. They worked hard to change the rates in the earlier schedules of the measure, covering chemicals, oils, paints, earthenware and glassware, steel and metals, offering many amendments and heckling the Democratic leaders with charges that the bill was illogical, unscientific, and hobble-skirted.

But the Democratic side has made up its mind to stand by the Ways and Means Committee and allow no change beyond amendments, here and there, offered by members of that committee in charge of the measure. The Democrats are presenting so solid a front that the attacks from the opposition are futile. The Republicans and the Progressives are at loggerheads on the tariff and generally in disagreement. The Republican fire has been scattered and ineffective. Almost in the same breath one Republican member has condemned the committee for making certain rates too high, while another Republican member has criticised the committee for not making the rates high enough.

Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania had charge of the bill to-day because Schedule C, dealing with iron, steel, and metals, was under consideration, the chemical and glassware schedules having been adopted. The only change made in the steel schedule were those proposed by Mr. Palmer for the Ways and Means Committee. These changes were almost wholly phraseological, to clarify the intent of certain provisions. The amendments offered by Mr. Palmer and adopted to-day were:

First—The insertion of language assuring that the rate of 15 per cent. in the pig iron schedule should be applicable to "other alloys used in the manufacture of steel."

Second—The insertion of language making the proposed rate of 35 per cent. on anti-friction balls, ball bearings, and roller bearings, applicable also to "parts thereof."

Third—The inclusion of tin plates coated with metal or nickel, by dripping, stenciling, or other process, under the rate of 20 per cent. proposed to be placed on tin plates.

Fourth—The addition of cobalt and vanadium to the list of articles, such as tungsten and chronium, which are to be dutiable at 10 per cent.

Fifth—Making clear the intention of the committee to make dutiable at 15 per cent. all steels "by whatever process, such as nickel, cobalt," &c.

Sixth—An amendment to make sure that steel drips have the rate as steel rolled into wire, namely, 10 per cent.

Seventh—An amendment making clear that the rate of 15 per cent. on bolts, is for bolts of iron or steel.

Fling at Steel Trust.

Mr. Palmer was frequently reminded from the Republican side of the fact that the Bethlehem Steel Company was in his district. Representative Mann of Illinois, the Republican leader, and others charged that the duty on ferro-manganese was distinctly in the interest of the United States Steel Corporation, with its numerous subsidiary plants, and that the enhancement of the value of ferro-manganese in this country, under the proposed advance in rate, should be sufficient to warrant the Pennsylvania member's indefinite continuance in Congress.

Personalities were indulged in several times, particularly in the discussion of the United States Steel Corporation holdings in the Minnesota mines.

Representative Austin of Tennessee (Republican) said Charles M. Schwab had succeeded in getting free iron ore, after trying unsuccessfully to get it from the Republican Ways and Means Committees.

Representative Stanley of Kentucky aroused Chairman Underwood by a statement that convict labor was employed in the steel mills and mines of Alabama, and that in some instances corporations had runners around police stations to pick up persons arrested for minor offenses and send them to the mines.

"I want to say," Mr. Underwood protested, jumping to his feet, "that I voted to put iron ore on the free list, thus affecting my own business, but I can't stand here and listen to a slander on my own constituency."

Row Over Automobile Tariff.

The liveliest discussion of the day was over the rates proposed by the Underwood Committee for automobiles. The bill proposed to leave the rate on finished automobiles and automobile bodies as under the Payne law, 45 per cent., but would reduce the rate on automobile chassis to 30 per cent., and place the rate on finished parts of automobiles, not including tires, at 20 per cent. Representative Sydney Anderson of Minnesota wanted to know why these reductoins were made, and said the Democrats had to "perform mental gymnastics" to justify their action. Mr. Anderson seemed afraid that, if parts of automobiles could be imported under the reduced rate of duty of 20 per cent., there would be a great increase in the importation of parts which could be assembled into automobiles in this country and sold in competition with American made cars.

Mr. Palmer retorted that these criticisms were not justified. Under the Payne law, he explained, automobiles paid 45 per cent. duty, and that was not considered too high a rate for "a foreign luxurious car." The 45 per cent. rate of duty retained, he said, would, in actual practice, cover only the high-priced car, as no other kind would be imported, and it could not successfully be imported in competition with the average American car. The average value, said Mr. Palmer, of the automobiles now imported was about $2,000 each.

"The only people who get these imported cars," he said, "are the rich people who want to make a showing by having a car with a foreign maker's name on it. While 45 per cent. is a proper rate for a car that is a luxury, it is not a proper rate on automobile parts, which are raw materials. The fact is that many American manufacturers import foreign parts of automobiles, and manufacturers and importers of these parts admitted before the committee that there was no danger of such articles being imported in such a way as to enable a knock-down car to be imported, in parts, and reassembled."

Mr. Mann, the minority leader, said the rate of 45 per cent. was prohibitive except as to the high-priced French-made cars.

"It is easy enough to carry a 45 per cent. on these expensive cars," said Mr. Mann, "without charging a rate of 45 per cent. on the poor man's car. No longer can it be said that the automobile is a rich man's hobby. There were only $2,000,000 worth of automobiles imported under the 45 per cent. rate in 1912, while the value of the production of automobiles in this country that year was $165,000,000. The time has come when automobiles ought to be made cheaper in competition with buggies and other vehicles. But here is a Democratic proposal to keep the same rate that we have had on automobiles for years. Why keep a rate of 45 per cent. on a machine that costs the buyer $1,000 and can be made for $300?"

Chairman Underwood had some fun with the Republicans, pointing out that Mr. Anderson was insisting that the change which the Democrats had made would destroy the automobile industry, while Mr. Mann was complaining that the rate was now prohibitive, and unless reduced would "ruin the people who want to buy automobiles."

"Reducing the rate from 45 per cent. to 20 per cent. on importations of parts of cars will not destroy the automobile business, but will bring about a real competition that will bring down the price of the article to the consumer," said Mr. Underwood.

Mr. Sherley of Kentucky said that if there was any industry which had demonstrated its ability to stand on its feet in competition with the manufacturers of the world it was the American automobile industry.

While the sugar interests of late have expressed satisfaction at the way the lines are forming in the Senate for the tariff fight, they seemed less hopeful to-night. Senator Thornton of Louisiana said he knew nothing of any poll showing that free sugar could be blocked in the Senate, and his tone indicated that he and his colleague, Senator Ransdell, had failed to find support in their campaign against the measure.

Senator Thornton in a prepared statement attacked the free-sugar clause of the bill to-night on the ground that it would defeat President Wilson's avowed purpose of encouraging competition and preventing monopoly. The sugar business in this country, said the Senator, was dominated by four concerns, but protection allowed the independents to create real competition and reduce prices. The independents, he argued, would be ruined by free trade, and in the end the four big refineries would monopolize the industry and raise prices.

CLARK RIGHT ON COMMISSION.

John C. Cobb Supports Speaker's View on Republican Opposition.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, April 30.—John Candler Cobb, President of the National Tariff Commission Association, took issue to-day with a statement of Congressman A. P. Gardner made in Congress yesterday denying that the Republican House leaders in 1911 were opposed to a bill creating a tariff commission. In the debate Representative Victor Murdock, the Progressive leader, charged that the Republicans of the Sixty-first Congress were only "pretending" to be in favor of a tariff commission. Mr. Gardner called upon Speaker Clark to testify as to whether he believed such a charge was true. Speaker Clark replied: "My judgment is that there never was a Republican leader in this House really in favor of a tariff commission."

"In the tilt reported in THE NEW YORK TIMES to-day over the Tariff Commission bill mess of March 4, 1911, between Speaker Clark and Representative Gardner Clark was substantially right and Gardner substantially wrong," says Mr. Cobb. "As President of the National Tariff Commission Association I had full charge of the bill. I am perfectly clear that Speaker Cannon with the knowledge and consent of some of the other Republican leaders let the bill go by the board.

"Of course there were a large number of regular Republicans who thoroughly believed in the bill and voted for it, among them undoubtedly Mr. Gardner, although he had little knowledge of or interest in the fight at the time."

Autos Win Way Into Yosemite.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Secretary Lane to-day rescinded an order barring automobiles from the Yosemite National Park.

"This form of transportation has come to stay," said the Secretary, "and to close the park against automobiles would be as absurd as the fight for many years made by old naval men against the adoption of steam in the navy. Before we know it, they will be dropping into the Yosemite by airship."

MEDICAL WITNESS FINDS NEW DISEASE

"Litigating Paranoia," Its Discoverer Calls It, and Says Mrs. Le Compte Has It.

SHE SUES FOR SEPARATION

Divorced Her First Husband and Married Le Compte After He Had Divorced His Wife.

"Litigating paranoia" is a new species of mental disorder introduced by Dr. Siegfried Block of 848 Greene Avenue, Brooklyn. As an expert yesterday he testified before Justice Scudder in the Queens County Supreme Court that that is what ailed Mrs. Madelon Le Compte of 109 Woolsey Street, Astoria.

She is suing her husband, Edward Le Compte, an electrical engineer, for separation on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Dr. Block based his diagnosis on his observations made when, assuming a fictitious name and posing as a reporter of Town Topics, he called on Mrs. Le Compte at the solicitation of her husband and members of her own family, and also from the number of recent suits in which she has been either the complainant or defendant as a result of her present domestic troubles.

It was testified that the Le Comptes had many family jars since their marriage in November, 1909, following a divorce which Mrs. Le Compte obtained from her first husband, Irving N. Looker, and a divorce which Mr. Le Compte obtained from his first wife, who went away with his chauffeur, William Booth, to whom she is now married, and, it is said, living with her husband in one of Mr. Le Compte's furnished room houses at 7 Bank Street, Manhattan, but their troubles did not become public until Dec. 24, 1912, when Le Compte packed up his belongings, and, taking his two children by his first marriage, went over to the Booth household.

Dr. Block said he considered that Mrs. Le Compte was suffering from litigating paranoia derived from the number of law suits in which she has been engaged. When asked on cross-examination by former District Attorney John B. Merrill, who is counsel for Mrs. Le Compte, what suits other than those instituted in her defense in which she has been engaged, the physician named several other actions.

"Do you think it is a sign of insanity for a person to try and hold on to her own property?" inquired Mr. Merrill.

When court opened for the third day of the trial yesterday morning it was rumored that an effort was being made to compromise the suit. It was said that Mr. Le Compte, who is also suing to compel his wife to reconvey to him the property in Astoria, valued at about $25,000, was willing to give her a liberal share of the property and drop all the suits now pending. Mrs. Le Compte refused and the case was resumed after about an hour's delay.

Mrs. Le Compte is a daughter of William J. Kenmore of 93 St. Felix Street, Brooklyn, and for some reason her own family are all against her. When the defense opened her father, who is 79 years old, was the first witness, and he testified that Mrs. Le Compte was taken to the Kings County Insane Asylum on Feb. 21, from which institution she was summarily released on a writ of habeas corpus. He said the present action had been taken without his knowledge or consent. Miss Genevieve Kenmore, 23 years old, told of frequent altercations in the Le Compte household, in which her sister was always the aggressor. Harry J. Kenmore, a brother, also testified to Mrs. Le Compte's aggressiveness.

During the course of the day Mr. Merrill placed Prof. Frank Ferguson, an analytic chemist of Manhattan, on the witness stand for the purpose of showing that muriatic alkaloids had been introduced into a patent medicine mixture, of which Le Compte gave his wife a dose when she was feeling ill.

It was testified that this drug introduced into the patent medicine had a tendency to make the one taking it act in an irrational manner, while the speech would be affected and the limbs would refuse to support the body.

Mrs. Le Compte testified she experienced all of these symptoms after taking the dose administered by her husband a day or so before the visit of Dr. Block in the guise of a newspaper reporter.

Attorney Frank X. McCaffray, representing Le Compte, rested his case without putting Le Compte on the witness stand.

Wants $3,630,000 from Mo. Pacific.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—A resolution was introduced by Representative Neely to-day, directing the Attorney General to collect from the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company $3,630,000 alleged to be due as the result of the financing by the Government of the original railroad between Hannibal and St. Joseph, Mo.

21 POUNDS OF PETITION.

Tens of Thousands Protest Against Sunday Post Office Closing.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Postmaster General Burleson received a petition today from tens of thousands of "the transient population of the United States," protesting against Sunday closing of post offices. It was the largest petition ever received at the department—so large it could not be sent in the mails—and it came by express. It was bound in book form and weighed 21¼ pounds. On every page of the book appeared a resolution reciting that the order canceling the delivery of Sunday mail to transients "has been a distinct hardship on travelers who do much of their business through the mails," and asking the Postmaster General "to issue an order to all Postmasters to continue the delivery of all mail on Sunday both to hotels and theatres, and that all employes of the Postoffice Department be granted compensatory time off for any duty performed on Sunday."

The Postmaster General cannot change the regulation in question without the consent of Congress. It is believed he will refer the petition to that body.

OPPOSE HARRIS ON CENSUS.

Senate Republicans Object to Nomination as Political.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Senate Committee on the Census, by a strict party vote, ordered a favorable report to-day on the nomination of W. J. Harris of Georgia to succeed E. Dana Durand as Director of the Census. The minority members at once decided to file formal objections, and this means that there will be a lively skirmish before Mr. Harris is confirmed.

The Republicans wish to delay Mr. Harris's confirmation so that Mr. Durand may serve until July 1, completing the work of the last census. They assert that the position calls for more technical knowledge than Mr. Harris possesses, and that Mr. Durand's experience entitles him to retain his post until the end of the fiscal year.

The action of the committee is of little importance to Mr. Durand personally. He has resigned the directorship to take up professinnal duties in a Western university, and though his new work does not begin until the Fall, he is ready to turn over the Census Bureau whenever his successor receives his commission.

SCHOLAR AS AID TO LANE.

Prof. A. C. Miller to be First Assistant Secretary of Interior.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Secretary Lane to-day announced the selection of Prof. Adolph C. Miller of Berkeley, Cal., as First Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

Prof. Miller was graduated from the University of California and from Harvard and subsequently studied in Paris and Munich. He has held professorships at Harvard, Cornell and Chicago, and now is Professor of Economics and Commerce, at the University of California. He is advisory editor of the Journal of Political Economy and is a widely known writer on economic subjects.

Secretary Lane intends to assign to Mr. Miller general supervision of the Bureau of Education and National Parks; the direction of eleemosynary institutions, such as Howard University and the Government Hospital for the Insane, and the handling of legislative matters in connection with the constructive policies of the department.

LIVING COST'S BIG GROWTH.

Higher Late in 1912 Than Ever Before in Twenty-three Years.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—During the latter part of 1912 the cost of living in the United States was higher than at any other time in the last twenty-three years. The Bureau of Labor Statistics has just issued a report on retail prices from 1890 to 1913. The lowest cost was reached in each of the geographical divisions, and in the United States as a whole in 1896. From that date to 1912 the total increase in the cost of living per year for a working man's family by geographical divisions was:

The approximate cost of a year's food supply for an average workingman's family, at the average prices of each year, by geographical divisions, for 1890, 1896 (the low year), and 1912 was:

| Division. | 1890. | 1896. | 1912. |
|---|---|---|---|
| North Atlantic | $319 | $300 | $466 |
| South Atlantic | 274 | 265 | 417 |
| North Central | 299 | 276 | 463 |
| South Central | 269 | 255 | 441 |

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—A move looking to a general investigation of the operation of the civil service rules under Republican administrations will be made to-morrow when Senator Pomerene of Ohio introduces a resolution calling on the head of every department for the record of every civil service employe under him. Senator Johnston of Alabama has a resolution pending for investigating the application of the civil service to Consuls and consular assistants, while Senator Overman of North Carolina has introduced a resolution calling for wholesale information from the Civil Service Commission. It is considered probable that the three resolutions will be merged.

The Democrats insist that the civil service has been manipulated in such a way that Republicans overwhelmingly outnumber Democrats in all branches of the public service. Republican Senators declare that this difference is not due to politics. Mr. Pomerene was warned to-day by a woman employed in one of the departments that many employes had become Democrats since November, and that a casual inquiry would not disclose the facts.

If a committee is authorized to make an investigation it is expected that the mild filibuster the Republicans have instituted against certain of President Wilson's nominations will give way to a fight all along the line. Republicans assert that the Democrats are looking for a pretext to remove from office employes in the classified service. President Wilson is considered an ardent advocate of civil service examinations, and his counsels may prevent any wholesale raid on the classified list.

THREE BILLIONS FOR ROADS

Bourne Suggests Co-operation by Government and States.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—An expenditure of $3,000,000,000 for good roads—$1,000,000,000 being for construction and $2,000,000,000 for maintenance, the investment extending over a period of fifty years—was proposed to-day in a plan submitted to the joint Congressional Committee on Federal Aid in the Construction of Post Roads by ex-Senator Bourne of Oregon. Mr. Bourne's plan provides for Federal and State co-operation. He also suggests the establishment of a National school of highway and bridge engineering, from which trained specialists in road building would be supplied to the States.

The billion-dollar construction fund, according to Mr. Bourne's plans, would be apportioned among the States on the basis of an area, population, assessed valuation, and road mileage. The States would be required to deposit in the United States Treasury fifty-year 4 per cent. bonds for the amounts due them. The Government then would lend to the States the par value thereof for road construction, the Government raising its fund by the sale of fifty-year nontaxable 3 per cent. bonds.

By crediting each State every year with the excess 1 per cent. interest paid on the State bonds and allowing 3 per cent. interest on the amount compounded annually, a sinking fund would be established, it is estimated, from which the Government would pay off the bonds at the end of fifty years and the State would be relieved of the payment of principal on their bonds.

JUSTIFY CRIME NEWS.

Washington Rulers Do So in Opposing Bill Barring Publication.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Commissioners of the District of Columbia made a protest to Congress this afternoon against the bill introduced by Senator Works of California, prohibiting newspapers in the District of Columbia from printing news relating to crime. In their report the Commissioners say:

"The publicity given by the press generally tends to lessen evil conditions, and thus renders a useful service to the public. That the dread of publicity has a deterrent influence upon those disposed or tempted to the committing of crime may reasonably be inferred from the fact that most offenders against the law earnestly seek to avoid exposure of the circumstances of their misbehavior in newspaper reports of their trials.

"Hence, although a reasonable surveillance of such publications might be desirable, the Commissioners do not believe that the enactment of the radical legislation contemplated by the bill is advisable."

Mrs. Bryan Takes Rest Cure.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, wife of the Secretary of State, is taking a two-day rest cure at a local sanitarium. Since she came to Washington Mrs. Bryan has had to direct the furnishing of a large house and meet many social obligations. The absence of Mr. Bryan in the West gave the opportunity for a brief respite. Mrs. Bryan expects to return to her home to-morrow.

FORGOT HE HAD A WIFE.

And Carelessly Went Ahead and Took Another, Barham Admits.

Martin H. Barham appeared yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Giegerich in an annulment suit brought by Mrs. Ethel A. Barham, 19 years old, and admitted that he previously had married Mary Cappalin Barham, from whom he had not obtained a divorce. He excused himself by saying that at the time of his second marriage he had forgotten about his first one. Barham appeared scarcely more than a youth.

HAD WIFE AND WED MINOR.

Young Bigamist Pleads Guilty to Deceiving a Shopgirl.

Leonard Giering, 25 years old, acknowledged yesterday that he deceived Miss Cecile Ross, employed as a salesgirl in a big Manhattan department store, in marrying her when he had a wife living, and he pleaded guilty to an indictment charging bigamy before Judge Humphrey in the Queens County Court, Long Island City. Giering was formerly employed as an assistant brewmaster in Manhattan. He met Miss Ross, who was under age, when he made a purchase of jewelry at the counter where she was employed. He took her to Bethlehem, Penn., where they were married.

Giering at that time lived in 480 Fourteenth Avenue, Astoria. He was remanded for sentence.

ASTOR OFFERS CITY LAND FOR SUBWAYS

JUNCTION HEARING NEAR

Cram and Williams Strong for Having It at 14th, Extending Lexington Avenue Line That Far.

Nicholas Biddle, representing the Astor estate, has been in consultation the last day or two with the Board of Estimate and the Public Service Commission concerning the effect of the construction of the new B. R. T. subway on the old Astor House, at the corner of Broadway and Vesey Street. That line will come up Church Street from Morris Street and curve east under the vestry building in the churchyard of old St. Paul's into Vesey Street. To reach Broadway it will have to curve again under the Astor House.

The B. R. T. subway at this point will be on the second level in order to permit the Interborough Park Place line to cross it on the first level. This will actually place it at a considerable depth below the Astor House, but it is reckoned that the cost of the necessary easement and the construction of the retaining pillars will be nearly $1,000,000. Consequently the question has been raised as to the wisdom of the city in paying such a large sum merely for an easement.

Vincent Astor owns the southern part of the land on which the Astor House is built and Waldorf Astor the northern half. Mr. Biddle, for Vincent Astor, has offered to sell his plot in fee to the city. The subway could then be constructed without any consideration of the terms of an easement, and the city could, when it was completed, offer the property for sale to the highest bidder. This matter is now under consideration by Chairman McCall, Borough President McAneny, Controller Prendergast, and the other members of the commission.

Mr. McAneny said last night that the price put on the Vincent Astor property was quite reasonable, but that he did not feel at liberty to discuss the negotiations or to say how much money would be required in order to get the land in fee.

It was rumored yesterday that Mr. Biddle had hinted that the Astor estate wished to erect a lofty office building at Vesey Street and Broadway in competition with the Woolworth Building, but it was learned that no such intimation had been given at the conferences. Even if the city bought the land, it would not follow necessarily that there would be any change in the Astor House.

The joint public hearing to be held by the Board of Estimate committee and the Public Service Commission in reference to the junction between the new Lexington Avenue Subway and the present Interborough line is likely to be held next Tuesday. Commissioners Cram and Williams had a conference yesterday and formed plans in favor of the extension of the Lexington Avenue line as far south as Fourteenth Street.

Commissioner Williams pointed out yesterday that it might not cost much more to build this line, which would join the present Subway at Fourteenth Street, than to buy the right to connect the Lexington and Park Avenue lines at Forty-second, Fortieth, or Thirty-second Street, the other junction points proposed, and that if the Fourteenth Street plan were adopted the city would be the better off by an additional mile and a half of subway. Then it would be possible to operate n efficient shuttle service between Fourteenth Street and Times Square through one of the most rapidly growing sections in the city, and the objections of those who protest against the new Fourth Avenue loft district being cut off from the west side would be met. Moreover, the present line would remain intact for the routing of expresses over it, if the Interborough should find it advisable.

ASTOR VISITS SCHOOLS.

Sees Athletic Work of Boys Preparing for Central Park Demonstration

Vincent Astor, under the guidance of Gen. George W. Wingate, President of the Public Schools Athletic League; Dr. C. Ward Crampton, Director of Physical Training in the Department of Education, and Gustavus T. Kirby, Chairman of the Demonstration Committee of the Public Schools Athletic League, paid yesterday what was said to be his first visit to the public schools of this city. Mr. Astor is a member of the committee for the demonstration of 10,000 boys in Central Park on June 6, and the object of his visit was to see what preparatory work for that event was being done.

The first school visited was 62, at Hester and Essex Streets. The party went to the school gymnasium, where Robert Brodie and Jacob Holman, teachers of physical training, put several hundred boys through the two-minute hygienic drill and the training drill for various athletic competitions. From there the visitors went to the girl's division, where they saw folk dances. Several classrooms were visited and the regular school work was inspected. Mr. Astor seemed particularly interested in one of the classes at work on partial payments in arithmetic. The basement was next visited, where Mr. Astor tried the gun with which the boys practice rifle shooting. A basketball game closed the programme at this school.

The next visit was to Public School 21, in Mott Street, where baseball and basketball games were in progress. Mr. Astor, at the close of the visit, said:

"I am tremendously pleased with these new exercises. They are of direct interest to the boys, who seem to enter into them with enthusiasm. When I was at school they made us drill with a wand from 12 to 12:20 o'clock, and I didn't like it a bit. These exercises, based on running, jumping, and throwing, seem far more useful to the boys, and far more likely to encourage habits of health. The underlying purpose of this work also appeals strongly to me. The league and the school evidently appreciate the special effects of good health and recreation. The exercises are used with an end in themselves, but as a means to the physical and social welfare of a community."

BABIES HINDER SUFFRAGE.

Get Measles, Cause Quarantine and Keep Mothers at Home.

Twenty suffragists who are mothers will not be able to be "among those present" at the meeting in the Metropolitan Opera House on the evening of May 2. Measles and the Health Department will interfere; in fact, have already interfered, for the mothers are quarantined at home with their babies. Some of the babies have German measles and the rest have the genuine article.

There is another trouble, but that touches seating capacity. More people want to come to the meeting than can be admitted. Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw has told the guests invited to her box that they would have to stand. In this way she will be able to provide two seats for Mme. Nordica. Many suffragists are selling their seats a second time for the cause.

DR. BRADY ATTACKED AS HIGH CHURCHMAN

USES EUCHARISTIC LIGHTS

Episcopalians Surprised, as Dr. Brady Is Author of "Canon 19," the Famous Low Church Law.

Not to be left out of the controversy which has been raging over changing the name of the Protestant Episcopal Church to the "American Catholic Church," Mount Vernon, N. Y., has begun a high-and-low church controversy of its own, and an open letter appeared in Tuesday's issue of The Mount Vernon Argus signed by the Rev. Edwin B. Rice, rector of Trinity Church, and addressed to the Rev. Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady, the novelist, who lately went to Mount Vernon as rector of the Church of the Ascension, the other Episcopal church in that city.

Dr. Rice formally invites Dr. Brady to get out of the Episcopal Church and go over to the Roman Catholics. Dr. Rice had for eighteen years been assistant rector of the Church of the Ascension. After the advent of Dr. Brady he went to Trinity Church.

What amazed Episcopalians yesterday was that Dr. Brady, who was being denounced for ritualism and High Church tendencies generally, was the leader who introduced into the General Convention at Richmond in 1907 the "open pulpit" canon which started a two-year controversy in the Episcopal Church and caused its author to be denounced by the High Church party.

It appears that Mrs. Horace Granfield recently gave Ascension Church a side altar in memory of her mother. Likewise some one else gave a pair of beautiful eucharistic candles.

There was opposition to putting the eucharistic lights on the altar, and they were laid away in a closet. Subsequently, it is said, Dr. Brady, author of "Canon 19," the famous open pulpit Low Church law, put the eucharistic lights on the altar and announced that they would stay there; also that the vestments, which are usually black in Low Churches, were to be replaced in Ascension Parish with red. Thus arose the present storm, which moved Dr. Rice to write to The Mount Vernon Argus, saying this:

> The new rector of the Church of the Ascension (the Rev. Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady, novelist and author of the open pulpit canon) has seen fit to introduce for the first time in the history of that conservative parish the eucharistic lights, thus giving public sanction to this unauthorized practice, and in so doing giving great offense to some whose loyalty to the standards of the Church compels them to lift up their voice in protest.
> The Catholic Church—and that only is entitled to that distinctive name—is opening wide its doors and bids any who may to enter its doors, especially the ritualists in the Protestant Episcopal Church, as they have nothing to lose by so doing, but everything to gain by returning home.
>
> Why cannot these dissenters in the Episcopal Church follow the sane advice of the Rev. Dr. Cummins of Poughkeepsie, who says: "Follow the monks of Caldy and go over in a body to Rome and let us Protestants alone."

Adrian A. Buck, a Vestryman of Ascension Parish, said yesterday:

"All is peace and harmony in our parish. There is even talk of enlarging our church to seat the people who would come. If there are kickers giving invitations I can give invitations to them. My invitation is that they get out and let us alone. We shall be happier without them, although we are already very happy with our distinguished rector."

Not only was it learned yesterday that there was talk of enlarging Ascension Church, but it was also said that the salary of the Rev. Dr. Brady had been increased, and that he was moving into a larger house than the rectory adjoining the church, another evidence, it was said, of prosperity. The same prosperity was testified to by the Junior Warden, Dr. N. H. Ives of Mount Vernon, and by a very intelligent and loyal sexton, who has been at Ascension Parish under three rectors.

APPROVE 1,000-FOOT PIER.

Mayor Sets Date for Hearing on West 46th Street Condemnation.

The Sinking Fund Commission unanimously approved yesterday the plan submitted by Dock Commissioner R. A. C. Smith on April 16 for the improvement of the North River front between West Forty-fourth and Forty-eighth Streets. Under the plan the city will build at once a pier 1,000 feet long at the foot of West Forty-sixth Street, at an estimated cost of $2,735,000. The Mayor set May 21 as the date for a public hearing on condemnation proceedings.

The only objection to the Smith plan came from former Dock Commissioner Calvin Tomkins, who submitted a brief in which he stated that "considered together, the Dock Commissioner's plans for long piers north of Forty-fourth Street and the Terminal Committee's plan for a marginal railroad, tended to fasten upon the city an exclusive New York Central monopoly north of Thirtieth Street, and a combined Central and New Jersey Railroad monopoly south of that point."

The Dock Commissioner estimates that the cost of the property will be $911,000; excavation, $600,000; construction of pier, $422,000, and the construction of a shed 1,200 feet long, $802,000.

"Jack" Johnson Is Reindicted.

CHICAGO, April 30.—An additional indictment, amendatory of a previous indictment, was returned to-day by the Federal Grand Jury, charging Jack Johnson with violation of the Mann White Slave act. The indictment alleges that Johnson brought Belle Schreiber, "otherwise known as Mrs. J. Johnson," from Pittsburgh to Chicago on Oct. 15, 1910, "for immoral purposes," and "in perpetration of a serious crime." The fighter was in court when the indictment was returned and entered a plea of not guilty. His trial is set for next Monday.

$200,000 Worth of French and Domestic Undermuslins at Economies of 20% and More

First the Lingerie! In magnitude, the collection which we have assembled for this Sale is quite the largest in the history of White Sales in America—it includes the exquisite handwork of French, Austrian, Madeira and Filipino needleworkers, as well as American machine-made undermuslins, which are unrivaled in the world.

For this occasion it has been our aim to revolutionize White Sales! And to accomplish this we did not endeavor to get the cheapest, and obviously poorly-made, garments, but we endeavored and succeeded in getting Undermuslins of the best qualities to sell at 20 per cent. less than the minimum prices of today.

And, very much more important to the women of New York, we had this Lingerie made in styles that conform with the modes of the hour, and, although we could cite dozens and dozens of illustrations, there is a Nightgown at $10.75 that is an exact copy of a $75 French Gown, even to the tiny rosebud design of the Valenciennes lace galoon. Scores of the $1 Nightgowns are copied from quite expensive styles—there is one with an Empire yoke entirely of lace, both back and front, and there are many deep V-neck styles, which are the latest whims of Fashion.

True it is, that cotton prices have increased, and that silk prices are soaring—but the fact that we placed our orders about two months ago, explains the reason that the smallest economy in this Sale is 20 per cent.

Paris Now Says, Crepe de Chine and Chiffon Lingerie And Here Is $25,000 Worth in This Sale

Although luxurious in reality, this lingerie is not so in price—for there are crepe de chine Petticoats trimmed with dainty laces at $2.95, Combinations at $3.95, and Nightgowns at $5. Realizing that these three prices are phenomenal, we have made ample provision for the demand today. Of course, we have many other styles, up to $16.75.

THERE is a certain sober quietude of air about the low ceilinged and mullion-windowed rooms of the Seventeenth Century English Country House which is not altogether due to the mellowing influences of time.

MORGAN BUILDING GOING.

Famous Banking House Now in the Hands of Wreckers.

Housewreckers began yesterday to tear out the interior of the old Drexel Building on Wall and Broad Streets, which for years has been the home of the J. P. Morgan banking firm. The demolition of this landmark, which was erected by the late Anthony Drexel in 1878, and the adjoining old structure of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank on Wall Street, must be completed within forty days from May 1. The actual tearing down of the building will begin to-day. The latter property was acquired by the late Mr. Morgan last year for the purpose of enlarging the old Drexel site for the new Morgan bank building, which will cost about $2,000,000.

Inquiry has been made by some of the oldtimers in the Street on the future of the two heroic marble statues, one representing Great Britain and the other America, which, from their vantage place over the main entrance, have looked down upon the Wall Street crowds for forty years. It was ascertained yesterday that J. Pierpont Morgan stipulated in the contract with the Volk Housewrecking Company that these statues should be reserved for him. They will be taken temporarily to the Morgan library in Thirty-sixth Street, just off Madison Avenue. Between them still hangs the draped flag placed there on the morning of the senior J. P. Morgan's death. The female figure, representing Great Britain, has lost a hand, but America is still perfect, although both show, on close inspection, the corroding effects of wind and weather.

Six of the massive marble columns, including the two on either side of the entrance, have been reserved for Mr. Morgan's son-in-law, W. Pierson Hamilton, and will be removed to his home in Tuxedo Park. These are the only relics of the old building which will be taken away by members of the family.

CENTRAL MUST PAY FOSS.

Jury Awards $29,740 to Him on His Claim for Commissions.

Archibald C. Foss, a realty broker, won a verdict of $29,740 against the New York Central Railroad yesterday from a jury in Justice Whitaker's part of the Supreme Court.

Foss sued for commissions on land transfers to the railroad of valuable waterfront property in Weehawken opposite the territory in Manhattan between Thirty-fourth and Forty-eighth Streets. He arranged the transfers in 1906 after being assured, he testified, by Mr. Newman, then President of the railroad, that no purchases would be made except through him.

Later, he said, the railroad bought parcels of the land worth more than $1,000,000 through other brokers.

FINDS LEGAL ABUSE IN BANKRUPTCY LAW

CONSIDERS STATUTE GOOD

But Courts Should Appoint Receivers Who Understand Business of the Bankrupt.

The last bankruptcy law, as amended, is just and equitable, according to Charles Biggs, Actuary of the Hat Trade Credit Association, and its value to the business world is unquestionable, but this cannot be said of its administrative features.

"The present bankruptcy law was placed on the statute books under the authority of the Constitution of the United States, after a campaign lasting for nearly fourteen years," said Mr. Biggs yesterday. "This fight was carried on by merchants in all parts of the country in the face of the opposition of a limited number of the larger business firms, a part of the banking interests, and almost the whole body of collecting lawyers. There was also hostility to the law in some parts of the country because it was thought that the Federal statute overrode the sovereignty of the States.

"Originally, in the minds of its supporters, the law was intended to be administered absolutely in the interest of debtors and creditors, with a view to salvaging the bankrupt's estate in the most businesslike and economical manner. It aimed at a pro rata division of the estate's proceeds among the creditors, releasing the honest debtor from his obligations, with facilities for a composition where a chance for successful future business existed. In practice, however, the administration of the law has largely been in the interests of the legal profession. In other words, an estate in bankruptcy does not belong to the creditors, but to the group of practitioners who administer it and absorb a very large share of its proceeds. This view is resented by many people, but it is cold fact.

"The principal criticism to be made is not in regard to the Bankruptcy act itself or to its amendments, but to defects and abuses that have crept into its administration. The rules formulated by the officials of the Supreme Court are archaic, and need revision. The practice under the law should be stripped of its technicalities. Receivers should have practical knowledge of the special business with which the estate is allied, if, as is now the custom, the courts continue to authorize them to realize on the estate and merely turn over to the trustee (when elected) the proceeds thereof, less large allowances to counsel, and leaving to the trustee only the collection of the remaining outstanding accounts and the distribution of dividends.

"Notwithstanding the evils, the undoubted consensus of opinion of business men throughout the country is in favor of the continuance of this law. Its repeal would bring disaster to business interests generally."

SALVATION ARMY CAMPAIGN.

One to be Undertaken to Raise Funds for War College Memorial.

The first meeting of the Advisory Committee of One Hundred in connection with the movement to erect and endow a training school for Salvation Army officers in New York City as a memorial to the late Gen. William Booth was held in the Ladies' Café of the Hotel McAlpin yesterday afternoon. Ex-Mayor Seth Low was in the chair, and among those who addressed the meeting were Evangeline Booth, Commander of the army in the United States; William M. Kingsley, Vice President of the United States Trust Company and Treasurer of the proposed building fund; Mrs. William Grant Brown, former President of the Federation of Women's Clubs; John S. Crosby, and Bert Wells, who told how to raise money by the whirlwind campaign method.

It was the consensus of opinion at yesterday's meeting that the necessary funds for the memorial should be raised by a whirlwind campaign to last about eight days, with an army of about 300 campaigners organized into six-man and six-woman teams, each in charge of a Captain, all teams to report daily at a dinner or luncheon.

FILMS FOR POSTERITY.

Edison to Present Gaynor and Others in Records for Centuries.

Thomas A. Edison, who recently perfected his kinetophone, will formally present to the Modern Historic Records Association at the City Hall this afternoon at 1 o'clock the talking-motion-picture records that were lately made of Mayor Gaynor and other department heads of the city Government. The records, including both the motion-picture films and the phonographic cylinders, will be received by William George Jordan, Managing Director of the Modern Historic Records Association, in the presence of Mayor Gaynor and others of whom records were made.

Mr. Edison will also present a piece of parchment on which there will be an inscription explaining that the records are intended to be preserved for centuries, and below the inscription will be the signatures of those whose records were made, certifying their genuineness. Until the Modern Historic Records Association builds its own home the records will be deposited in the New York Public Library. At a demonstration a few days ago in the Union Square Theatre the records were approved by the Mayor and his associates. In addition to Mayor Gaynor, there are records of his secretary, Robert Adamson, Police Commissioner Waldo, Fire Commissioner Johnson, and Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards.

MALLOWIN TO TOMBS.

Jewelry Importer's Thefts, It Is Said, Will Reach $100,000.

Karl Mallowin, who was arrested on Tuesday for thefts amounting to $100,000, was remanded yesterday to the Tombs in default of $50,000 bail by Judge Crain in General Sessions.

Mallowin was the former head of the D. Ottensoser Company, manufacturers and importers of jewelry novelties, and it is charged that he defrauded S. I. Hyman, a commission banker, out of $30,000 by means of false invoices and forged express orders.

After pleading not guilty his bail was set at a high figure because Assistant District Attorney Ellison said that he had received four additional complaints against him. It was also said that an additional indictment might be returned, though he is now under two indictments.

MULRANEY'S DOUBLE FOUND

Appears in Court and Denies Knowledge of McBreen Murder.

Patrick O'Brien, covertly mentioned as the man who shot Patrick McBreen, testified before Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions yesterday, when the hearing which was to decide if Mulraney should have a new trial was continued.

O'Brien was observed to be almost an exact likeness of Mulraney. At first glance either would be taken for the other. The only difference between the two is that Mulraney brushes his hair down over his forehead, while O'Brien wears his brushed straight back.

The witness said that he had never met Mulraney. On seeing the prisoner's photograph he remarked that the picture looked like his own, and seemed amused over the coincidence.

It was learned yesterday that when William Beaule, who testified before Judge Rosalsky, in a private hearing on Tuesday, said that he had seen John Dowling and Mulraney together on the night of the murder, and that Mulraney asked him to rob a clothing store. Beaule refused, and later on he was standing near McBreen's saloon and heard two shots fired. Mulraney and Dowling, he said, came running out, and later he saw the police carrying out McBreen, who died a few hours later. The hearing will be continued on Friday.

GOOD RACING AT BELMONT TERMINAL

FAVORITES IN THE FRONT

Many New Owners Show Their Colors for the First Time—Close Finishes the Order.

There was a fine outpouring of society yesterday at the first of the two days' race meetings of the Meadow Brook Steeplechase Association, held at the picturesque Belmont Park Terminal, in which the leading amateur race riders of the East participated with such ability as to completely overshadow the best efforts of the professionals against whom they were arrayed in several of the events.

The women made the occasion one on which to make a display of Spring gowns, and the view of the quarter stretch during the contests and the paddock between events was kaleidoscopic to a degree only rivaled at sporting functions of the highest type. That the feminine portion of the several thousand persons present relished the racing was evident by the enthusiasm which was on tap with the running of the half dozen events.

Speculators of the "on the nod" betting system had a banner day, as far as favorite players were concerned, as five of the six first choices and the hottest tip of the afternoon caused the red board to be hung up under their numbers, the respective winners being Faultless, Gold Plate, Culvert, Eadbald, Kingpin, and Sickle.

Prior to the race meet a luncheon party held forth at the recently opened Turf and Field Club, being made up of thirty persons. The major portion of the spectators motored to the races, with the result that the parking space was filled to overflowing.

One of the most exciting events of the day was the fifth, the Westbury Steeplechase, in which Kingpin had been established a topheavy favorite. Boisterous made pace from the start and over five jumps until the field had reached the wide brush barrier at the bottom of the stretch, where she got her feet tangled and all but threw her rider, who scrambled back into the saddle after being astride the mare's neck. This mishap ended her forward position, however, as the Guatemotzin horse almost immediately assumed command, leading up the backstretch and around the top turn into the stretch by eight lengths.

Apparently only being rated along, he still led over the last jump by eight lengths, where his rider seemed to let up on him for an instant. The hesitation proved fatal, as Kingpin, racing over the jump in second place, was sent after the leader, which he overhauled ten lengths from the wire and beat home by a length and a half, with Guatemotzin twelve lengths to the good of Mrs. Whitney's mare.

Eadbald won in clever fashion for Peter G. Gerry when he was finally let down, and defeated such good ones as Nosegay, Speculator, and Zellwood. Mr. Gerry's horse came away at the top of the stretch, and under the nicest of hand rides by Johnny Tucker the latter had the satisfaction of beating his fellow-amateurs, Fred Alpers, Evans Tucker, and E. C. Cowdin, 2d, in the easiest manner imaginable by half a dozen lengths.

The last race witnessed the uncovering of a real good thing in Sickle, ridden by H. L. Bell, which was backed from "sixes" to 7 to 5 at the end. This event showed a triumph for the amateur over the professional jockey, as Johnny Tucker was second with Norbitt, and Evans Tucker third with Raymond, the "pros" being well back in the ruck.

Harry Page's Gold Plate got the verdict in the second race after Mr. Von Stade had indulged the chief contenders, Web Carter and Maxim's Pride, with the pace for the greater portion of the journey. Culvert, recently purchased from the Belmonts by A. Ludlow Kramer, won on the bit from Live Wire and Jack Cade in the half-mile dash.

Some of those seen in the stand and along the stretch side were Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont, Mrs. E. H. Harriman, Mrs. Payne Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. A. Butler Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mott Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Le Boutellier, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Eustis, Miss Celestine Eustis, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Vingut, Mrs. J. E. Smith Hadden, Miss Frances Hadden, Harry S. Page, W. C. Hayes, E. P. Voss, F. S. Voss, Foxhall P. Keene, J. Searle Barclay, Leonard Jacob, Henry L. Herbert, H. W. Bull, Surrogate John J. Graham, Malcolm Stevenson, Mrs. F. E. Webb, Miss Laura Webb, Mrs. Frances C. Bishop, H. M. Harriman, Mrs. Robert L. ## Boas Estate $225,105.

The appraisal of the estate of Emil L. Boas, Resident Director of the Hamburg-American Line, who died at his Summer home at Greenwich, Conn., May 3, was filed yesterday disclosing net assets of $225,165, of which the largest items were mortgages, $58,000 and bank accounts, $60,467. No securities in the steamship line of which he was a Director were included in the schedules.

Coney Island Jockey Club Wins Suit on Race Track Land.

By a decision of Justice Crane of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, handed down yesterday, the city loses taxes on $546,580 in the assessment for 1913 on the race track property of the Coney Island Jockey Club at Sheepshead Bay. The assessed valuation of the property by the city for this year's taxes was placed at $2,130,000. Justice Crane accepted the figures of an assessor for the club and decided that $1,583,420 was a fair valuation.

In a long opinion Justice Crane reviews the testimony of Robert Huntley and David A. Kelly, for the club, and that of George F. Byrnes, the city's appraiser, whose figures placed the value of the race track property at $2,396,635.

Mr. Byrnes testified that he arrived at his valuation "upon knowledge of the community, sales in and about that section, and, if I may be permited to say it, my confidence in the future of Sheepshead Bay."

Concerning Mr. Byrne's testimony, Justice Crane says:

"I find that he bases his conclusions upon elements which I do not believe can be considered in arriving at present values."

One of the elements of the witnesses' conclusion was the signing of the subway contracts. Mr. Byrnes testified that he looked for a good increase in realty values after these contracts were signed. Justice Crane holds that this change has not yet been manifested, and intimates that what the land might be worth because of the subway project does not enter into the present value for purposes of taxation.

The race track property, comprising 335 acres in Sheepshead Bay, is the greater part of land owned by the Coney Island Jockey Club in that section of Brooklyn. The assessed valuation for 1913 by the city on all the land belonging to the club was $2,470,275. In the trial of the suit it was agreed that the assessment on the land outside of the race track property should stand. Robert Huntley placed the value on the race track property at $1,537,500, while Mr. Kelly's estimate was $1,583,420, which was accepted by Justice Crane.

Cooking School Students Get Means to Keep Up Work at Home.

Three hundred women and girls, some with egg beaters wedged under their arms and others clasping frying pans and coffee pots to their breasts, came from a building opposite the Chapel of the Intercession at Broadway and 158th Street yesterday afternoon, the triumphant graduates of the cooking school of that parish. The culinary articles were the prizes won by the favored few.

The cooking school was opened last January, the young girls of the parish meeting on four afternoons a week and the women, sixty of whom had husbands to practice on, meeting on Thursday and Saturday evenings. The classes were under the supervision of Miss Clara Streams and the promoter of the enterprise was the Rev. Dr. Milo H. Gates.

"I have believed for some time," said Dr. Gates last night, "that fewer men would frequent saloons and the number of divorces would be decreased materially if women were able to cook palatable dishes for their husbands. This cooking school of ours has been run to teach simple family cooking with simple utensils. If you could see what delicious rice puddings, what beautiful peach and apple pies these girls make I think you'd surely fall in love with them."

MELLEN CONTRACTS TO SON AND FRIEND

ROAD BEGINS THE DEFENSE

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, April 30.—An unanswered question by Commissioner Prouty as to what became of the $12,000,000 difference between the cost of the New York, Westchester & Boston Railroad—$33,000,000—and the $21,000,000 tangible property accounted for by the road, and testimony as to the letting of New Haven contracts, without competition, to car construction and other companies of which President Mellen's friend, "Diamond Jim" Brady, was an official—these were the principal features of to-day's hearing on the railroad situation before Commissioner Prouty of the Inter-State Commerce Commission. Mention of President Mellen's son, Graham, a coal company official, in connection with contracts for the sale of coal to the New Haven Road was also made.

Late in the afternoon the cross-examination of David E. Brown, the Government accountant, was begun by C. F. Choate, Jr., President Mellen's counsel, and will probably be continued to-morrow. While it was in progress Commissioner Prouty remarked that one of the chief criticisms of the New Haven's methods had been that it did not properly charge for depreciation, and he suggested that this was hardly the best way to run a railroad. Mr. Choate's reply was that the amounts charged by the New Haven to repairs and maintenance were so large as practically to cover depreciation.

The evidence as to contracts was elicited by Robert Homans, representing the Boston Chamber of Commerce, from H. A. Fabian, manager of the purchasing and supply department of the New Haven. Mr. Fabian said it was the company's policy to patronize New England concerns even if their prices were somewhat higher than those of outsiders, because to do so meant additional business for the road.

The Boston & Maine's contract with the American Express Company was not the work of the New Haven, Mr. Choate said at one point, whereupon Commissioner Prouty observed: "The American Express Company was fooling you on stock and you returned the compliment by turning over to it certain other equally valuable stock?" Mr. Choate insisted that this contract would be found to have been advantageous.

In opening the railroad's side of the case Mr. Choate brought out the point that, although the capital indebtedness of the New Haven Company had increased from $94,000,000 in 1903 to $417,000,000 in 1912, the period covered by Mr. Brown's investigations, 215,000 shares of New Haven stock had been held by the New England Navigation Company, a subsidiary, and no cash dividends had been paid on these holdings. Eliminating these shares from consideration, Mr. Brown said that what appeared to be a deficit of $900,000 in 1912 would be converted into an apparent surplus of $325,000.

The road's counsel referred to the fact that the New Haven had invested $40,000,000 in the Connecticut Company, $14,000,000 in the New York, Ontario & Western, $27,000,000 in the Boston & Maine, and held $21,000,000 in treasury stock. This aggregated $102,000,000, without taking into consideration the amount invested in steamship properties.

"Would not this reduce the capitalization to $315,000,000," he asked Mr. Brown.

Further eliminations agreed to by the witness reduced the capitalization of the New Haven steam railroad property to $190,000,000, which in 1912 produced a gross revenue of $67,359,000. This line of examination was intended to show that according to the New Haven Road's contention, the capitalization of the railroad property had increased only 100 per cent. instead of 400 per cent., and that the gross income had increased more than $20,000,000 in nine years, or about 42 per cent.

In the same nine years, according to the testimony, the total assets had grown from $114,971,000 to $495,744,000.

Mr. Choate asserted, and the witness supported his contention in the main, that approximately $74,000,000 had been expended for equipment in nine years, and that in that time the road had been practically re-equipped.

At the morning session Mr. Fabian described a contract between the Boston and Maine and the Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company, by which the Virginia company was to furnish the railroad with from 50,000 to 60,000 tons of coal monthly for five years, beginning April 1, 1912. The Virginia company, he said, submitted a lower price than the only other bidder. Mr. Homans brought out the fact that President McHarg, of the Virginia company, was a Director of the New Haven road at the time the contract was made.

Mr. Fabian told of a contract between the New Haven and the Boston and Maine roads and the Keystone Coal Company. He said that Graham Mellen, a son of President Mellen, was the Eastern sales agent of the Keystone company, and that a son of the late President Cassatt, of hte Pennsylvania Railroad, was President of the Keystone Company.

The Keystone Company, he said, furnished about 350,000 tons of coal annually to the Boston and Maine, and about 400,000 tons to the New Haven, or about 23 per cent. of the New Haven's annual coal consumption.

Mr. Homans read a report of train delays on the Fitchburg division of the Boston and Maine for one week in December, 1912, the cause in many cases being given as inability to make steam on account of the poor quality of the coal used.

When the award of contracts for car construction was taken up, Mr. Fabian told of eleven contracts between the Keith Car and Manufacturing Company of Sagamore, Mass., and the New Haven and some of its subsidiaries, aggregating more than $8,500,000. All the contracts were signed on behalf of the Keith company by its Vice President, J. B. Brady.

The witness read a list of other contracts between the Keith company and the New Haven, Maine Central and Central New England roads. These were competitive, and bids were received on all but one. Mr. Brady, the witness said, was Vice President of the Osgood-Bradley Company of Worcester, a car building concern to which New Haven contracts had been given. These awards were on a competitive basis, and the Wason Manufacturing Company of Springfield, had submitted bids on some of the specifications. The Osgood-Bradley Company was controlled, he said, by the Keith Car and Manufacturing Company.

Other cars were built by the Standard Steel Car Company, of which Mr. Brady was also Vice President. The same interests that financed the Keith and the Osgood-Bradley concerns were said by the witness to be back of the Standard Company.

Mr. Fabian said that Mr. Brady was connected with the railroad supply firm of Manning, Maxwell & Moore of New York. The New Haven road bought from this firm many tools, also particular types of inspirators, safety valves, and gauges, which were handled only by them, and were required in the specifications for the building of locomotives.

Vice President E. G. Buckland of the New Haven, who is appearing as the railroad's attorney, then began to question the witness. Taking up the coal contracts first, he brought out the fact that the coal delivered by the Keystone and Virginia companies was superior to that sold by competitors. Fabian estimated that his contract with the Virginia and Keystone companies had saved the Boston & Maine about $54,000 annually. He said he had testified on this point before the New Hampshire Public Service Commission, and that body had reported that, although close interlocking relations appeared to exist between the railroad and the coal companies, it was apparent that both terms and prices were advantageous to the railroads.

No Receivership, Says Mellen.

It was announced yesterday at the office of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad that President Mellen, when seen at his office in New Haven in regard to the reported receivership proceedings against the New Haven Road, said:

"I know absolutely nothing about the matter. It must of necessity be untrue. We have nothing coming due—no bills unpaid, and plenty of cash in the bank."

JACK ROSE APPEARS AS DINNER SPEAKER

HOW HE FELL INTO CRIME

Tells Twilight Club He Took Up Gamblers Because They Did Not Taunt Him.

Jack Rose, who conspired with Lieut. Becker and the four gunmen to murder Herman Rosenthal, and afterward played an important part in sending them to the death house at Sing Sing, was the chief attraction of a programme of speeches on "Lessons from the Underworld" at a dinner of the Twilight Club on Tuesday night at the Aldine Club.

It was the first public appearance of Rose since he gave up his old pursuits and turned to writing and farming. Rose took his place at the speakers' table in a company of which the other members were Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss, Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver, Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, George Bronson Howard, the dramatist; Dr. Maximilian P. E. Groszman, a criminologist; Bernard Sandler, and the Rev. Dr. Christian F. Reisner. The toastmaster was William Curtis Demorest.

Rose had the profoundest attention of his audience during his address, but if any expected sensational memoirs from the reformed gambler they were disappointed. Rose gave a brief sketch of his fall, his reform, and his elevation to his present place as a writer and Connecticut truck farmer. He mentioned the Rosenthal case only to put it aside.

Addressing himself to Judge Lindsey early in his speech, Rose said that, if juvenile courts established largely through the efforts of Judge Lindsey had existed when he was a boy, the story of his life would have been very different. He said that typhoid fever left him bald at the age of 4 years and that the taunts of his school fellows made him a truant. For truancy, he was sent to a reformatory, where he said his life was completely wrecked by bad training, evil influences, incorrigible companions and the continual hounding he suffered because of his baldness. After serving his term there people who knew him called him a jail-bird. This caused him to run away from home.

He soon got into crap games and then began to gamble as a regular thing. Rose told his hearers that gambling had no fascination for him at first, but he found gamblers congenial and sympathetic, and he was never twitted on the subject of his baldness, as he had been by persons who walked in straighter paths. Rose added that he had found much human kindness and many good qualities among the gamblers but that now he abhorred games of chance, realizing that they had wrecked his life.

Rose was heartily applauded at the end of his talk, and Judge Ben Lindsay took up the tale where Rose had left off by saying that the chief difference between one man and another was that one man was caught and the other eluded detection.

"When you are judging a man," he said, "put yourself in that man's place, and say what you would have done under similar conditions."

Judge Lindsay said that all criminals had a dormant sense of honor, which might be reached by a proper appeal. He said that on Monday night he had dined here with men whom he had at some time in the past sent to prison, two of these men having been "Dutch the Kerplunk" and "Mickie, the Barrel House Crook." One of the men he had sentenced, he said, was a broker on Wall Street.

George Bronson Howard said that "the underworld was an economic situation." One of the troubles, he said, was that the "bourgeois and the upper classes" treated the denizens of the underworld like animals, and he compared their attitude to that of people staring at the animals in a circus and wondering at their strange actions.

Dr. Maximilian P. E. Grozmann said that every one in the audience, and for that matter every one in the world, had at some time been very near committing a crime.

Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss said that, properly considered, "the underworld consists of all those people who defy God in their hearts and lives." He added that at heart he did not believe in capital punishment, though he had helped send seven men to the death house at Sing Sing. His belief that the law must be enforced, he said, led him in this case to act contrary to this sentiment. He added:

"The purpose of prisons is not to protect the Morgan art treasures, but the little homes on Rivington Street or away out on Long Island against members of the underworld who break in, who snatch pocketbooks, or take girls out of decent homes and sell them into slavery."

FEW EVICTIONS THIS YEAR.

Poor May Day Outlook for the Dispossess Club.

The City Marshals and the Dispossess Club, which used to serve them in evicting poor families from tenements on the east side for failure to pay their rent, lamented yesterday the fact that to-day (May Day) would be the poorest May Day in the history of the east side. It used to be the style on the east side to be served on the cheerful May Day with a dispossess notice and have one's family of twenty or twenty-three children and the household furniture put on the sidewalk. But that sorry fashion, the Marshals said, has gone out.

In 1911 there were 18,502 applications for dispossess notices in the Fifth District Municipal Court alone, which serves all the east side below Fourteenth Street. In 1912 the number shrank to 13,060. On April 30 and May 1 it used to be customary to have 1,100 or 1,200 returns from dispossess notices turned into court each day by the Marshals and their helpers in execution, the Dispossess Club. Yesterday, according to Chief Clerk James J. Devlin, there were only a few hundred returns made.

Clerk Devlin ascribed the cause of the falling off in the business of the Marshals and dispossess strong-arm squad to the fact that so many removals had been made by east side residents to the Bronx or the outlying sections of Brooklyn and Queens. Never before, it was said, have there been so many vacant flats and stores on the east side as now, and the rents there have been kept more moderate by fearsome landlords as a result.

Left on bases—New York, 10; Brooklyn, 7. Two-base hits—Doyle, Merkle, Cutshaw, Stengel. Sacrifice hits—Fletcher, Herzog. First base on errors—New York, 2; Brooklyn, 1. Stolen bases—Doyle, Murray, Fisher. Bases on balls—Off Ragan, 1; off Ames, 2. Struck out—By Ragan, 1; by Allen, 3; by Ames, 3. Hit by pitcher—By Ames (Cutshaw.) Passed ball—Miller. Hits—Off Ragan, 8 in 7 innings; off Allen, 2 in 2 innings; off Ames, 9 in 7 innings; off Crandall, none in 1 inning. Time of game—One hour and thirty-two minutes. Umpires—Messrs. Rigler and Byron.

The shadow of ill-luck still hangs over the head of pitcher Leon Ames of the Giants. At Ebbets Field yesterday Ames started to pitch against the Brooklyns and did pretty well up to the seventh inning, when the Dodgers, coming up from behind impudently, reached Ames's service for four stout hits, sent four runs over the plate, and the Brooklyns won by a score of 5 to 3.

Once Leon Ames used to wear a green necktie. He did this because some wise soul told him that the emerald hue would croak any jinx which might pursue him. Ames, when he left fashionable upper Eighth Avenue yesterday to go to Brooklyn couldn't find the green cravat in his dresser, so he wore one of deep purple. No wonder he lost the game.

The situation in Brooklyn was just this. It was a bright, clear Spring day. The song birds were chirping sweetly on the budding trees in Flatbush. Some 10,000 people had congregated in Ebbets Field to see the clash.

Jumping over several preliminaries bring the picture up to the seventh inning. At that time the Giants were in the lead by a score of 3 to 1.

Bob Fisher, the first batsman up in the seventh, beat out a warm hit, which Doyle made a creditable attempt to check. Miller flied to Doyle and Silent John Hummel, batting for Patrick Don Carlos Ragon, struck out. Moran drew a pass. Cutshaw smashed a two-base hit to centre field, scoring Fisher and Moran. Stengel sent a single to left, which scored Cutshaw. Wheat then batted a hit to centre field, which was injudiciously handled by Snodgrass, and Stengel romped home with another unite, which piled Brooklyn's total to five.

After that inning Frank Allen went to the mound for the Dodgers and held the Giants at bay during the remaining innings. Crandall succeeded the unlucky Ames on the mound and Brooklyn did no further counting.

The Giants began scoring in the first inning. Snodgrass singled to left and Fletcher sacrificed. After Burns had hoisted a fly to Moran, Larry Doyle whacked a hard two-base drive to the right field concrete wall, scoring Snodgrass. Brooklyn evened matters in the same round, when Moran was safe on Fletcher's fumble and went to second, while Cutshaw was being retired. Stengel's infield hit sent Moran to third, and he scored on Zack Wheat's single to left.

The Giants went to the front in the second inning, Merkle blazing the way for a run with a single to left. He went to second while Herzog was being tossed out at first by Ragon and scored when Chief Meyers poled a single to right field.

The third Giant count came in the sixth inning, when Merkle drove a two-bagger to left, went to third on Herzog's sacrifice, and scored when Ames propelled a single to left.

Not by any means was all this run getting the dramatic incident of the game. That was reserved for the ninth inning, when the baseball pubic had a glimpse of Manager John J. McGraw, purple with rage, for the first time in two long years.

In the final round the eagle eye of McGraw did not agree with the eyesight of Umpire Charley Rigler on just where the ball was penetrating the plate. McGraw protested loud and long. Rigler, with all the autocratic mien of the Shah of Madagascar, sent McGraw from the field. McGraw was mad right up the tips of his gray and black hair. Once in the shadow of the bench he came into sight again. Rigler again exiled him, McGraw finally making his exit through the secret trap door in the Brooklyn bench.

Likely as not, the amiable Mr. McGraw will get a short vacation for this entertaining effort.

Reds Give Chicago Close Rub.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The Cincinnati "Reds," with the return of their regular playing paraphernalia, gave the local Nationals a close call in the second game of the series to-day, but lost, 8 to 4. Suggs and Pierce were opposed to each other in what proved to be a pitchers' battle, but with the luck of the game in favor of the Chicago flinger. The locals were credited with two homers on drives which were misjudged. Had these been played correctly the outcome might have been different. The score:

Steele Holds Pirates Safe.

PITTSBURGH, Penn., April 30.—Pittsburgh was unable to hit Steele to any extent to-day and lost the fourth straight game, St. Louis taking the first game of the series, 6 to 1. Konetchy's single, a sacrifice, and McLean's single gave the visitors a run in the second. An error by Viox, a walk to Konetchy and singles by Mowrey, Cathers and O'Leary gave them three more in the third. O'Toole relieved Robinson in the fourth and pitched fine ball, only one run being made off him. Ferry pitched the ninth and allowed another run. It was stated to-day that Hans Wagner may be able to play in Boston next Tuesday. The score:

Recruit Defeats the Phillies.

BOSTON, April 30.—Boston won its third game of the season after an eleven-inning pitchers' battle between James and Brennan to-day; Boston 2, Philadelphia 1. James, a recruit twirler, has won two of the local team's three victories, both extra-inning affairs. Boston's winning run was scored on Maranville's single, Capron's wild throw, a sacrifice, and Myers's single. Maranville's error made Philadelphia's only run possible. The visitors filled the bases in the eleventh, with only one out, but James held them scoreless. The score:

Ten hits and only one error—a combination that usually is strong enough to bring victory—was the Yankees' portion in yesterday's conflict with the world's champion Red Sox at the Polo Grounds, but the Chance aggregation had to accept one of its worst defeats of the present disastrous campaign. One reason for the failure was that the Red Sox pounded Southpaw Al Schulz's offerings to all sections of the field just when hits counted, and another strong reason for the one-sided score was that the Yanks did their hitting with no one waiting to score. With one out in the last half of the ninth, Tris Speaker and Clyde Engle saved the Yanks a shut-out with a pair of weird tosses, which allowed Midkiff to score. The final score was 8 to 1.

Manager Chance has his team completely rearranged in both infield and outfield in the hope of finding a winning combination; and no fault could be found with yesterday's fixtures in either department. They showed all that could be asked as fielders and hit well, though not timely. Hal Chase was back where he belongs—at first base—and Claude Derrick was back in the game for the first time since his hand was injured in the second exhibition game at Brooklyn. Roy Hartzell was at second base, and took good care of the position. In the outfield Harry Wolter was shifted to right field, Jack Lelivelt received his first assignment of the year in centre, and Bert Daniels was benched.

Hugh Bedient, hero of the world's series last Fall, was Stahl's choice for mound duty, and the big right-hander deserved a shut-out. Four times the Yanks touched up his service for a pair of safe slams in one inning, but he always tightened up when a run threatened. Hal Chase had two chances to push a run across, and one opportunity was presented to Wolter, Cree, and Derrick, but each in turn was unable to turn the trick.

Chance relied on Al Schulz to lead the team to a long-delayed victory, and the southpaw, who pitched such a strong game against the Red Sox in Boston last week, was anything but a puzzle to the champions. He was hit safely in each of the seven innings that he worked, and the drives were especially well bunched in the first and seventh frames. With the game gone beyond redemption, Chance called on Chester Hoff to take up the burden in the eighth inning, and he also sent in his latest catching acquisition, Gossett, to hold up the little left-hander; but he had no chance to shine.

The Red Sox jumped to the front—won the game, in fact—in the opening inning. Hooper welcomed Schulz with a single to centre, and on a hit-and-run play Neal Ball pushed a drive through short. Speaker flied to Cree and Ball moved up on Birdie's return to the plate. Lewis scored Hooper and Ball with a single to centre. A pass to Wagner and singles by Cady and Bedient allowed Wagner to make the circuit in the second inning. In the fourth inning Engle opened with a line drive past Hartzell and scored when Cady's long fly to left got away from Cree. The sun blinded Cree and the hit went for a three-bagger. In the fifth, after Speaker was hit, Lewis dropped a long slam into deep right field for a triple, and Tris counted.

The seventh inning, which marked the finish of Schulz, was a busy chapter for the Sox. Ball, Speaker, and Lewis hit cleanly in succession, Schulz fumbled a bunt by Gardner, Engle bounced a sizzler off Derrick's arm, and Wagner was thrown out by Hartzell after the latter had fumbled the ball. This combination allowed three more Boston runs to trickle across the plate.

The Yankees' lone run came across in the ninth. Lelivelt beat out a slow roller, on which Ball made a spectacular bare-hand stop, but was forced by Midkiff at second. Derrick singled to centre, and on Speaker's poor return Midkiff hurried toward third. Engle got the ball and made a bad throw to Gardner to get Midkiff, the ball rolling to the stand, while Midkiff scored and Derrick raced to third.

Johnson Wins Pitching Duel.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—A pitching duel between Johnson and Plank here this afternoon resulted in a victory for Washington over Philadelphia by 2 to 0. Both of the visitors' runs were made in the ninth inning, then with one out, Milan on second and Gandil on first, a double steal was tried on the ball on which Morgan fanned. Lapp threw to catch Gandil at second, but neither Collins nor Barry covered the bag. When the ball went to the outfield, Milan scored and Gandil reached third. The latter scored on Ainsmith's single. Plank fanned twelve batsmen to ten by Johnson, and each gave only one base on balls. The score:

White Sox Pound Dubuc.

DETROIT, April 30.—Chicago to-day gave Dubuc one of the worst beatings of his American League career and defeated Detroit 8 to 3. Consistent hard hitting coupled with loose fielding and battery errors enabled the visitors to win with ease. Cicotte was also pounded hard, but his spitball seldom failed him in tight places, and he kept Detroit's hits well scattered. Weaver's wonderful fielding helped to cut down Detroit's run getting. In the sixth he robbed Crawford of what appeared to be a clean single by a thrilling stop near second base and quick throw to first. The score:

COLUMBIA NEARLY WON.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 30.—Columbia bowed to Princeton on the diamond to-day, when the Tigers nosed out an eleven-inning victory with a 7 to 6 score. The Princetonians passed the game over to the New Yorkers many times, but Columbia would not win. Ten errors marred the contest and five of these misplays were added to Princeton's already large total for this season. Copeland outpitched Smith, the Columbia freshman, and with fair support would have been an easy winner. Smith's only pass of the game came in the ninth and enabled Princeton to tie up the score.

In the eleventh inning, with the bases filled and two out, Pendleton won the game with a single over second base. Reed's fielding and the steady hitting of Laird and Pendleton featured the game. Meenan, the Columbia left fielder, assaulted Capt. Worthington with his fists in the eighth inning over an argument. The score:

WESTMINSTER WON'T COME WITH POLOISTS

English Challenging Team Will Leave Liverpool Wednesday —Ritson to Captain Team.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 30.—The Duke of Westminster, before leaving for Paris to-day, told THE NEW YORK TIMES's correspondent that he would not accompany the English polo team to America when the players sail next Wednesday. He said:

"I had planned to go, but find it impossible. It is a great disappointment to me after all my work in getting the ponies and team together. We are sending thirty-four ponies, nine of which have been in America before. They are undoubtedly the finest ever brought together in this country, and I think we stand an even chance of lifting the international polo Cup at Meadow Brook, although we quite appreciate the mettle of the Americans, both in ponies and players."

LONDON, April 30.—Capt. R. C. Ritson has been selected to replace Walter S. Buckmaster as Captain of the English polo team which is to contest with the American four for the international polo cup at Meadow Brook, L. I., in June.

The English team is now composed of Leslie St. C. Cheape, Noel Edwards, Capt. Ritson, and Vivian Lockett, with F. M. Freake and Lord Wodehouse as reserves.

Young Hitchcock Plays Well.

The playing of Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., a 10-year-old son of Thomas Hitchcock, was the feature of the opening polo match on the Piping Rock polo field, at Locust Valley, yesterday, when the Rocks defeated the Pipers 10 goals to 4. Young Hitchcock, who was trained by his mother, the Captain of the Meadow Larks, played a remarkable game, and is already spoken of as a coming internationalist. He rides well, drives hard and accurate, and has an excellent defense. His all-around work materially aided his team in securing the victory. The line-up:

The following events are to be contested: Ninety-yard dash, 300-yard dash, 1,000-yard dash, one-and-one-half-mile walk, five-mile bicycle race, 600-yard run, special, closed to members of the Catholic Athletic League; 220-yard dash and one-mile run closed to postal employes. All the above events will be of a handicap nature, while a half-mile run will be featured with the following being invited to start: Meredith, Kiviat, Sheppard, Caldwell, Halpin, Lee, Frick, and Baker. Handsome bronze statues will be given as first, second, and third prizes in all events.

NOMINAL FINE FOR COBB.

National Commission Expected to Reinstate Detroit Player To-day.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The belief that Ty Cobb would be reinstated with but a nominal fine was expressed to-night by those who had interviewed members of the National Baseball Commission, which met here to-day. The commission took up only routine matters at to-day's session, and adjourned until to-morrow morning, when the Cobb case is to be considered.

The commission also is expected to take up the proposed Congressional investigation of charges that professional baseball constitutes a trust.

Decorate American League Umpires

CHICAGO, April 30.—In addition to white uniforms which it has been announced umpires in the American League are to wear on gala occasions, such as the presence of the President of the United States at a game, President B. B. Johnson said last night that he had planned further decorations for his arbiters. The latest decorative effect will serve a double purpose of ornament and showing spectators how long the umpires have been in the service of the league. Thus one braid on the sleeve will mean that he has been in service for one year; two braids, two years, and so on until five years are reached, when a gold star will repleace the five braids. Braids will be added to the star until ten years are reached, when two stars will be the insignia. Tom Connolly will be entitled to wear two stars and two braids, indicating that he has been an umpire since 1901, a year after the league was organized.

Both the putting greens and fair greens are in splendid condition, and the members are all looking forward to winning the First Ball Sweepstakes. The course measures 3,200 yards, and there are several long holes. The first one is 530 yards. Several professional matches will probably be played on the course during the Summer.

PRINCETON SENIORS LEAD.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 30.—Princeton's senior class track men won first honors this afternoon in the annual Caledonian games for the championship of the university with the total of 57 points. The sophomores were second, with 29 points, and the freshmen and juniors finished with 23 and 8 points, respectively. Harland's victories in the sprints, in which he defeated Capt. Thomas, the Olympic team sprinter, were the surprises of the afternoon. No records were threatened, but promising 'Varsity material was brought to light in Mackenzie, '15, winner of the mile in 4:30 2-5; Larsen, '15, winner of the shot-put; Wallace, '15, winner of the quarter-mile, and Mason, '15, who won the low hurdles event.

Stickney showed up as the best Tiger two-miler by covering the distance in 9:59 2-5. The other senior firsts were Bryan in the high hurdles, Howard in the hammer throw, Mathiason in the broad jump, and Simons in the high jump, who cleared 5 feet 11⅛ inches.

Judging from to-day's meet, the Tigers should have a better 'Varsity track team than last year, while the freshmen appear to be several points below par. There was one freshman first place and two freshman second places.

CLOSE FINISHES ON TRACK.

Final Half of Columbia's Handicap Meet Furnishes Good Sport.

Close finishes were the rule in the last half of Columbia's second handicap track meet at South Field track yesterday. Francis Macdonald, a member of the 'Varsity relay team, took the quarter mile in the best race of the day from E. A. B. Spencer, a senior, by inches in 52 4-5 seconds. Spencer had twelve yards on Macdonald, who ran scratch, and, after leading all the way, let the 'Varsity runner pass him in the last yard of the race. The summaries:

100-Yard Dash.—Won by D. Tenney, '14, (5 yards;) L. F. Paszek, '15, (5 yards,) second; A. H. Harvitt, '14, (scratch,) third. Time—0:10.

220-Yard Dash.—Won by F. S. Appleby, '16, (8 yards;) D. Tenney, '14, (8 yards,) second; D. W. Vollmer, '16, (8 yards,) third. Time—0:23 1-5.

Stevens Lands Close Track Meet.

In a closely contested athletic meet Stevens won from N. Y. U. by the score of 54½ to 46½. The meet was in doubt until the last event. In the 220-yard hurdle Zeiger of Stevens was hard pushed by Many, and broke the college record of 27 3-5 seconds, made by him last year, his new time being 27 2-5 seconds. The most exciting of the events was the two mile, in which the first three men finished within a few feet of each other, Hillman winning. The pole vault was also close, Lucy of N. Y. U., winning man, clearing 9 feet 8½ inches.

Harlem Y. C. to Open Season.

The Harlem Yacht Club will open for the season of 1913 Saturday, May 10. The Entertainment Committee has arranged a beefsteak, which will be accompanied by a vaudeville entertainment. The flag will be raised at 5 o'clock with fitting ceremonies. The clubs is just entering on its thirty-first year, being one of the oldest yachting organizations in this part of the country. The opening Spring regatta, under the auspices of the Long Island Racing Association, will be held on May 30, and will be the first opportunity of trying out the new boats which have been built this year for Long Island Sound racing. A large entry list is expected. Commodore Fred D. Newton's yacht Zingara is already in commission and will be anchored off the clubhouse as well as the majority of the fleet.

Australian Tennis Players Start.

Barnard Leads Teachers' College.

The Barnard College baseball team turned tables on Teachers' College yesterday and won the second game of the series by the score of 14 to 9. ## M'CARTY TOTTERS MORAN AT THE END

Western Heavyweight Beats Pittsburgh Fighter in St. Nicholas Rink Bout.

Luther McCarty, crowned king of the white heavyweights after his successive knockout victories against Kaufmann, Flynn, and Palzer, outpointed Frank Moran of Pittsburgh in a ten-round bout at the St. Nicholas Rink last night. A whirlwind finish in the closing round gave McCarty the honors by a comfortable margin and threatened for a time to bring the battle to a finish before the scheduled distance was reached. Moran's ruggedness and stamina came to his rescue in the tenth round, and he was able to stay on his feet until the final bell sounded. But that last round was overloaded with rough spots for the Pittsburger.

McCarty demonstrated beyond dispute that he is a boxer best suited to long bouts. He was slow starting, but was coming along at a good clip at the finish. If the bout had much longer to go it is doubtful that Moran would have been able to weather the storm, as McCarty's steady attack was gradually weakening him. He landed several times with both hands to Moran's chin and, although several of the punches jarred the Pittsburgher, none was strong enough to send him to the canvas. McCarty was the only one who went to the floor, and his fall was not due in any way to a punch. Just before the bell sounded at the end of the ninth round Moran rushed at McCarty with head down and butted Luther in the stomach. The force of the collision was enough to upset McCarty, and he fell backward, but was up again in an instant.

McCarty had the advantage of ten pounds in weight, the figures being 194¾ pounds for Moran and 204¾ pounds for McCarty. The latter was slightly taller than Moran and of more ideal build for ring work.

A straight left jab, with plenty of snap to it, was McCarty's most effective punch. He had Moran bleeding from a cut on the forehead early in the bout and also had blood flowing from his nose and a cut lip. He threatened to close Moran's right eye with this jab, but after raising a swelling under the optic as early as the fourth round he did no more damage to this particular spot. Moran had McCarty bleeding from the nose in the fourth round, but no blood was in evidence in the closing rounds, after McCarty had got started.

It was an altogether different style that McCarty showed last night, as compared with his work against Stewart and Willard at the Garden last August. His speedy left jab was not in evidence then, and he relied more on his right, clumsily handled. Last night McCarty did good work in the closing rounds with a short right uppercut, which found its way time and again to Moran's chin, but he was very ineffective with his overhand right. It was delivered in a way that indicated he was muscle-bound in the shoulders. There was no sting to it and no speed.

Moran, never regarded as being in the top notch class even among mediocre heavyweights, proved a distinct surprise, both on the attack and in his ability to assimilate punishment. He was generally regarded as a trial horse to bring out McCarty's merits, and he proved a little more than that. He stung Luther time and again with his left hooks to the face, and he also crossed over a few rights at close quarters that landed with a resounding wallop on McCarty's stomach. In the second round he shot over jab after jab against McCarty's face, and the latter was unable to stop him. They had few exchanges at close quarters during the bout, but in three or four there was plenty of action, with little to choose between the pair.

The attendance was hardly up to expectations, despite the low prices which prevailed. There was vacant space in the rear of the hall large enough to accommodate hundreds. McCarty received a guarantee of $5,000 for his services, and Moran worked on a percentage with the club. There was no betting on the affair except as to Moran's ability to go the distance.

ARRANGING ANOTHER MATCH

Kilbane and Dundee May Box Again About July 4.

LOS ANGELES, April 30.—Negotiations were begun to-day for a return match between Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, and Johnny Dundee, who fought a twenty-round draw with him at Vernon last night. The contest last night was unsatisfactory in every way, according to the newspaper commentators to-day. Although Kilbane led easily on points, the draw decision was commended on the ground that Dundee was the aggressor and coming in at all times, albeit usually covered up.

Tom McCarey and "Scotty" Monteith, manager of Dundee, expressed the hope of putting on the return match in two or three months, preferably July 4.

It was the general opinion among fight frequenters to-day that neither boy would make good against a lightweight—the often expressed ambition of each. Kilbane did not seem to have a knockout punch last night, and Dundee, with his peculiar habit of leaping as he launched a blow, also lacked steam.

Wolgast to Manage Hoppe.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion of the world, has announced himself as manager of Willie Hoppe, a local boxer, who knocked Wolgast down during the latter's last training season as a champion.

Legalize Boxing in Wisconsin.

MADISON, Wis., April 30.—The Assembly to-day indorsed the Heddin Boxing bill, which provides ten-round, no-decision bouts to be held under supervision of a State commission. A canvass of the Senate indicates that the measure will pass that body. The Assembly ratified its former vote favoring woman suffrage.

Coulon Knocks Out Hudson.

Lowery Wins with Cue.

In last night's game of the amateur handicap Class B three-cushion carrom billiard tournament at Keeney's Billiard Academy, in Brooklyn, A. Lowery, playing at a handicap of 26 points, defeated E. Townsend, a 25-point player, by the score of 26 to 24. The winner made a high run of 4 points. This evening Edward Milkman, who plays at the scratch mark, will endeavor to tally 30 points before Charles Worcester can score 27.

FRENCH HORSE WINS RACE.

Louvois Captures Two Thousand Guineas at Odds of 25 to 1.

NEWMARKET, England, April 30.—The Two Thousand Guineas Stakes was won to-day by W. Raphael's Louvois. Craganour was second, and H. P. Whitney's Meeting House third. Fifteen ran. The French winner was ridden by Johnnie Reiff, and the American horse by F. O'Neill, both American jockeys. The race was for three-year-olds, the colts carrying 126 pounds and the fillies 121 pounds over a mile course.

Louvois won an exciting race by a head. The betting was 25 to 1 against Louvois, 3 to 1 against Craganour, and 50 to 1 against Meeting House. Danny Maher, the American jockey, who has become a naturalized British subject, rode Sanquhar, who ran fourth.

H. P. Whitney's Cabaret won the Bretby Handicap of $1,500 for three-year-olds and upwards over a six-furlong course.

Prizes for Football Competition.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., April 30.—George Brooke, football coach of the University of Pennsylvania, in an effort to bring out drop kickers and punters for the Red and Blue eleven, has adopted the idea of competition in these branches among the undergraduates. With the aid of Assistant Coach Ziegler Brooke has formulated a set of rules to govern the contests, and prizes will be awarded according to efficiency. The candidates will be given a thorough course of instruction in passing, punting, and drop kicking, and Coach Brooke is of the opinion that the competition will develop some stars.

Golf Tournament Postponed.

Special to The New York Times.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., April 30.—At their regular bimonthly meeting here this afternoon the Board of Governors of the Garden City Golf Club decided to postpone the annual tournament, which was scheduled for May 8, 9, and 10, until the Fall. This action was necessitated by the poor condition of the course at the present time, and the grounds are already under repairs. The amateur championships will be held the first week in September, as it is necessary to improve the course.

Chicago Billiardists Win.

PITTSBURGH, April 30.—Chicago to-night won first honors in the National Three-Cushion Billiard League on points, a series of six games, giving Chicago [illegible] Pittsburgh 273. Both cities equally divided the series in games won. James Shea played for Chicago in the final game to-night against Joseph Wireback and Charles McCourt of Pittsburgh, defeating the local men 50 to 48. Shea and McCourt had high runs of 4 and Wireback 3.

THE RAILWAY RATE MOVEMENT.

The railways are about to make another combined attempt to advance their rates by permission of the Inter-State Commerce Commission. The prospects of success can be gathered only by examination of the record on the subject. The first attempt was made in 1903 on the plea that the railways wanted means to improve their properties dedicated to the service of the public. The answer of the Commission was that the stockholders were not entitled to name rates which both should earn them dividends and improve their property. If they wanted to improve their property they should borrow the money. This hardly seems convincing. It would be more necessary to pay bond interest than dividends, and the rate of interest is often, as now, above the average dividend.

On the other hand, the record shows that on the policy of improvements from surplus earnings the railways grew faster than those of other countries, and the American rates were lowest in the world, while the credit of the railways was constantly improving. In 1905 the railways made another attempt on the plea that everybody else was prospering and that the roads wanted their share. The stony-hearted Commission's reply was that "the freight rate is not "a commodity the price of which "ordinarily should vary with the "price of the commodities which are "transported." The doctrine then announced was that the railways should absorb their prosperity from the country's prosperity, taking their increase of profits from the growing density of their traffic. It was then that Mr. HILL published his calculation that the theory was more true in the reverse sense, and that the country took its profits at the expense of the railways rather than that the railways profited at the expense of the country. Mr. HILL's way of proving it was by stating the economies to the country by the reduction of rates on his lines alone to a total of $676,983,820 between 1881 and 1905. But the roads which had conferred this boon on shippers were not allowed to advance rates as they asked.

The last attempt was made so recently that it is only necessary to recall the Commission's unyielding reply that the roads could not be entitled to advance rates until they proved their efficiency in operation and their economy in wages. But how, it may be asked, can the companies make out a case in these respects when their action is not under their control? "Theirs not to reason why, theirs but to pay and die." What option have the companies regarding full crew laws passed by order of unions of their own employés? How can the companies show economy in operation when wages are increased by millions in arbitrations forced upon the companies by public opinion, although the method of arbitration is admittedly bad? How is it possible to say to the companies that they should borrow the funds they need when municipalities in superior credit are borrowing above the rate at which railways can make a profit by the use of capital?

It might seem that there is no good time for the advance of railway rates. Nobody can afford to pay higher rates when times are bad, and when times are good the companies have so much business that they cannot make out a case of poverty. And yet there is hope. In the Shreveport case the Commission fairly scolded the companies for not asking it for relief from the Texas rates. The question seems fair to ask—if the Commission thinks that the railways may not be oppressed by statutes and may be relieved by an order of practical nullification, why may not the relief be extended further than to mere rates? Why may not the Commission deem its duty to be to protect the railways against a public opinion less informed than the Commission? Why may not the Commission discover that full crew laws are nullification of the Federal regulation of rates by making rates declared reasonable by the Commission unreasonably low by the amount taken for unnecessary wages? Why may not similar reasoning be applied to such legislation as that mentioned by President DELANO, who specified in yesterday's papers an equipment law as > presumably for the safety of the public, but there is every reason to believe it is for the benefit of an electric headlight corporation in which members of an engine drivers' organization are interested.

The Commission could not ask for a better opportunity to magnify its office than by showing that it is truly a judicious, judicial, and benevolent body holding the scales true between the opposing sides of the railway question. The alternative is that regulation shall mean constant reduction of rates, constant increase of service for less money, and, when this shall fail, as it must fail, Government ownership and operation as the result.

THE AMENDED LAND BILL.

If California's Alien Ownership bill had been originally drawn in the form adopted by Attorney General WEBB of that State for his substitute measure, it is little likely that the matter would have attracted much attention either here or in Japan. The bill of which complaint was made prohibited the ownership of land by aliens "ineligible to citizenship." The Webb substitute, which was passed by the California Senate Tuesday night, provides in Section 1 that "all aliens eli-"gible to citizenship under the laws "of the United States may acquire, "possess, and inherit real property." Section 2 provides that all aliens other than those mentioned in Section 1 may acquire real property "to the "extent and for the purpose pre-"scribed by any treaty now existing "between the Government of the "United States and the nation or "country of which such alien is a "citizen or subject." The clause as to ownership of land by corporations is also expressly limited to make it conform to treaty requirements.

Inasmuch as the Webb bill is permissive and appears to have been drawn with due regard to the obligations of treaties, it is believed in California and elsewhere that the chief ground of objection to the enactment has been removed. The country, however, cannot shut its eyes to the fact that this legislation will not dispose of the question of Japanese eligibility to naturalization. California's demonstration of antipathy to the Japanese had no reasonable cause or basis, it was a political demonstration for the gaining of party or factional advantage. But it has served to bring into view the need of diplomatic interchanges between Washington and Tokio preliminary to the making of a new treaty. The interest and the disposition of the two countries in respect to the questions raised by the California agitation are believed to be so nearly in accord that the outlook for a meeting of the National minds in a convention satisfactory and mutually advantageous is favorable.

THE SCHOOL BILLS.

The Mayor will give a hearing today on the two bills relating to the schools of New York, which have been passed by the Legislature and which are usually known as the McKee bills. The supporters of the bills are counting on the approval of the Mayor, though we think their confidence may be misplaced, and that the Mayor may see the inexpediency of such patchwork legislation as to matters that ought clearly to be treated as a whole, and with mature consideration of all the conditions of the problem. If, however, his Honor shall not see his way clear to condemn the bills, it will fall to the Governor to determine their fate. We are persuaded that on careful examination of the measures he will see that they are radically opposed to the principles that he has sought to apply to legislation affecting important public interests.

The main objection to the bills is that they tend directly to destroy responsibility in the administration of the schools. One of them gives to the President of the Board of Education the authority to designate any one connected with the supervising or teaching staff to inspect and report on any subject of which the board has cognizance. This in effect turns over to the President of the board a function that should be exercised by the board itself, and clothes the President with power that he may use to the confusion of all discipline. If he should do so, there is no way of calling him to account. And in the meanwhile the responsibility of the supervising department would be hopelessly impaired.

The other of the two bills tends strongly to produce like result on even a broader scale. It puts in the hands of the board the selection of district Superintendents and special directors without reference to the nomination of the Superintendent of Schools, and it puts in the same hands the direction of district Superintendents and directors of special branches now in the hands of the Superintendent of Schools. This substantially breaks up the present system of accountability and huddles upon the Board of Education a lot of work for which it is not adapted. It is in flat contradiction to all principles of efficient administration. Gov. SULZER has shown repeatedly this Winter a desire so to frame the regulation of the State departments as to preserve and increase the responsibility of their various heads. We are persuaded that he will see the unwholesome tendency of these bills and will withhold his approval from them. Certainly the schools need reorganization, but it should be the result of careful and comprehensive study and not of hap-hazard interference of the Legislature in details.

THE COLLECTORSHIP OF THE PORT.

Neither in Tammany Hall nor among the foes of Tammany have we been able to detect any marked enthusiasm over the suggested appointment of Mr. FRANK L. POLK as Collector of the Port of New York. It would be a fair presumption, therefore, that Mr. POLK is not moved by a quenchless and passionate zeal either for Tammany or for anti-Tammany. So far as it goes, this fact might serve as a basis for the further presumption that Mr. POLK might be a very good man for the Collectorship—a good man, that is, in the sense that he is not particularly in politics. We have been unable to see why ardor and activity in the anti-Tammany cause constituted a very much higher qualification for that office than attachment to the interests of Tammany. Would anybody contend that fitness for the duty of attending to the collection of customs must have been demonstrated in the field of politics?

The prerogatives and the sensibilities of Senator O'GORMAN have been brought somewhat prominently forward in the discussion of President WILSON's intentions as to this appointment. It has been understood that Mr. POLK was recommended by Secretary McADOO, not by Senator O'GORMAN, and it is made to appear that in some way his appointment would be a humiliation for the Senator. Why is it necessary that the emotions either of pleasure or of humiliation of either Senator or Secretary should be made the controlling consideration in this matter? We should like to see more attention given to the fitness and qualification of the candidate for appointment, and rather less to the political color of his backing. We take it that the public interest will be best served by the appointment of a Collector who will fill Mr. LOEB's shoes. Mr. LOEB has with notable fidelity attended to the duties of his office; he has been conspicuously vigilant and efficient. He has not given himself the slightest concern about politics. We have never heard a whisper that the influence of his office was employed for any political purpose whatever. That, it seems to us, is the standard to be maintained in the new appointment.

THE PHILIPPINES.

The President is said to be in extreme doubt as to what he should recommend to Congress as to the policy of the Government in the Philippines. He is committed heartily to the declaration of the Democratic Party platform on this subject, but, like many another platform in our history, this declaration is more emphatic than specific. It "favors an "immediate declaration of the Na-"tion's purpose to recognize the in-"dependence of the Philippine Is-"lands," but it adds the extremely important qualification, "as soon as "a stable Government can be estab-"lished."

This is in effect the present policy, which has steadily been pursued since the days of McKINLEY. We have always been prepared to recognize the independence of the islands under the condition defined. And the United States Government has striven loyally and with energy and skill to bring about the fulfillment of that condition. Doubtless some mistakes have been made and some omissions have occurred, and it will be the duty of the present Administration carefully to examine this phase of the subject, to correct the errors, supply the omissions, and make any changes in the organization and management of the islands that may be found necessary. But it does not lie within the power of the Executive or of the Government to abandon the objective determined and pursued up to the present time. It is not merely the platform of the party to which the Administration belongs that prevents this. It is the grave and lasting obligation that this Nation has assumed with reference to the islands, to their actual inhabitants and to the millions who in the future will people the islands.

This is one of the cases where the means is far more important than the end. It is not the independence of the Philippines that we must consider now. It is the stable Government which is first to be established. Practically, when that is accomplished, independence will be a matter of minor consequence. By that time there will exist in the islands an intelligent, industrious, and prosperous population, partly native but largely of Western descent, which may not wish to sever the connection with the great Republic. In the present condition of the islands independence is a mere dream.

RUSSIA'S AGRICULTURAL PROGRESS.

It would be a mistake to assume that Russia has sunk back into national torpidity and inertness since the war with Japan, which disturbed, momentarily at least, her dreams of an extended Asiatic empire from the Baltic to the Sea of Japan. Russia probably was never stronger or more prosperous than she is to-day, and the chief secret of that prosperity is the wonderful revival of agriculture which has followed naturally the firmer hold its agricultural population now has upon the soil.

It has been only in recent years that a solution has been found for Russia's land problem, which gives the peasants an opportunity to become free, form communes, and to acquire their own farms. In addition to this great incentive to industry and enterprise the Government, the Zemstvos, and farming associations have combined to spread a knowledge of improved agricultural methods and implements among the people. Farming specialists were sent out over all the country demonstrating advanced methods and machinery by means of exhibitions and experimental field lessons, and such was the interest aroused in this way that between the years 1909 and 1911 the total number of these instructors was increased 100 per cent. One marked result of this agricultural campaign is that during the last fifteen years the improvement in the quantity and quality of the crops has increased the rental value of the land by 25 per cent.

Russia is chiefly an agricultural country, the last census showing that three-fourths of the people find their main subsistence in farming, so that the improvement noted means practically a national awakening. The extent of this remarkable progress in agriculture is best indicated by the fact that in 1895 Russia's agricultural exports amounted to less than half what they were in 1911, and the increase is rapid and continues. According to latest estimates Russia grows 51 per cent. of the rye, 25 per cent. of the oats, 33 per cent. of the barley, and 22 per cent. of all the wheat harvested in the world.

Russia's attitude in the Balkan war has shown that she is content to wait and bide her time, whatever may be her final purpose. That is a wise and politic programme, and by strengthening her people and forwarding their progress along the lines of peace she has taken the surest road to their happiness and advancement.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Would Make Floods Our Friends.

When a man has undertaken, as has CARROLL L. RIKER, the Brooklyn engineer, a job as large as that of changing the climate of the arctic and sub-arctic regions by rearranging their ocean currents, including the Gulf Stream, that one task might be expected to use up all of his time and thought. Mr. RIKER, however, recognizes no such limitation of his enterprise and energy, and he now comes forward with another colossal scheme—nothing less than one for taking care of the Mississippi floods and making them not only harmless but helpful.

Some people were rash enough to treat Mr. RIKER's grave proposal to build a dike out over the Grand Banks from Newfoundland as more amusing than impressive, but those best qualified to judge it—other engineers, that is—have taken it with seriousness and deny neither its practicability of construction nor the probability that the effects produced would be just about what the inventor promises. As for the new proposition, it has as the first, and by no means weak, argument in its favor the fact that it is utterly different from the plan now followed—a plan known by all the experts to be wrong in principle and involving ever greater and greater catastrophes as it raises the bed of the river ever higher and higher above the level of the contiguous lands.

Abandoning the hopeless attempt to keep the Mississippi at flood within the same channel that suffices for it when low, Mr. RIKER would let the waters spread out over a regulated area some ten miles wide, thus reducing a rise of thirty feet to one of three, and would make the extension so gentle that its only effect would be just such a deposit of sediment rich in plant food as has kept up the fertility of the Nile delta since prehistoric times. Some of us have long wondered why this could not be done; Mr. RIKER says that it can be, and tells how. The details of his plan, or some of them, were printed in THE TIMES yesterday, and need not be repeated here. It's another big scheme, but it's certainly a plausible one, and, as our interest in the Mississippi Valley is greater than in the Labrador and Greenland, perhaps the Newfoundland jetty scheme can wait till this one has been carried out or at least subjected to the careful examination it seemingly deserves.

An Experiment Worthy of Discussion.

Justice GIEGERICH evidently views alcohol with an eye which, unlike that of Secretary BRYAN, sees in it certain possibilities for good if "exhibited," as the doctors say, at just the right time and in just the proper quantities. At any rate, having before him, this week, a wife and husband who were seeking judicial recognition of what they declared the fact that each had become an intolerable partner, maritally, for the other, he sent them out to take luncheon cozily together and make a final effort to adjust their differences. There was nothing novel in that, of course, but new indeed was the Justice's suggestion that at this reconciling meal they ignore the teachings of the Prohibitionists and moisten their fare with something more heart-warming than clear, sparkling water.

Opinions will differ as to whether or not this was good advice. That the would-be-divorced took it is to be presumed, and that they came back from the luncheon announcing a restoration of harmony and a firm determination to return home together and be good certainly goes some way toward proving the Justice's wisdom and vindicating his plan. How far it goes is a question open to debate.

Some might say that a peace thus established would have to be maintained, if at all, by constant employment of the same emollient—in constantly increasing doses—and declare that sort of harmony hardly worth while. Again, objectors could note, as relevant to the issue, that while the first effects of a little alcohol are usually a good-natured blindness to the faults of others, accompanied by forgetfulness of past troubles and future perils, this is by no means always the case. Even when the bounds of moderation are not exceeded, in more than a few cases strong drink acerbates temper and weakens the inhibitions of its display. Had the Justice's plan worked out in this way, and produced, as it might, fierce public recriminations and worse, instead of an accelerated and exhilarated harmony, he would have been—well, a good deal confused, to say the least, and burdened with heavy responsibility.

Even the mildest of intoxications is well known to weaken judgment to some extent and to be the poorest of poor advisers in the reaching of difficult and important decisions. The too many marriages it brings about commonly end ill. The expectation that it would sustain a marriage already contracted will not seem high to all.

No Need to be Frightened.

When a professor of geology talks about past earthquakes we do well to listen with respectful attention and to give all he says that provisional and qualified belief which is due to the exponent of a young science wherein even the most expert have much to learn and are still constantly changing their conclusions. But when the professor of geology ventures on the prediction of a big earthquake with no better basis than that there has been a little one—then almost anybody has a right to have and express doubts many and large.

Therefore need nobody be much worried, or at all, because Prof. CHADWICK of St. Lawrence University declares that we are entering upon a period of great seismic disturbances, and that Monday night's tremors in lower Canada and upper New York may "possibly" be the precursor of a disastrous shock in the same region. "Possibly" it may, but possibilities of that sort are ignored by the thousands every day, by those of us who are not suffering from well-developed phobias.

What should really interest us is what the professor said about a "Logan's line" and "the famous Champlain earthquake of 1663." Fairly diligent inquiries made yesterday among people claiming to be fairly well read and informed failed to disclose even one that had ever heard before of the line in question or of the Champlain earthquake. That shows how painfully ignorant one can long be without knowing it, for, of course, the professor is all right in his history, however he may be as a prophet.

THE NEGRO RACE.

In discussing the question as to whether the term Negro should be accorded a capital "N" or not, it appears that you approach the matter from the wrong angle. In the first place the word Negro, used to designate a people, is not, according to Webster, an adjective. It is a noun. It is used by the Spanish, Portuguese, and French people as a noun to designate a distinct class of natives who derive their black color from African admixture. As used in America it applies to a people who, in different environment and under different condition, constitute a race distinct to itself.

It is not necessary to discuss the circumstances creating this difference. It is not germane. The important thing to consider is that under new conditions a new people has come into being, and this new element must have a distinguishing cognomen that shall embrace sufficient individuality and dignity to be worthy of a place in the ethnological classification of the world.

"Usage determines meaning," you say, "and by common agreement 'negro' now applies to persons the color of whom ranges from black to white." Admitted without argument. But since usage thus defines the meaning of the word it also broadens its scope from covering a particular class or color and makes it embrace all the classes and all the colors that comprise a whole race. Surely you will admit that this broader meaning, established by usage, entitles the word to the same dignity and high standing as is given other words that apply to other races.

The word "Negro" has been adopted as the race name of a people who are set apart from the other races of the world. They are no more African than American—indeed, not as much. It is a far cry from the black African brought to these shores in 1619 and enslaved to the "Negro" of 1913, whose color embraces every shade from black to white. It is a new race that we are considering. If there is no new word sufficiently descriptive to be applied, and a word must be used the true meaning of which makes it only party applicable, then in using it we must broaden its meaning to cover its new application. This being the case, is it not plainly apparent that the new word is placed alongside other race names and attains to their same dignity?

Relative to my objection to the use of the term "negress," THE TIMES says: "Mr. Walton also objects to 'negress,' calling it vulgar and a 'disparagement on the women of my race.' It is, if he thinks so, but why he should is not made clear. The use of that and like feminine terminations is in full accord with the spirit and customs of the three languages from which English is chiefly derived, and there is no more of essential or necessary disparagement or vulgarity in 'negress' than in 'actress' or 'executrix.'"

Admitting that "negress" per se is the feminine form of Negro, our objection to its use is that it has been applied to our women as a term of opprobrium and is used in the same class, in our estimation, as the obnoxious term "nigger," which seems to be quite a popular term, whether usage is or is not correct.

"All the News."

Allow me a word or two on the letter that a German-American has written to you complaining that you misrepresent Germany by publishing cable dispatches on the "Krupp scandal." THE TIMES's motto, as every one of your readers knows, is to print "All the News That's Fit to Print." I admire, therefore, the courtesy and patience with which you treat the complaint of our German friend. You have done your duty in reporting the German scandal, and so did the native press of the Fatherland. If the press would not give publicity to such things scandals would grow like mushrooms after a rainy day.

I am an American citizen of foreign birth, and quite frequently read the German papers in this country. If it comes to publishing something about American graft, or scandals, or something that is apt to misrepresent this country they certainly don't treat Uncle Sam with silk gloves. True enough, no one requests or expects them to do so, for this is a free country with a free press. But on the other hand, in the name of fairness, we have to encourage every decent paper to always publish the truth without fear or favor, whether it hurts individual feelings or not.

THE REPORTER'S TASK.

Its Difficulties Merit Co-operation and Sympathy.

Good for Isaac Russell for speaking out on "Letters of Correction" as he has, and good for THE TIMES in affording him the space for it.

It has not been my fortune, good or bad, to be interviewed by many reporters, but those I have run across have impressed me favorably as men who were trying to get at facts in an efficient way; and I have always tried in meeting them to assume such a mental attitude—a "put yourself in his place" way of looking at it—as would lead me to do full justice not only to the subject of inquiry but to the man deputed to make the inquiry.

I cannot imagine many things more difficult than to be given what I understand is called an "assignment," and find yourself "up against it" as to how to carry it through for a "write-up;" how when you think you have struck the right trail you find a dead wall, or, what is worse, a very animated "picket fence" in the shape of some one decidedly averse to discussing what he perhaps regards as his personal affairs with a "newspaper reporter." Look at that case of THE TIMES reporter, for instance, who was recently subjected to the grossest indignity in pursuit of a perfectly legitimate inquiry. To put it mildly, there was an example of outrageous disregard of common decency hard to beat.

Speakers in public, too, seem to forget that in the excitement or exhilaration of the moment they are likely to say things that will look queer in cold type afterward. They would be "taken down" just as they are apt to think, on reflection, they should have been taken down.

I sometimes wonder what I would look like in print if I could prevail upon myself to "shoot off my mouth" in public! But there is no danger—you couldn't move me to it. What I have to say publicly I say in letters to the editor, which my "better half" declares are never read by the public, any more than the public speaker is listened to, seriously, by anybody but the conscientious reporter.

INWOOD HILL.

President McAneny Urged to Make It a City Park.

Mr. McAneny has been emphatic in frequently assuring me that the Budget Committee, which has charge of the issuing of corporate stock, was in favor of the city's acquisition of Inwood Hill, and that as soon as the Subway matter should be disposed of he would promptly give his attention to the project of Inwood Hill being taken as a park. In view of his repeated, definite, affirmative statements to this effect, I am no less shocked at the change of his attitude than I am at the subordination of the Budget Committee to it.

To-day the greater part of this section is being sold to corporations who will undoubtedly use it to engineer a real estate boom, and I am reliably informed that cutting down the trees will begin within sixty to ninety days.

Mr. McAneny knows very well that I have not only given eighteen months of my undivided time to this matter, but have done my utmost to prevent detraction from the primitive beauty of this—the last bit of virgin territory on Manhattan—not alone personally, but have induced others to follow my example in averting its commercialization.

I cannot, nor am I disposed to, do any more in this respect. These facts will explain this communication, in which I will beg of you to lend your aid in making a final appeal to Mr. McAneny to consent to the immediate acquisition of Inwood Hill, to which the Board of Estimate is favorably disposed, and thus bring the matter to a prompt conclusion.

In this regard I desire to state that the Budget Committe, having the corporate stock in charge, will have but a few days more before closing matters for the year—which is my special reason for appealing to you to induce Mr. McAneny to keep his word.

At present, Inwood Hill can be acquired for a comparatively insignificant sum. Personally, I am not inclined to reject propositions any longer, but the deep interest that you have taken in this question prompts me to address this last appeal to you.

INCOME TAX OBJECTIONS.

Permit me to say a word or two in regard to the proposed income tax. By the press I see it is figured that the entire tax is to be collected from about 400,000 persons, for it is estimated that that is about the number in the United States who have incomes of $4,000 a year or over.

We have a voting population in this country of, say, 10,000,000, so that the entire income tax is to be collected from one voter in twenty-five. In other words the twenty-four untaxed persons are to be allowed to run the Government to suit themselves and yet pay no income tax at all, while the twenty-fifth person has to pay all the tax for the twenty-five and yet have absolutely no say in the affairs of the Government, for it is evident the twenty-four can and always will outvote the one. Now, this is taxation without representation with a vengeance, and we were long ago taught that this was unjust and tyrannical.

I am one of those who will have to pay an income tax if the proposed law is passed, for my salary is $8,000 a year, and, mind you, Sir, I am not objecting to this tax being imposed upon me, but I certainly do object to the other twenty-four voters getting off Scot free, while I have to pay not only my own proportion of this tax but theirs also.

It is this infernal discrimination of one class in favor of another that is causing most of our political unrest, and it will surely bring about no end of trouble for us as a Nation unless all class legislation of every kind is done away with.

GOOD COFFEE.

Extraction Process Without Further Cooking Explained by Coffee Dealer.

THE TIMES "correspondence course" on coffee should not be ended without being brought to at least one definite point, which, once understood, means more to the people than perhaps any other diet question. I deal in coffees and my point is this:

Coffee, as the consumer receives it, is a cooked, not a raw, product. It has been roasted over intense heat until every cell and tissue of the berry is efficiently cooked. The mistaken idea of the housewife that further "cooking" is necessary is responsible for the boiling, stewing, &c., of coffee into a beverage far short of what coffee is in its full glory. The simplicity of right coffee brewing has never been understood by the public. Cooking skill is absolutely unnecessary. Correct brewing is not a cooking process, but a simple extraction process, a separation, by filtration, of already cooked aromatic oils from the storage cells (or containers) of which the berry is constructed. These cells are "fibre packages" which should be filtered out and cast away as dregs and not cooked in with their precious contents of flavor and fragrance.

Ex-President Eliot has characterized eating and drinking as "legitimate satisfactions" of a happy life, and has not Dr. Osler recently said that the first two hours of the day determine the day for mankind?

Bulgarian Widows in Need.

I am coming home from the Balkans loaded with what seems to me to be much valuable material and other things, but the particular point of this note is to put up to you the need of a popular subscription for the relief of the widows and orphans of 100,000 Bulgarian soldiers who should now be planting the fields they will never see again. The situation is appalling, but the relief to be of much value should be prompt. Bulgaria is the young America of the East and Sofia its Chicago.

YALE'S SOCIETY REVOLT

The news published in THE TIMES of the drastic action taken by the present sophomore class at Yale, in petitioning the senior societies to make certain reforms toward a simpler and saner social system, came to me as a great surprise. I am, of course, still uninformed as to the precise detail of the reforms demanded, but the very fact that the sophomore class, as a class, has had the courage to inaugurate such a revolt is as encouraging a development as it is amazing to those who are familiar with the long tradition of underclass subjection.

I am in hearty accord with the proposition that the first reform imperative is the complete doing away of the juvenile assumption of secrecy which continues to amuse the graduates of other universities, just as, until lately, visitors from country towns came to New York to witness the spectacle of the last horse cars. In "Stover at Yale" I incurred much criticism by my exposition therein that this lingering fetish of mediaeval flummery produced a stagnating effect on the minds of the freshmen who accepted it with seriousness. I still believe it is the most intellectually depressing factor in the Yale life.

But there is another weakness in this theory of secrecy. The senior society system, it must be borne in mind, is not an unimportant or detached demonstration of college life. It has become the backbone and the fibre of the university. Its graduates have in their hands the entire direction of official Yale, including the President, the Dean, the Secretary and the Treasurer. Its influence is paramount in the Faculty. In the college itself the control of every important organization, directly or indirectly, is in its hands, including that all-important organ for the suppression of opinion, The Yale Daily News, which has never been allowed to pass under the direction of the outsider. The most depressing side of this phase of secrecy is that it has stood as a bar to criticism between the society system and nine-tenths of the college. Any healthy discussion as to the needs of the university as a whole, as opposed to the prestige of the societies as a part, has been utterly impossible. The first change necessary, then, is for the societies, which exercise such complete dominion in Yale affairs, to level this prohibitive wall of secrecy, and to stand ready to meet criticism.

I note with interest that the sophomore protest demands that elections should take on more of the character of merit, and be stripped of subserviency to social position. This is a refreshingly courageous facing of the actual development of the senior system. It began, as almost all society organizations begin, as an attempt to establish an order of merit. The social character that has gradually replaced this first Roman standard is to my mind absolutely inevitable. In the long history of fraternities and societies, secret or open, in the United States, I have been able to see only one result—any fixed organization depending on proselyting or artificial selection inevitably tends to a social character. I have little faith that any but the most organic reforms will ever successfully combat this natural tendency in the senior societies. How true this is of Yale only a few would dare proclaim.

Forty years ago the senior society membership was preponderatingly intellectual; the orators, scholars, writers—the intellectual leaders—were almost certain of election. To-day this element has dwindled, constantly yielding to a social note. In the long procession of sons of great fortunes who have come to Yale, the case of a rejection by all three senior societies is so rare that at present I do not recall a single instance. The best that can be said is that the system usually forces the man of great wealth to an apprenticeship of moderate endeavor and a period of irreproachable conduct. There is, however, now at Yale entirely too much enthusiastic delight over the spectacle of a future wielder of millions passively sociable and negatively virtuous, even to the point of giving some justification to the remark of a critic who has said: "Yale is the most democratic of colleges. A millionaire's son, who behaves himself, is never discriminated against."

The senior society of Skull and Bones has a better record in this respect—though its lapses have been many and glaring.

If any reform toward pure merit is to come under the present system it should come in some such manner as this. There are forty-five places to be filled in the senior societies. In each class, including athletic, dramatic, literary, religious and scholarly activities, there must be, roughly, one hundred positions to be acquired as the result of some ambitious effort. An agreement by the senior societies that they would recruit their list from some such agreed upon roll of accomplishment would go far to weeding out the chaff that is so objectionable. It would not remove all the danger of social prestige, but it would do appreciable good. Furthermore, the eligibles could be formed into a society of one hundred, which in itself would be a roll of honor.

The junior societies should include this list in their membership, except in cases of flagrant inadmissibility to the society of gentlemen. The junior system itself is a factitious one. There is no natural reason for its existence. It represents no idea, and is really regarded simply as a necessary stepping-stone. The junior fraternities should be open clubhouses, and if this change does not bring vitality to them they should evolve into some genuine expression of intercourse.

One important and immediate change which should be demanded of the senior societies is the renouncing of Saturday as a meeting night in favor of some other day. What is needed now is a Saturday night which shall be the social meeting ground of the whole college, in order to stop the constantly increasing emigration to New York at the end of the week.

There is one point in the Yale situation that is difficult to touch upon without danger of being misunderstood, and that is the relation of Dwight Hall (the local Y. M. C. A.) to the senior societies. Lately the Presidency of Dwight Hall, even a class deaconship, has become exceedingly valuable baggage in the upward social journey, while in the societies themselves the Dwight Hall element has had a strong prohibitory influence—often for the best. Unfortunately, this alliance of Church and State has inevitable political consequences. The Dwight Hall offices are not always sought in a religious frenzy, and even its stamp of approval is seldom openly neglected. The complexities are difficult to analyze, given the undoubted good that lies in the true and natural sources of strength of the institution, but a query suggests itself. What effect would there be on the purely popular side of Dwight Hall if its officers, even the class deacons, in a larger devotion toward the deeper responsibilities of religion, should announce that for the purpose of a larger influence they would bind themselves not to accept elections to senior societies?

These changes which I have discussed are those which can be perceived as debatable immediate reforms. Perhaps it is better that reforms should move in gradual conviction. I know too well the susceptibilities involved, and the very democratic inclination among the society alumni even, not to lean toward such evolution. Personally, my feeling is this, as to the situation at Yale and other American universities, an opinion reinforced by new contact with the free, ardent and happy life of foreign universities. The cardinal error with us is decentralization. Our systems break up the unity of the college into isolated groups, instead of serving as needed molders of divergent National elements.

Instead of these artificial expressions mostly intent on self-perpetuation, I should like to see clubs, generally available to those who wish to join them, founded on the dividing lines of political thought—say a conservative club, a progressive club, a socialistic club. This is what happens here in Europe, and produces by a natural association a genuine mental stimulation. If with this there could be another centralizing development at Yale of the present dramatic club to a membership of a thousand with complete control of the social side of college, developed along the lines of the Harvard Hasty Pudding Club in the days of its prestige, I believe you would have at length at Yale a condition in which a man could naturally acquire his acquaintances and his friends, instead of now receiving them at the dictation of an upper class; furthermore, that his political club, which ought also to have all the attractions of social enjoyment, would represent to him not simply a basis of self-admiration but a definite and moving idea. This dream is so visionary that I am quite startled to find how naturally such an organization operates in aristocratic Europe.

Let us, however, be devoutly thankful for what the day brings us. I repeat, the action of the sophomore class at Yale in deciding to think for itself is to me the most encouraging, as well as the most amazing, manifestation in the whole history of fraternity conflict. If it succeeds in any measure it will have given to Yale that inestimable advertisement which awaits the first university that has the foresight, as well as the courage, to make itself truly democratic, serious, and adaptable to larger National purposes.

CALIFORNIA'S AGRICULTURE.

The proposed legislation of California against land tenure by the Japanese gives especial interest to the census reports on agriculture in that State. Between 1900 and 1910 the population of California increased 60 per cent., that in urban territory 81 per cent., and that in the rural parts 34 per cent. Ten counties out of the fifty-eight show a decrease in population. There was a disproportionate increase in the cities and a falling behind in the country.

There was a decrease in the amount of land in farms of 897,507 acres, and in the amount of improved land in farms of 568,943 acres. The number of farms increased, but they diminished in size. Some important farm crops show a marked decline. The amount of land devoted to wheat was less in 1910 by 2,205,188 acres than in 1900, or 82 per cent. For each one thousand inhabitants the amount of wheat produced in 1900 was 24,602 bushels, and in 1910 it was only 2,609 bushels. Taking all the cereals together, the amount of land devoted to them was 2,033,762 acres less in 1910 than in 1900, or 51 per cent., and the product for each one thousand inhabitants was 46,522 bushels in 1900, against 16,441 bushels in 1910. Looking at the condition of agriculture as a whole one would hardly suppose that a body of wise legislators would enact a law deliberately to drive out a lot of industrious, thrifty farmers.

The decrease in the amount of land in farms becomes the more astonishing if we observe that during this decade irrigation enterprises in California have added 1,218,232 acres to productive farm property. A decrease of 897,507 acres notwithstanding this is very significant. Why go to the large expense of irrigation while allowing lands that require no irrigation to pass into neglect?

The figures of the census also may well dissipate alarm over an impending invasion of Orientals. The number of farm operators in the State is 88,197, of whom 66,632 are owners. Of these the number of foreign born white is 26,193, of whom 19,914 are owners, while the number of non-white, which must include negroes and Indians as well as Asiatics, is 3,078, of whom 938 are owners. The disturbance that is now agitating two great peoples seems strangely out of proportion to the occasion.

G. S. D.

New Haven, Conn., April 29, 1913.

It appears that the root of the Japanese trouble in California is that these aliens produce 90 per cent. of the agricultural products of the State, either as landowners or lessees, who will hire none but Japanese workers, or as workmen employed by white planters they are doing all the agricultural work. Yet the primal curse (if a curse it be, and not a blessing) still rests on mankind—the white as well as the yellow—in the sweat of their brows must they earn their bread. Why does the entire white race in the Golden State refuse to work? Do they suppose the land will be allowed to stand idle? Should it?

The remedy is not far to seek. It is well known and acknowledged by many. Martin W. Littleton is not alone in seeing that "the people" have been told too long and too insistently that they are too good to work at any sweat-producing job. These jobs, it seems, must be left for aliens, and the only available aliens in California seem to be Japanese.

One of the dispensers of pamphlets at the Woman Suffrage Headquarters tells me that yesterday afternoon a very bright, cheerful lady, upon being asked if she favored woman suffrage replied: "Oh, no, I am married." When the suffragist retaliated by saying that many ardent supporters of suffrage were among the married women, the cheery one chirped: "Oh, yes, I know—but you see I am happily married!"

MERRY MAY.

Who comes here with scanty skirt
Well pinned up to clear the dirt,
Mackintosh, umbrella new,
Warranted not to leak through,
Rainy-day shoes, stout and trig,
Rubbers to complete her rig?
Rara avis she must be
Who is dressed thus sensibly!
Does she stand for woman's rights,
Bifurcated skirts and fights?
Is she out for votes, or pay,
On this chilly first of May?
Nay, more frivolous is she
She's a May Queen up-to-date,

MISS COUDERT WEDS THOMAS RIGGS, JR.

W. E. CONNOR MARRIED

Former Partner of Jay Gould Weds Miss Thurber — Penrhyn Stanlaws Weds.

The wedding of Thomas Riggs, Jr., of Washington, and Miss Rénée Coudert, younger daughter of Mrs. Frederic R. Coudert, and of Mr. Coudert, took place very quietly yesterday at the residence of the bride's mother, 383 Park Avenue.

The ceremony was solemnized in the drawing room, which was decorated in apple blossoms and Spring flowers, before an altar improvised in a bower of white and green. Mgr. Lavelle of St. Patrick's Cathedral officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Frederic R. Coudert, Jr., wore a trailing robe of white satin veiled with Venetian point and a tulle veil held with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of gardenias and lilies of the valley. She wore a diamond necklace, the gift of her mother, with a diamond and sapphire pendant, a gift from her cousin, Mrs. Dawson, and a sapphire and diamond brooch, the gift of the bridegroom. She had no attendants.

The chancel was massed with palms and apple blossoms, and the ceremony was performed by Bishop James De Wolf Perry of Rhode Island, assisted by Dr. Slattery.

Her only ornament was a diamond brooch, and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and gardenias. Connor Lawrence, a young man, who was named after Mr. Connor, acted as best man.

Plans to have the wedding as quiet as possible were carried out by those in charge, and no one except the invited guests were admitted into the chantry during the ceremony, when the doors were kept closed. An awning extended from the door to the curbing, and a policeman and a private detective were kept busy keeping the crowd back.

After the ceremony Mr. Connor and his bride stood at the door of the chantry and received the congratulations of their relatives and friends as they passed out. Mrs. Thurber, the bride's mother, in a black velvet gown, and her other daughter, Mrs. Francis L. Pruyn, stood with them, the latter in brown velvet.

The engagement of the couple, when announced last week, was received with much interest. The ushers were Frederick C. Inman, Allan Heyward McAlpin, George T. Ide, Jr., of Troy, James Sheldon Potter, James Graham Damon of Providence, and Alexander H. Carver of Philadelphia. Mr. Irwin's brother, J. V. Irwin, was best man.

Rose point was draped over the front, and the long chiffon train was almost covered by a full long veil of old point appliqué arranged in cap fashion over the face. By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, April 30.—The wedding of Mrs. Emily Hutchinson Crane and Francis T. A. Junkin, both of Chicago, took place at the American Church this afternoon. The civil ceremony was performed this morning at the Mairie.

There was a full choral service at the church, where over 200 were present. The bride was led to the altar by Ambassador Herrick, and her mother gave her away. Mme. Ricordo de Seriano, née Blair of Chicago, acted as matron of honor, and James C. McGuire was best man.

After the ceremony Mrs. Junkin gave a reception at the Hotel Crillon. Among the guests were the Duke de Choiseuil, the Marquis de Lafayette, the Marquis de Chambrun, Mrs. Potter Palmer, H. H. Getty, Miss Getty, Edward S. Swift, R. Hall McCormick, Mrs. George Dunlop, and Mme. Emma Eames.

The honeymoon will be passed in the south of France.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Both Mrs. Emily Hutchinson Crane and Francis T. A. Junkin are well known in Chicago. Mrs. Crane was the widow of Richard T. Crane, wealthy philanthropist and iron master, who died a year ago. Mr. Junkin is general counsel for the Santa Fé Railroad. The wedding is the culmination of a romance dating back twenty-five years. At that time Mr. Junkin was a young lawyer in New York. Mrs. Crane, who was then Miss Emily Hutchinson, was a belle of Viennese society, her father being connected with the American Diplomatic Service in the Austrian capital. They had a difference and the plans for the wedding were dropped.

Later Miss Hutchinson married Richard T. Crane. After his death she and Mr. Junkin renewed their romance, and their engagement became known several months ago. The bride is 47 years old.

POOR LO WILL RIDE AS A SUFFRAGETTE

CONVERTED AT ONE SWOOP

Prairie Horsewomen Plaiting "Votes for Women" Into a Yell for Big Procession.

Five original Americans were converted to woman suffrage yesterday and they will ride in the big suffrage parade next Saturday. They are Albert-Kills-In-Winter, Black Horn, Ghost Dog, Red Feather and Sitting Eagle, Indians from the Wild West.

With them will ride five nice cowgirls who were converted at the same time—Lulu Parr, Lillian Compton, Ethel Saunders, and Margaret and May Griffith. The girls will ride in their buckskin suits—four of them cavalier fashion and one, the only one in the show who rides that way, on a side-saddle. The original Americans will ride in all their war paint and feathers as guards to the young women.

The reason the whole show, many hundred strong, is not going to ride in the parade is that Miss Harriet May Mills, the State Woman Suffrage President, didn't have a chance to make an address and convert it last night in the mess hall in Madison Square Garden. Miss Mills, Mrs. Marie Nelson Lee, who as a caravan suffrage campaigner is going to ride in the big prairie schooner, and a dozen other women took dinner with Col. Cody, Major Lillie, and the executive officers of the Wild West in the Garden last night.

It was a very good dinner—roast beef, corned beef and cabbage, potatoes, lima beans and rice pudding. It was taken in a corner of the big mess hall and was the same as all the men and women of the show had. Mrs. Lee wanted instructions from Major Lillie to supplement those given to her recently by Col. Cody as to how to rough it in the prairie schooner when she is campaigning for suffrage up-State, and Miss Mills was to make a speech.

That was expected to bring Cingalese, Dahomians, Siamese, Hindus, Arabs, Japanese, Russians, Malays and a few other nations figuratively to her feet, begging for woman suffrage pledges and buttons. The Australian boomerang throwers already are good suffragists. But the women arrived too late to find the big gathering all at the mess tables, so everyone had to put up with the disappointment. The company will have a chance to be converted next week, when a suffrage speech will be made to it by Miss Mills, with the first course at dinner, 5 o'clock sharp.

Col. Cody and Major Lillie received last night plump boutonnières of suffrage yellow flowers and votes-for-women buttons. The five original Americans are learning to translate the words, "Votes for Women," into the Indian language, and the five cowgirl converts are striving to put the same slogan into a distinctive cowgirl yell for the parade.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

At times yesterday an appearance of much weakness was given to the market by sharp declines in a number of stocks among the less active issues, including a few which hold prominent place in the list, as, for instance, Southern Pacific and New Haven, but most of the stocks which lead in point of activity sold at no time during the session as low as they had on Tuesday, and at the close showed net gains for the day. This might be interpreted merely as a sign that at last the covering of short sales had come to overbalance the fresh commitments on the short side, but it was also open to the inference that a point had been reached at which the forces making for reaction had for the time being run their course. The stock market has been discounting things which have been expected but which have not yet happened. The belief, therefore which some formed yesterday that the market had worked into a position in which it might readily rally substantially from prevailing figures did not presuppose at all a change of view regarding the general business outlook. At some stage or other of a decline it always becomes necessary to take count of the extent to which admittedly favorable factors will outweigh the effect of the unfavorable elements which are presented in the situation. Moreover, selling movements, even when apparently justified by general conditions bearing upon values and earning power, frequently carry the market into an oversold condition where recoveries are easily brought about without reference to the course of outside influences. One or both of these factors in varying measure seemed to some to be exerting themselves in the stock market yesterday. This, of course, was a more hopeful view than Wall Street as a whole has been inclined to take of its own situation for some time past, but it is matter of common experience in Wall Street that a change in the course of prices frequently occurs when the vast majority are still looking for a continuance of the movement in the direction in which prices may have been going.

So far as a change in sentiment, at least in respect to the immediate course of prices, was based on the news of the day it had origin in calmer advices from abroad in respect to the political situation. The markets found no confirmation in yesterday's news of the more alarming of the reports which unsettled prices the previous day. On balance Europe was a buyer of stocks here, and Canadian Pacific, which, though probably given larger importance than it deserves as an index of European market conditions, nevertheless does reflect those conditions with more or less accuracy, recovered yesterday two points of its large decline of the previous day. So long as Montenegro remains in defiance of the demands of the powers so long will the fear persist that Austria, which is most immediately concerned with Montenegro's incursion into Albania, may take matters into its own hands, but quite possibly fresh reports that it intends to do so will be accepted with more reserve than were the reports which circulated on Tuesday.

There was much discussion yesterday of what the quarterly report of the Steel Corporation really indicated in respect to the present and prospective condition of the steel trade. It is necessary in considering the matter to draw a clear distinction between current and forward business in the steel trade. The latter shows unmistakable signs of reserve, if not of hesitancy, on the part of buyers, but on the other hand the mills are so well supplied with orders that more would be an unneeded surplusage. Some months from now activity will be slackening at the mills unless a larger volume of new orders are received than are now coming to hand, but if that comes at all it will only be after the mills have made much greater inroads into the business which is already on their order books. By that time we will know a great deal more about this years' crops and their outcome will have important influence upon the further continuance of activity in the steel trade on the present scale. The steel industry, of course, is one very directly concerned with the changes which are to be made in the tariff, but steel men do not regard this particular problem as one of immediate application. Whatever may be their ultimate effect upon the fortunes of the steel manufacturing companies of the country, the influence of lower import rates will be postponed, according to the common belief in the steel trade, until a more pronounced lull has come in the steel business of the countries from which our steel makers may have to encounter competition. The outcome of the crops has been referred to as bearing very directly upon the position of the steel trade during the later months of this year, but that, of course, is only one direction in which the crop results will exert influence of the first moment. We are in the period when the crops have to be spoken of in terms of hope rather than of judgment based on ascertainable facts, but so far as any basis exists for crop estimates they are favorable. They are actually so in respect to the Winter wheat crop and general conditions are favoring the initial stages of the work of preparing for the crops which will be harvested in the Fall.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Maurice L. Farrell and Lewis B. Hughes have been admitted to partnership in the firm of F. S. Smithers & Co.

The firm of W. H. Johnston & Co., Inc., has been formed to run a general brokerage business in unlisted stocks and bonds, with offices at 25 Broad Street.

The Electric Railway Journal has issued the 1913 edition of the McGraw Electric Railway Manual, known as "The Red Book." It contains the most important figures of all the street railway lines in the United States.

The Computing-Tabulating-Recording Company reports that earnings for the first three months of the current year were in larger volume than for the corresponding period of 1912. The Dayton floods caused no property loss to the company's plant there, which is in operation again.

The New York Stock Exchange baseball team will open its season at Lenox Oval on May 7, when it meets the New York Letter Carriers in a game.

Speyer & Co. announced yesterday that the coupons due May 1 of the United States of Mexico $25,000,000 Institution for the Encouragement of Irrigation Works and Development of Agriculture 4½ per cent. bonds and of the Manila Railroad Company will be paid at their office on and after to-day.

A committee consisting of John W. Platten, Chairman; Otto T. Bannard, and Henry R. Ickelheimer is asking for the deposit with the United States Mortgage and Trust Company of the 4½ per cent. notes of the Wabash Railroad due to-day.

Proof of a Dull Month.

The dullness of business in stocks on the NewYork Stock Exchange in April stands out in marked relief against the aggregate of transactions in the same month of last year, when the cold figures of the totals of the two months are placed in contrast. The turnover in April, 1913, was not a great deal more than half as great as in the corresponding period of 1912, 8,459,418 shares, in comparison with 15,986,827 shares last April. The most extensive trading occurred on April 4, when 684,000 shares changed hands, and the smallest day was on April 23, with 150,986 shares. Bond sales in the month were 12 per cent. smaller than in April, 1912, with a total of $55,513,000, against $63,496,000.

Inter.-Met. Goes Lower.

Interborough-Metropolitan preferred, which has lately been making good on bear tips—as the tipsters have insisted, without regard to the general decline of prices—continued on the downward slant yesterday in spite of the theoretical chance of a dividend from the Interborough Rapid Transit Company's extra dividend. The stock receded 1⅞ points on the day after making, at one time, a fairly good recovery of its early loss. The Interborough-Metropolitan Company owns nearly $34,000,000 of the Rapid Transit Company's $35,000,000 stock, and the extra disbursement meant more than $680,000 for the former's treasury. Professional traders apparently took advantage of the disappointment expressed on the board because the payment had been only 2 per cent., against an extra dividend of 5 per cent. last June, and sold the stock short heavily, particularly in the second hour of business.

Slowing Down in Metal Trades.

Reports received yesterday from the copper and steel trades indicated that consumers were exercising considerable caution in taking on supplies. The renewal of tension in Southeastern Europe has caused a marked contraction in European copper buying, and a substantial easing off of quotations, from 15¾ cents a pound on the part of small producers in this country, seems to be arousing no great interest among purchasers. An official summary of operations of the steel mills for the first three days of the week pointed out that premiums had disappeared and a decline had occurred in quotations for different grades of sheet steel extending from $1 to $2 a ton, while some concessions had been made in the prices of large structural sections.

Another Oil Melon.

The list of melons cut for the benefit of stockholders in oil companies was extended yesterday by the declaration of a dividend of 100 per cent. by the Ohio Fuel Oil Company. The company has outstanding 320,000 shares of a par value of $1 each, all of which are held by the shareowners of the Ohio Fuel Supply Company. The stock was distributed as a dividend to the Fuel Supply Company stockholders in 1909, each owner of a $25 share of the Fuel Supply Company receiving a share of the Fuel Oil Company.

The W. P. T. Problem.

It is supposed that the Wabash-Pittsburgh Bondholders' Committee will be forced by the approaching foreclosure sale of the collateral back of the Wabash notes, which are to be defaulted to-day, to hasten its plans for the reorganization of the Terminal property. Among the collateral securing the notes is $5,000,000 in two notes of the Terminal Company, these, in turn, being secured by Pittsburgh Railroad Terminal & Coal stock and bonds and other collateral. Possession of the coal company is essential to the Terminal Company, and steps must be taken to satisfy the notes under which the coal stock is pledged. A plan for reorganizing the Terminal property has been ready on several occasions, but has usually failed through the committee's inability to get the new security issues proposed underwritten. Lately the plan under consideration called for an assessment of $20 or $25 on the Terminal bonds. This was one of the factors on which the Terminal bonds had been declining lately. Yesterday they closed at 15.

Pennsylvania in March.

The gross earnings of the Pennsylvania system lines East and West were $29,588,000 in March, a decrease of $13,160 from the third month of 1912. Net after taxes decreased $2,365,000, wiping out the gains of the two months preceding and leaving a net loss of $1,144,000 for the first quarter of the new year. For the first three weeks the revenues showed satisfactory increases over March of last year, but the floods in the western part of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana very seriously affected results for the last nine days and for the month as a whole. The increased expenditures were partly due to the floods and partly to large additional charges on account of new equipment and maintenance.

Few May 1 Changes.

There have been reports for several days that the first of May, which is the beginning of a new year for most of the Stock Exchange firms, would witness a surprising number of withdrawals, due to the limited amount of business that has developed lately. There are always a number of changes at this time, but inquiry of officials brought information that no more houses had announced their intention of going out of business to-day or of closing their branch offices than was customary at this time. There have been numerous economies put into effect by firms which had been carrying extra clerks in the hope that business would pick up. Extra help has been discharged, expensive quarters have been abandoned, and in one case, according to the gossip of the Street, salaries have been cut 15 per cent.

Move for Higher Rates.

The first definite announcement of the attitude of the railroad executives toward the freight-rate question will probably be made to-day. A number of Presidents were in conference yesterday. They would say nothing about the movement for an organized advance in rates, but they expected to be able to issue a statement to-day.

New Mill for Schwab Plant.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Penn., April 30.—C. M. Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel Company announced to-day that he had decided to add a merchant mill to his already largely equipped plant. The mill will be on the property acquired recently from the New Jersey Zinc Company. It represents parts of the $9,000,000 Mr. Schwab intends to spend on extensions this year. As a start for the merchant mill a 35-inch blowing mill was bought to-day at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars. The mill will be run by electricity, Mr. Schwab having bought three 25,000-kilowatt electric generators. The giant gas engines to run the generators are building in the local plant.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Curb Trading Less Active—Prices Slightly Higher—Bonds Steady.

Transactions in unlisted securities yesterday were in small volume, while prices were fractionally higher. United Cigar Stores rose to 88 and closed at a 1-2 point advance at 87 3-4. The new New York City 4½s "when issued" sold at but one price, 100 5-8, unchanged from Tuesday's close.

Failed Bank's Depositors Fully Paid

ALBANY, April 30.—In liquidating the failed State Bank of Pike, Wyoming County, Superintendent Van Tuyl of the State Banking Department realized sufficient money to pay all the depositors 100 per cent. of their claims. In addition, there will be a small cash surplus, together with other slow assets, aggregating nearly $10,000, to turn over to the stockholders. The bank had a capital of $25,000.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

London Market Opens Weak, Then Recovers, but Improvement Later Disappears.

LONDON, Thursday, May 1.—The Times in its City article to-day will say:

"There was a keen demand for money yesterday, it being the last day of the month, and, as the supply was inadequate, a big business, all in loans, was done at the Bank. The India Council renewed a large amount at 3¼ per cent. for a month. Discount rates again advanced for all maturities, 3⅞ per cent. being the lowest rate quoted for fine three months' bills. Most Continental exchanges moved in favor of London, but Paris checks fell ½c.

"For a brief period in the morning the tone of the stock markets was more cheerful, the members taking a less gloomy view of the foreign political news. A certain amount of bear covering was in progress, but new business was almost non-existent. In view of to-day's holiday here and on the Continent there is a natural disinclination to increase commitments, and few rises were shown at the close, due to the efforts of operators to keep their books even. In the majority of instances the movements were in a downward direction. The flatness of the American market in the late dealings was the most unsatisfactory feature of the day's history. Sao Paulo Railway stock was offered after the meeting. The price fell heavily, while Brazil Railway stock enjoyed a smart rally. Canadian Pacific Railway shares, after being appreciably higher on bear covering, relapsed and closed weak in sympathy with the decline in American shares, among which Southern Pacific showed pronounced weakness. Falls predominated in the home railway market, but the decline was slight. Rio Tinto shares were again depressed."

PARIS, April 30.—Prices on the Bourse opened weak, but closed firmer to-day. Three per cent. rentes, 85f. 37½c. for the account.

BERLIN, April 30.—There was heavy selling on the Boerse to-day as a result of the general weakness yesterday, but the market received some support and the declines were limited to one or two points.

The Boerse will be closed to-morrow.

EXTRA INTERBORO DIVIDEND

Nearly All Goes to Interboro-Met—First Paid Out of Earnings.

The Interborough Rapid Transit Company Directors declared an extra dividend of 2 per cent. yesterday, payable out of the earnings from the elevated and Subway lines. As the Interborough-Metropolitan Company owns about $34,000,000 out of the Interborough's $35,000,000 of stock, practically all of the extra payment, or about $680,000, will go to the holding company.

The Interborough-Metropolitan Company pays nothing on its shares. The 10 per cent. annual dividend which it has been receiving from the Interborough Rapid Transit Company just suffices for its fixed charges and sinking fund requirements. The extra dividend declared yesterday is equivalent to about 1⅓ per cent. on the holding company's preferred stock.

Last year the Interborough Rapid Transit Company declared an extra dividend of 5 per cent., but this was paid out of a balance remaining in the treasury of the Construction Company. The 2 per cent. to be paid this month is the first extra dividend from transportation earnings.

President T. P. Shonts said yesterday that it was still too early to talk of a resumption of dividends on the Interborough-Metropolitan preferred, but that the Directors of the Rapid Transit Company might declare another extra dividend within the year if the company's surplus justified such a payment.

FINANCING COMMONWEALTH.

Power Company Prepared to Take Over Properties in Middle West.

Hodenpyle, Hardy & Co. of New York; E. W. Clark & Co. of Philadelphia, and W. A. Foote of Michigan, who are associated with the management of the Commonwealth Power Railway and Light Company, have formulated a plan for financing the acquisition by the Commonwealth of the Union Railway Gas and Electric Company, operating properties in Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin; the Michigan Railways Company, controling water power privileges on the Manistee River, Michigan, and now engaged in the construction of interurban railway lines in that State, and the Springfield Light Company of Ohio.

The Commonwealth Company will issue at once $7,500,000 five-year 6 per cent. convertible bonds to get money needed for the extensive improvements and construction under way in Michigan. Under the plan proposed, the parent company will exchange its stock for shares in the three companies to be acquired.

If the plan proposed is ratified by stockholders, the Commonwealth's capitalization will be increased to $16,000,000 of 6 per cent. cumulative preferred and $15,500,000 common. The combined gross earnings of the companies for the year ended March 31, 1913, were $13,184,795.

Texas Railroads Prosperous.

AUSTIN, Texas, April 30.—The State Railroad Commission to-day made public a statement of the business of the Texas railroads for the eight months ending Feb. 28, 1913, compared with the same period the year previous. It is shown the railroads have made money, the total operating revenue being $81,227,434, increase $8,973,687, or 14 per cent; operating expenses, $59,377,199, increase $5,886,940, or 11 per cent; income from operating, $21,850,237, increase $4,886,747, or 23 per cent.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

While most of the leading stocks registered sharp recoveries in the early dealings on the Consolidated Stock Exchange, compared with the low levels touched on Tuesday, special spots of weakness developed in several sections of the list as the session progressed, with the whole marekt exhibiting a reactionary tone toward the close. The 9:30 o'clock prices reflected advances compared with Tuesday's closing figures ranging from ⅛ to 1⅛ points. Union Bag and Paper sold at 5½ and American Car and Foundry at 48, representing the only market for those stocks reported in Wall Street during the day.

OFFERS 30 PER CENT. FOR KESNER ASSETS

ALL CREDITORS MAY JOIN IT

Court Directs Receivers to Accept Offers Unless a Better Bid Is Made by Saturday.

A meeting of the creditors of the J. L. Kesner Company, dry goods merchants at 363 Sixth Avenue, was held yesterday in the Federal District Court before Judge Julius M. Mayer, pursuant to a notice that a statement of the assets of and claims against the company would be presented at the hearing by the receivers, Leo A. Price and Abraham S. Gilbert.

Joseph M. Hartfield, representing the Twenty-third Street Stores Corporation, made an offer for the entire assets of the J. L. Kesner Company equivalent to 30 per cent. of the net indebtedness of the concern. Coupled with the offer was a statement that any creditor of the J. L. Kesner Company would be allowed to come in as a member of the corporation on payment of an advance equivalent to 25 per cent. of the indebtedness of the J. L. Kesner Company, to that particular firm or corporation. The Twenty-third Street Stores Corporation was formed by J. L. Kesner, the Hanover National, the Chemical National and the Chatham & Phoenix National banks, all creditors, for the purpose of bidding for the firm's assets.

It was shown by the report of the receivers that the Kesner store had been conducted by them at a heavy weekly loss, and that in consequence it was necessary that steps be taken immediately to dispose of the assets and distribute the proceeds to prevent further loss.

As the offer of the Twenty-third Street Stores Corporation would insure to the creditors about 30 per cent. of their claims, Judge Mayer directed that the bid be accepted, unless a larger and better bid was made for the property on or before 11 o'clock on Saturday, May 3, to which hour the meeting was adjourned by the Court.

According to the report of the receivers, the book value of the assets of the J. L. Kesner Company as of April 25, was shown to be $1,267,793.80, on which $501,084.43 probably can be realized after liabilities amounting to $42,738.32 have been deducted. Claims against the company amount to $1,387,587.01.

Included in the net realizable assets are $147,080.02 cash on hand and in banks, accounts receivable of $62,259.30, and merchandise, premium parlor, and sundry supplies of $295,554.15. Fixtures valued on the books at $547,845.16 are reported to be worth only $20,000. The book value of the stock, $452,775.61, was reduced by the receivers' estimate to $294,304.15. As contingent assets the receivers added claims against the Grabowsky Power Wagon Company for breach of contract and damages amounting to $40,649.07.

The liabilities include claims on notes payable amounting to $364,245.64; due for merchandise, $519,230.73; a claim of J. L. Kesner amounting to $217,684.16; claims arising from uncompleted contracts for materials, expense and future services, $99,436.85; claims for services rendered, $18,146.92, and claims for rents of $60,090.08.

On the note claims the report shows that the J. L. Kesner Company owes the Hanover National Bank $234,801.79, the Chemical National Bank $88,263.62, and the Chatham and Phenix National Bank $44,163.01. The advertising accounts payable totol $121,695.97, including a judgment for $28,405.76 obtained by The Press Publishing Company.

A MANUFACTURER WISHES THE LOAN OF $5,000 FOR TEN MONTHS. W 153 TIMES

NINE MONTHS' TRADE WAS $3,300,000,000

BIG BALANCE IN OUR FAVOR

It Is Over $500,000,000 — Great Britain Our Best Customer —Canada Second.

WASHINGTON, April 30. — William C. Redfield, the Secretary of Commerce, in commenting to-day upon the detailed figures concerning the imports and exports of the United States for the month of March and the nine months ended March 31, said:

"The figures are striking, both in their magnitude and in their details. The aggregate business, inward and outward, of the United States with foreign countries for the nine months was a little in excess of $3,300,000,000—an impressive total, which if maintained at the same rate would bring the business for the entire fiscal year well in excess of $4,100,000,000.

"Great Britain is our largest customer, buying from us over $478,000,000 and selling us over $234,000,000, an aggregate for the nine months in excess of $712,000,000, or a total business of nearly $80,000,000 a month. Canada is our second best customer, buying from us $300,000,000 in nine months, equal to nearly $1,300,000 every working day. A pretty fair customer that. Then Germany comes third, buying $268,000,000 from us in nine months and selling us $146,000,000. She is a pretty fair customer, too—buys over $1,000,000 a day. And fourth comes France, to whom we sold $120,000,000, and from whom we bought $112,000,000.

"It is when we come to look at the details of our foreign commerce by what are called great groups that we get at the most striking facts. If, for example, one is told that our exports fell off in March, as compared with the same month a year ago, by about $18,000,000, so that we sold only $187,000,000 abroad in March, that might not seem a favorable condition. But when one looks a little closer, he finds that the falling off was almost wholly in the sales of crude materials for use in manufacturing, and that, so far from a loss, there was an absolute gain in the important items of manufactures, which in the two important classes of manufactures for further use in manufacturing and in manufactures ready for consumption actually increased in the month of March by about $13,000,000. So that our manufacturers held their grip upon the foreign markets of the world more strongly in March than they did a year ago.

"The figures for the entire nine months are such as to give just pride to every thoughtful American to whose notice they come. Out of the total transactions of $3,300,000,000 there is a balance in our favor of a little over $500,000,000. Doing pretty well, that. But a few comparisons with 1912 make it look even better. For example, our sales of manufactures for further use in manufacturing increased over $56,000,000, and our sales of manufactures ready for use increased over the same period last year $88,500,000, an increase in these two lines of manufactured goods alone of over $144,500,000, as compared with the same period of last year.

"This does not look like weakness in competing power, especially when one looks at the table of percentages published with the others and finds that the three groups, which include manufactured goods of all kinds, constitute 59.5 per cent. of our total exports."

CARRIERS MUST MAKE CASE.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The intention of railroads throughout the country to ask the Inter-State Commerce Commission to sanction a general increase in freight rates caused much discussion here to-day in certain official circles. While members of the commission feel that the matter should not be commented on by them, it is gathered that the official view is that the railroads must show sufficient change in conditions to justify the proposed increases since the commission's refusal in February, 1911, to grant the advances then asked for by the Eastern railroads.

It was pointed out to-day that, so far as the commission is aware, the situation with respect to the cost of handling freight by the carriers has not changed materially in the twenty-six months since the commission denied what the Eastern roads wanted. Apparently there is an inclination on the part of members of the commission to believe that railroads could materially increase their freight revenues and reduce the expenses of handling freight by putting into effect certain changes of method and abrogating certain favors which, it is alleged, have been granted to big shippers.

One specification is that railroads would be justified in charging shippers for the use of spurs erected from terminal stations to the places of business of the shippers. Another is that the railroads could find it possible to cut grain elevator charges now paid by them.

While this view appears to be prevalent in the offices of the commission, it cannot be said to have any official status. When the petitions of the carriers are presented the question will be taken up for exhaustive examination, and it is out of the question at this time to predict what the action of the commission will be.

AMERICAN TYPE STOCK.

$1,000,000 Preferred Offered for Subscription to Common Holders.

Holders of common stock of the American Type Founders' Company were notified yesterday of an opportunity to subscribe to $1,000,000 new preferred shares on the basis of one share of the issue to each four shares of common stock owned.

> You may have received a circular, sent by a broker, without the knowledge of the company, referring to $1,000,000 preferred stock of the American Type Founders' Company as already having been sold.
> This is an error. The stock has not hitherto been offered or sold. The law requires that new stock shall first be offered to the holders of common stock. The holders of common stock are now offered the first opportunity to subscribe to the new preferred stock, and none will be offered or sold until such stockholders have full opportunity to subscribe for their respective proportions, under the accompanying subscription circular.

Previous to their authorization of the new stock the Directors voted a common stock dividend of 2 per cent., payable in scrip. Each holder of the scrip may subscribe for one share of the new stock for each $8 of the scrip held, the balance of $92 a share being payable in cash in four installments.

BOARD TO VALUE RAILWAYS.

Commission Appoints 5 Engineers to Perform Tremendous Task.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The preliminary work of appraising the physical properties of the railroads of the United States under the law passed by Congress last Summer, will be begun tomorrow. The Inter-State Commerce Commission to-day announced the members of the Board of Engineers, five in number, who will undertake the gigantic task. They are:

R. A. Thompson, now employed in railroad valuation work by the California State Railroad Commission, and formerly engaged in similar work with the Texas Railway Commission.

E. F. Wendt of Pittsburgh, President of the American Society of Civil Engineers, who is in charge of the engineering work of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad.

Mr. Thompson had charge of the valuation of the railroads of Texas. His results there were in part subjected to fierce attack, but generally have been sustained by the courts. Prof. Pence has been identified with railroad valuation work in Wisconsin under legislation obtained through the reform activities of Senator La Follette.

The Board of Engineers will meet in a few days to determine the rules which shall govern the valuation. It is expected that the board will agree broadly on the principle of present cost of production, but will exclude properties held by railroads which are not used strictly for railroad purposes.

DICKSON OUT OF PUMP.

His Personal Interests Require His Time—New President Not Chosen.

William B. Dickson, President of the International Steam Pump Company, resigned yesterday at a meeting of the Board of Directors. It was announced that the demands of his personal interests had made imperative his withdrawal from active work as head of the company. William Guggenheim, Chairman of the board, will direct the affairs of the company until another President can be chosen.

Mr. Dickson succeeded the late Benjamin Guggenheim, who was lost on the Titanic.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

The wheat market recovered from the early weakness and final prices were unchanged to ⅛c net higher. Corn closed ⅜c net higher. The cotton market was again nervous and unsettled, though the close was steady, net 2 points higher to 2 points lower.

WHEAT.

An early feeling of weakness in the wheat market, attended by a decline of about half a cent under the previous night, was followed by a period of strength lasting throughout the afternoon, with final prices unchanged to ⅛c net higher. For the early heaviness a favorable Western crop outlook and unsatisfactory cables were chiefly responsible. One private estimate of the Kansas crop ran as high as 129,000,000 bushels and another one laid stress on the fact that Kansas could sustain 20 per cent. damage and still produce a crop of 100,000,000 bushels. It was not until afternoon that complaints about dry weather were heard, but bulls took advantage of the late upturn to circulate a number of reports about high winds and drought conditions in the Southwest, and also in Minnesota and the Dakotas. The complaints would doubtless have received but little attention had it not been for the fact that clear weather is predicted for the next day or two, and it is feared that the situation might be aggravated for this reason, and perhaps become rather an important factor in the market. On the whole, however, the crop and weather situation was regarded as very favorable. The principal cause for the afternoon strength was the critical situation in Southeastern Europe, although it did not result in any fresh export business, possibly because, commencing Thursday, American interests will sell to foreigners only on sight-draft-payment terms, instead of the present arrangement of sixty days. Broomhall cabled that members of the Liverpool Corn Exchange voted to trade only on the continuance of present terms. The Liverpool market was disappointing and closed ⅜d to ¼d lower, and there were slight declines in Continental markets. Minneapolis advices reported a decrease of 410,000 bushels in stocks during the last four days. Red wheat here continued nominal, and No. 1 Northern was quoted $1.02¾, free on board, afloat.

CORN.

Owing to light stocks of contract grade and a better cash demand from Eastern points, the corn market was quite firm yesterday, with prices at one time half a cent higher, and closing ⅜c above the previous night. Weather conditions were favorable over the belt, but induced very little pressure on the market. Country offerings have been rather light and only small deliveries are expected on Thursday. Irregularity was shown in the Liverpool market, where prices were quoted ¼d lower to ⅛d net higher. At New York export corn closed 65½c, nominal, free on board, afloat.

OATS.

This market also showed a good undertone throughout the day, led by May, which was up ⅞c per bushel on reports that a more rigid inspection was to be enforced at Chicago. The seeding of oats has made rapid progress well into the Northwest, under favorable weather conditions. Firmness was shown by cash oats in the local market, with quotations as follows: Standard white, 41c, nominal; No. 3, 40½@41c; No. 4, 39½@40c; natural white, 39@41c; white clipped, 40½@42½c, all track.

Receipts at Chicago were 21,000, Kansas City had 9,000, Omaha 7,700, and the West 80,000 hogs. Packing for the week was 462,000 hogs, against 505,000 last year.

COTTON.

The cotton market was nervous and unsettled yesterday, but an opening decline was followed by rallies, and it seemed that a somewhat reactionary sentiment was developing on the ground that prospective shipments from the local stock to Liverpool would leave comparatively little cotton in the local warehouses as a protection to the July short interest; that a considerable scattering short interest had been created during the past several days of declining values, and that after three or four weeks of generally good weather the chances favor less encouraging reports from the new crop. Advances, however, seemed to reflect more expectation of a temporary than of a permanent improvement, and the market met a good deal of cotton, which seemed to come largely from Southern sources. The close was steady, net 2 points higher to 2 points lower, near months being relatively firm.

The market opened barely steady, at a decline of 6 to 8 points, in response to lower Liverpool cables, a very favorable weather map, and nervousness over European politics. The initial break carried July and later positions into new low ground for the movement, and there seemed to be active realizing by old shorts around that level. In addition houses with Liverpool connections were buyers, although there was a considerable demand for old crop positions from spot interests, and the market soon steadied up from the lowest. A tendency toward improvement rendered buyers for a reaction somewhat more confident, and while the tendency of offerings to increase on a scale up caused considerable irregularity, prices reached the best point of the day in the late trading, and closed within 2 or 3 points of the highest.

Private cables attributed the relatively easy ruling of Liverpool to American and Continental selling, and said serious apprehensions were entertained regarding the possibility of complications in the Balkans. Late wires from Memphis claimed that spots were offering at concessions. Southern spot markets officially reported early were unchanged to ⅛c lower; generally unchanged. Weather reports were considered practically perfect, and while there were some unfavorable reports from the Southwest on the gound of recent low temperatures, the majority of the crop news was optimistic. Latest information indicates that Liverpool houses stopped at least 60,000 bales of the first May notices, and it is still predicted that this cotton will be shipped out unless the differences between the two markets narrow materially within the next two or three weeks.

The local market for spot cotton was quiet and unchanged, at 11.80 for midding upland; sales nil; delivered on contract, 400 bales.

COTTONSEED OIL.

A weaker undertone developed in oil yesterday owing to increased offerings of new crop crude, a less active spot demand, and selling of Summer months by refiners. Further tenders of 2,100 bbls were reported on May contracts.

COFFEE.

Foreign markets showed only a slight response to Tuesday's late decline, and prices here opened steady, at an advance of 4 to 8 points. By midday the market had lost all this early advance and declined to 4 to 5 points below the previous close for the active positions on a narrow and sensitive trade.

Late prices rallied quickly and closed steady, at a net gain of 5 to 8 points. Havre closed ½ to 1 franc lower; Hamburg was unchanged, ¼ pfennig decline; Rio was 50 reis lower, and Santos 100 reis lower.

MUCH INTEREST IN FRIDAY'S AUTO RUN

"Secret Time" Contest to New Rochelle Will Aid Orphans—Road Matters Here and There.

So far forty-two cars have been entered for the secret time run which is to be held by the Motor Dealers' Contest Association to-morrow. The run, which will start at 4:30 o'clock in front of the Manhattan Automobile Club, 222 West Fifty-ninth Street, will have New Rochelle as its terminus, and those who drive their cars over the distance in the time nearest that which has been selected and sealed in an envelope at the end of the journey, will be the prize winners. A number of machines have been entered in the electric car division to compete for the Poertner Trophy, and Mrs. Alice E. Waxam of the Electric Vehicle Association, who has been appointed Chairman of that division, expects others to enter before the lists close. The entry fees of the run are to be turned over to the Orphans' Automobile Day Association, to be applied to the children's annual outing on June 5. Nearly every dealer on the "Row" has either entered a car already or has promised to do so. There will be a dinner and dancing at the New Rochelle end of the jaunt.

Some important new highway legislation was passed by the North Carolina Legislature toward the close of its recent session. The chief measure was one providing for the construction of public roads in townships and authorizing the issuance of bonds to pay for them. Authority was given County Commissioners to issue bonds bearing interest not in excess of 5 per cent. and in amounts not to exceed $50,000 for any one township. The proceeds of bonds, the law declared, might be used fo restablishing, altering, repairing or in any way improving public roads and for the purchase of road machinery and tools.

It was further provided by this law that the money expended on roads should be devoted as far as possible to "permanent improvements" and that the County Commissioners might employ convicts to work for the improvement of township roads. In order to have bonds issued a petition must be signed by not less than a quarter of the qualified voters.

The touring department of the Automobile Club of America reports a poor stretch of road near Wallingford, Conn., on the stretch between New Haven and Meriden. The bad going in question is about two miles long. Work has been started on the State road between Cobleskill and Howes Cave, N. Y., on the main line between Albany and Oneonta. For some two miles and a half the highway has been torn up. A contract has been let for the treatment of twenty miles of the Valley Turnpike near Staunton, Va., which is the direct route between that place and Winchester, with a tar binder. This follows the treatment of a stretch twelve miles long near Winchester last Summer. State roads in New York, which are either in course of improvement or shortly will be, are those between Lithgow and Amenia, between East View and Briarcliff and between Pawling and Dover. Work has been started on the Boston Post Road at Mamaroneck. For about half a mile on each side of the village the highway is to be contsructed of brick pavement. Work is also under way from the Rye line to the point where this brick pavement begins.

TRAFFIC MEN IN BLACK FACE.

They Entertain Wives and Sweethearts with a Minstrel Show.

The men who mind the traffic for the Eastern railroads, as well as the men who watch over the traffic interests for the big manufacturers and shippers, dressed themselves up in black face Tuesday night and gave a minstrel show at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel for the benefit of their friends.

The appearance of the Grand Ballroom, in which the entertainment was held, was such as to suggest that most of the traffic men had wives or sweethearts whom they succeeded very much in pleasing. Of the 1,500 persons in attendance, the men were in the minority, while the women led in all things from the appreciation of the minstrel jokes to the encoring of the soloists.

The afffair was arranged by the Entertainment Committee of the Traffic Club of New York, in lieu of a Spring dinner with "tiresome Spring speeches."

BUSINESS NOTES.

The seventh annual convention of the National Wholesale Grocers' Association will be held at Atlantic City on June 4, 5, and 6. The convention programme was mailed to the members yesterday by Secretary Beckmann.

Shipments of domestics and cotton duck from this port last week amounted to 6,694 packages, valued at $677,942. Exports to China comprised more than half this total, being valued at $393,164. Business in the export market continues light.

Charles Wolff & Co., ribbons, 542 Broadway, have engaged the first loft in the building at 352 Fourth Avenue. They will move there about July 1.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

The Argentine Mercantile Marine at the end of 1912 comprised the following: Steamers 6 to 20 tons, 243, with 2,651 tons register; 20 to 100 tons, 222, with 11,757 tons register; over 100 tons, 224, with 109,425 tons register; total, 689, with 123,833 tons register. Sailing vessels numbered 1,241, with 96,898 tons register.

In 1912 Russia produced 36,868 short tons of copper, against 28,294 tons in 1911. This output did not cover the requirements, and about 8,280 tons were imported.

Consul B. S. Rairden of Batavia, Java, reports that the production of Banca tin during 1912 was 24,995,440 pounds, an increase of 523,872 pounds over 1911. The Banca mines are largely owned by the Dutch Government and let out to miners. Tin mining in the Island of Billiton is carried on in a similar way through a large concessionary company.

English manufacturers are waking up to the fact that the trade of the Federated Malay States and Straits Settlements is worth fostering. An English cotton manufacturer recently went there to develop an already increasing trade, while two English commercial representatives have just arrived. One sells motors and motor cycles, the other soaps and perfumes.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Bronzes by Prince Troubetzkoy Gain Reduction on Their Merits.

The Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday sustained a protest by the Art Institute of Chicago, relating to the classification under the Tariff Act of 1909, of bronze statuary executed by Prince Troubetzkoy. The Collector, at Chicago decided that the articles were dutiable at the rate of 45 per cent. ad valorem under the provision in the law for manufactures of metal. The importer established that the statuary should be regarded as sculptures dutiable under paragraph 470, at 15 per cent. ad valorem. Judge Waite held that the standing of Prince Troubetzkoy entitled the works to enter as contended.

It was decided that numerous articles of brass, silver, glass, china and wood, entered by Miss Nancy Flagg of Gloucester, Mass., were properly assessed at various rates, according to the materials of chief value. Miss Flagg contended that all the articles were antiques within the law, and therefore exempt from duty. The board finds that the regulations of the Secretary of the Treasury were not complied with and overruled her protests.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

Manufacturers Want Drawbacks.

The Dress and Waist Manufacturers' Association is working to obtain drawback allowances on models brought into this country from Europe for purposes of adaptation only. The present duty on these dresses is 60 per cent. ad valorem, while the new Underwood bill fixes it at 30 per cent. The foreign invoice value of the models is usually much higher than when the dresses are sold for commercial purposes, and in many cases the full duty puts the landing cost at almost prohibitive levels. The plea of the association is that these models be subject to the full drawback allowance when re-exported or surrendered to the Treasury Department for destruction. According to Secretary Bartholomew of the association, Representative Underwood has consented to a plan which will enable the Finance Committee of the Senate to amend the bill to permit this allowance.

Big Ribbon Auction Coming.

Cheney Brothers, manufacturers of silks and ribbons, will hold a peremptory trade sale of ribbons on May 8, at 488 Broadway, under the direction of Wilmerding, Morris & Mitchell. About 10,000 cartons will be offered, including plain and satin taffeta, moire, wash, and other ribbons in white, black, and colors, and in widths ranging from 2 to 70 lignes. The goods will be sold in lots of five cartons each, and four months' credit will be given to approved names. Alphonse Montant will be the auctioneer.

May Celebrate Holidays on Monday.

As Memorial Day and Fourth of July both fall on Friday this year, many business houses, which cannot remain closed from Thursday until Monday, are considering closing on the latter day, instead of the holiday. They believe that their employes would prefer that to celebrating the regular holidays, and having their rest sandwiched in between two work days. The plan is especially favored by concerns regularly giving Saturday half-holidays.

Resent Increase in Linen Rates.

Dissatisfaction is felt in local linen circles over Schedule J of the proposed Tariff bill as amended by the Democratic caucus. The revised schedule makes an advance of 5 per cent. in the rate on cheaper-grade towelings, shirtings, and suitings. It is said that the advance is contrary to party pledges, and affects principally the poorer class of consumers.

Don't Want Ad Valorem Duties.

Importers of canned goods are protesting against the proposed levying of ad valorem duties on these goods. They say that the true values of canned foodstuffs cannot be determined within 1 or 2 per cent., and contend that the suggested penalty of an increase of 1 per cent. in duty for each advance of that amount, determined by the Appraisers, above the entering value given, will cause much trouble and loss.

NEW RULES FOR BAGGAGE.

Maximum Length for Free Trunks 45 Inches—Ban on "Freaks."

CHICAGO, April 30.—A 45-inch trunk is the longest that may be carried as free baggage on railroads in the United States after to-day. Also, the new rules frown on the trunk with bulging sides or bottom designed so that it must stand in a certain position in order that the gowns or hats inside may travel right side up. It may be some time, however, before the "freak" trunks can be refused. Notice is required in order to reject them lawfully.

Five pounds for each inch over 45 inches is the rate of excess charge that will be levied under the new rules.

TUBE TRAFFIC INTER-STATE.

Commission Decides Kentucky Bore Affects West Virginia Traffic.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—In a case unique in the history of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, it was decided to-day that a tunnel 1,500 feet long, wholly within the limits of Kentucky made the traffic via the Baltimore & Ohio from Huntington, West Va., to points on the Norfolk & Western in the same State inter-State traffic, although only the tunnel is outside the West Virginia limits.

The commission also reduced the freight rates on steel rails and like commodities shipped by that route.

LAKE FULL OF ICEBERGS.

Captains Report Unusually Dangerous Conditions in Superior.

DULUTH, April 30.—Vessel Captains arriving here to-day from down the lake report coming through ice that was piled on a level with the decks.

"Lake Superior is filled with small icebergs from end to end," one of the Captains said. "The ice is unusually solid for this time of the year, and unless we can get a spell of warm weather navigation will not be safe for several weeks."

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

Makers of silk hats report an increasing demand for flat-brimmed, tapering crown effects from stage folk and the younger men.

Paris has apparently put a ban on sleeves on Summer evening dresses. Some of the recent models show the shoulders covered only by a draping of diaphanous silk.

Brown will be a popular color in floor coverings this season, if bids for rugs of this color at the auction of this merchandise now going on here can be taken as criteria. Fine floral patterns will also be popular.

KIRBY WON'T RUN AGAIN.

He'll Retire This Year as President of Manufacturers.

After four years in the Presidency of the National Association of Manufacturers, John Kirby, Jr., of Dayton, Ohio, announced in a circular letter yesterday his determination not to accept a renomination at the approaching convention in Detroit.

Mr. Kirby explained his determination by advancing family and business considerations, and was careful to point out that he was still in hearty sympathy with the association's standards.

"The sentiment which has inspired my activities in the cause of righteous industrial freedom during the past fifteen years or more," he said, "is as pronounced to-day as ever."

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Atlantic Coast storm has passed to the Grand Banks of New Foundland, and it has been succeeded by fair and pleasant weather throughout the East.

The Western storm is drifting southeast, and Wednesday night its centre was over Colorado, whence it will move east over the middle Plains States during Thursday. Thus far it has been attended by little precipitation.

Temperatures are unusually high over the great Central Valleys and the Southwest, and a general change to warmer weather is in progress east of the Mississippi River. Decidedly colder weather has overspread the north Rocky Mountain region, and the cold weather continues on the Pacific Slope.

Generally fair, with a gradual change to warmer weather, will prevail Thursday and Friday throughout the East and South. The Western disturbance will move slowly east, attended by unsettled weather and scattered rains, which will extend into the Upper Mississippi Valley and the lake region within thirty-six hours. The weather will be fair in the Far Northwest and on the Pacific Slope during Thursday and Friday.

A change to considerably colder weather will overspread the south Rocky Mountain region, the Middle Plains States, and the extreme Upper Mississippi Valley Thursday and the Middle Mississippi Valley and the South Plains States Friday.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND FRIDAY.

Eastern New York, Southern New England, New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair Thursday and Friday; slowly rising temperature; light to moderate variable winds.

Northern New England—Fair Thursday and Friday; rising temperature; moderate variable winds.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

United Charities Enlarges Holdings by Two Twenty-third Street Parcels—$650,000 Loft Sale in Thirty-first Street—Bakery Firm Buys Big Washington Heights Plot—Suburban Deals.

Two additional purchases by the United Charities on Twenty-third Street just east of Fourth Avenue have given that organization a frontage there of 75 feet abutting the large Charities' Building on the northeast corner of Fourth Avenue and Twenty-second Street. The property just acquired consists of the two 25-foot plots at 106 and 108 East Twenty-third Street. The former was purchased a week ago at auction by the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company for $106,000, at that time the buyer simply being given as a client. In announcing the actual purchaser yesterday the same brokers also stated that they had acquired from William H. L. Lee, as attorney for the Demorest Estate, the plot at 108. The lot at 104 has been owned by the United Charities, so that its plottage is now increased to 75 feet adjoining the building of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children on the southeast corner of Fourth Avenue and Twenty-third Street.

The United Charities own the lower half of the Fourth Avenue block, including the Kennedy Building in the middle of the block given by the late John S. Kennedy, and adjoining this on the Twenty-second Street corner is the large Charities' Building, 60 on the avenue by 150 on the street. Two years ago the adjoining parcel at 111 East Twenty-second Street was acquired and last year 113 was bought from Mrs. Hewitt. On these two extra plots the society is planning to erect an addition to the main building in the future, but for the present the old buildings are to be remodeled and leased for business. The Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company are the agents for the property.

$650,000 Deal in Loft Zone.

One of the largest deals of the month in the midtown loft zone was reported yesterday by A. M. Janpole, President of the Napoleon Construction Company, which sold the new twelve-story commercial structure at 25, 27 and 29 West Thirty-first Street.

According to Galtner, Simon and Ascher, attorneys representing the seller, the Rutgers Realty Company paid $650,000 cash for the property and will hold it for investment. The structure occupies a plot 58.4 by 98.9 feet and was completed last February. Nine of the lofts have been leased for long terms.

Baker Buys on Washington Heights.

An important deal for commercial improvement in the upper Washington Heights section has been made by the bakery firm of L. A. Cushman, which has purchased from Franklin Pettit the block front on the south side of 167th Street, between St. Nicholas and Audubon Avenues. The plot contains about six lots, fronting 179.4 on the street, 84.10 on St. Nicholas Avenue, and 80 on Audubon Avenue. It faces the open space at the junction of Broadway and St. Nicholas Avenue and is opposite the American League Park. Mr. Cushman will erect a two or three story building on the plot, the greater part of which will be used as a bakery. Miss M. Monahan acted as the broker in the deal. The property was acquired a month ago by Mr. Cushman from the Huggins estate, and it has been held at $135,000.

Investors Buy Tenements.

The five-story flat house, occupying a plot 29 by 108 feet on the northwest corner of 117th Street and St. Nicholas Avenue, has been sold by Alonzo B. Kight to a client of C. E. Moore. The property was held at $65,000.

The Basonio Construction Company has bought from Peter A. H. Jackson's Sons the three-story front and four-story rear tenements at 19 Leroy Street, on a lot 25 by 100. This property was recently purchased from H. Mandelbaum. The buyers will improve the site.

The Hospital Estates, a holding company for the Presbyterian Hospital, sold 1,842 Second Avenue, a five-story tenement, on lot 25 by 100, to the M. F. & S. Realty Company, Inc. The same buyers are the purchasers of 409 East Fifty-second Street, sold recently by the Hospital Estates.

Recent Buyers.

The Stedman estate is the buyer of the four six-story apartment houses, on plot 206 by 99.11, at 239 to 253 West 145th Street, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, reported sold by Sonn Brothers Tuesday. The buyer gave in part payment a thirty-six acre tract fronting on the Williamsbridge Road, between Allerton and Mace Avenues, about midway between the Bronx and Pelham Parkway and the Gun Hill Road stations of the New York, Westchester, and Boston Railroad.

Bronx Borough.

Clement H. Smith has sold for George Hahn, 1,757 Bathgate Avenue, near 175th Street, a two and one-half-story frame dwelling, with store, to Mrs. Kate W. Whitbread. The buyer gave in part payment, a plot 50 by 257, on the west side of Ryer Avenue, 244 feet north of Burnside Avenue.

Edward Polak has sold for a client, a three-story brick dwelling, known as 1,655 Topping Avenue; also, to Rudolf Hall, lots 89, 90, and 91 of the Waring estate. The buyer will improve the lots with two-family houses.

Alexander Selkin, in conjunction with David Mintz, has resold for Hugo Helburn the five-story flat, 486 East 141st Street, on plot 37.6 by 100, to E. Brown for investment.

Theatre for Bath Beach.

Plans were filed with the Building Department of the Borough of Brooklyn yesterday by Shampan & Shampan for a theatre, to be erected on the northeast corner of Bath Avenue and Twentieth Street, Bath Beach, by the Stuyvesant Amusement Company of Manhattan.

The structure will occupy a plot 96 by 102 feet, and have a shifting roof. Work will be started as soon as the plans are approved.

New Jersey.

The W. J. Rich Development Company has sold, at Hillsdale, a nine-room stucco house on Magnolia Avenue, to John Randolph Thornton French, for $6,500.

Westchester County.

The Anderson Realty Company has sold for Samuel Gibson to Jeannette Riker of New York City a new brick dwelling, on a plot 75 by 100, on Sheridan Avenue, Chester Hill Park, and for Jeannette Riker her dwelling, 422 Homestead Avenue, Oakley Manor.

Shaw & Co. have sold six lots at Fisher and Colden Avenues and two lots on Summit Avenue, 100 feet south of Colden Avenue, White Plains.

Staten Island.

Cornelius G. Kolff has sold for the estate of Cornelia Ahrens to Mary D. Daly a two-and-a-half-story frame house, on a plot 33 by 100, at 58 Fifth Avenue, Fort Hill, S. I.

Oscar Hammerstein Takes Title.

Oscar Hammerstein took title yesterday to the property at Lexington Avenue and Fifty-first Street, on which he proposes to erect a new opera house. The plot fronts 50 feet on the avenue and 220 feet on Fifty-first Street, and was purchased by Mr. Hammerstein from Harris and Maurice Mandelbaum and Bing & Bing about a month ago.

The Messrs. Mandelbaum and Bing still retain both corners on Lexington Avenue at Fiftieth and Fifty-first Streets, measuring 100 by 47.3 and 50 by 100, respectively. Title to these parcels will be taken on May 12.

Leases.

Frederick Southack and Alwyn Ball, Jr., have leased the store and basement at 12 East Thirty-third Street for Ralph Wilson to The d'Amron Company, Inc., dealer in stationery and art novelties.

The Cross & Brown Company has leased for the Harrison estate the northerly store in the building at 362 and 364 Fifth Avenue to Russeks, modistes and furriers, now on Thirty-fourth Street and Fifth Avenue. The lease is for twenty-one years at an aggregate rental of $500,000. The same brokers have also leased the store at 1,966 and 1,968 Broadway to the Knox Automobile Company.

Clement H. Smith has leased for the Avenue Amusement Company to the New York Telephone Company the store, 19 by 100, on the north side of Tremont Avenue, between Washington and Park Avenues, known as 453 East Tremont Avenue, at a rental of $4,700 per annum.

Taxes Due To-Day.

Taxpayers are advised that their taxes for the first half of 1913 are due on the first day of May.

The other half is not due until Nov. 1, but may be paid earlier. There is no rebate for payment on the first half of a tax, but if the first half is not paid during May an owner must forfeit 7 per cent. interest until paid.

The first half of the tax becomes a lien after May 1. The second part of the tax becomes a lien after Nov. 1, and whoever owns the property on that day will have to pay the second half of the tax.

If an owner chooses to pay the second half of his tax in May, or at any time before Nov. 1, he will be allowed a rebate from the time of payment until Nov. 1 at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum for the intervening time.

Burden House Alterations.

Plans have been filed for altering the five-story private dwelling at the southeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Seventy-second Street, owned by the estate of James A. Burden. The alterations include the replacing of the marble columns at the entrance with new ones, new marble stairs, and new marble floors. Warren & Wetmore are the architects. The cost has been placed at $18,000.

New Construction Work.

Gronenberg & Leuchtag are preparing plans for two four-story apartment houses, to be erected on a plot 100 by 155.7, located on the north side of St. Mark's Avenue, 125 feet east of Kingston Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., for the Regal Holding Company, Inc., of Manhattan, owner. These buildings will cost $80,000.

The same architects are also drawing plans for three five-story apartment houses, to be erected on the west side of Wadsworth Avenue, 60 feet north of 185th Street, by the Comfort Realty Company. The structures will occupy a plot 154.5 by 115 feet and cost about $185,000.

Realty Notes.

The 600 West 157th Street Company has been incorporated at Albany with a capital of $1,000 and the following Directors: Anna Rebfeld, Anna Hyman, and Armin H. Mittleman.

The company will take over the property at that address. It is a six-story elevator apartment house, known as Audubon Hall, on plot about 123.8 by 101.97 by irregular, at the southwest corner of Audubon Place and 157th Street, just west of Broadway, title to which stands in the name of Albert L. MEANS BIG PROFITS AT BABYLON, L. I.

Wedged in between the homes of New York millionaires at Babylon, Long Island, there are a few choice plots offered for sale at prices which insure a big and quick return on the investment.

The value of any piece of real estate depends on the value of adjacent property. These plots are a part of the old True Estate on which many magnificent houses have been built, and are actually within speaking distance of these palatial homes.

The only reason we are able to make this offer is because we are willing to let a few in on the ground floor, in order to get cash quickly for development purposes. We have spent a great deal of money for the last five years on this property, and it will be offered at much higher prices to the public after May 31st. In order to get in at present prices, you must act at once. Write today for our booklet, "Beautiful Homes on Long Island"—it tells the whole interesting story.

MAXWELL ATTACKS; HANUS HITS BACK

GIVE CHANCE TO TEAR DOWN

And Make No Allowance for Great Difficulties Here—Investigator Defends His Work.

Four hundred men and women who attended the dinner at the Aldine Club last night in honor of Prof. Paul H. Hanus, who supervised the recent investigation of the New York Public School System, listened with keenest interest to a vigorous arraignment by Superintendent of Schools William H. Maxwell of many aspects of the Hanus reports and to a vigorous defense by Prof. Hanus.

The dinner was given by the City Club, the General Education Board, the Pratt Institute, the Public Education Association, Dr. Felix Adler, John M. Glenn, Miss Virginia C. Gildersleeve, and Dean James E. Russell. The gathering was called by Dr. Abraham Flexner "an unprecedented honor to a modest, quiet scholar, who had led an inconspicuous professorial life."

Dr. Maxwell had on previous occasions criticised the Hanus reports, but he surprised many last night by carrying the war with unusual energy into the enemy's camp. One of the principal censures of Dr. Maxwell was that the Hanus reports contained much that had never been tried, and that they judged the New York schools by standards which had never been applied elsewhere. This gave Dr. Hanus the opportunity later to draw great applause when he said:

"Educators have now ceased entirely to rely on opinion. They know now that the only way to settle a problem of education is by scientific experimentation."

Dr. Maxwell began by censuring the Board of Estimate for failing to appropriate the funds the schools needed. John Purroy Mitchel, the head of that board, who preceded Dr. Maxwell, fared nearly as badly at his hands as did Prof. Hanus, who came after.

"There are certain criticisms which I feel bound to make," he said. "In the first place, the Hanus reports do not speak with the authority they might have had they been complete. They consist of a series of monographs, many of them containing differing views. For instance, the report of Prof. Moore, (that which described the school system as politics ridden,) which was, to my mind, one of the most valuable of all the reports, is in direct conflict in many points with that of Prof. Eliot.

"I think we might have expected from these professors a good example of team work. But instead we have a collection of bureau-patent ideas—each investigator working on his own hook and working out his own theories. In one of the reports the organization of Superintendents, of which I am the head, is described as a bureaucracy. If there ever was an example of a perfect bureaucracy, such was certainly the group of men who made these reports."

Dr. Maxwell was wroth with the Hanus reports also because they contained no word of praise for the great advance made in New York high schools and secondary schools, and because they contained no word of allowance for the tremendous difficulties caused by the increasing population, by the fact that 1,500 inexperienced teachers have to be employed every year, and that thousands and thousands of pupils who enter school cannot talk English and do not talk English in their homes.

Further than this, the carping nature of the reports, he said, had given a handle to those who desired to tear down constructive work and to get all kinds of legislation passed for their own purposes and to the disaster of the school system.

The audience greeted Dr. Hanus by rising, and he showed in the beginning that the talk of Dr. Maxwell had stirred him up. He thanked all his hosts and then turned to defend the reports.

"We have not been blind to the great merits of the New York school system," he said. "I think, if the reports were here, I could show Dr. Maxwell many places where commendation is given. But it was our duty not to give commendation of merits, but with the help of the school system to reveal defects. It was in that spirit that the reports were made. They would not have been much good if they did not aim to uncover defects.

"At any rate, the reports were not weak tea. If they had been weak tea they would not have awakened so much controversy. It was a serious work, and as a serious work it had been accepted by Dr. Maxwell and his associates.

"I am glad that the reports contained so many proposals which had never been tried. No one now believes that an educational authority can solve a problem by thinking over it, and making a theory in his chambers. The value of such a theory can never be determined except by experiment. Defects must be remedied by experimenting, and for that purpose the reports contain a most important feature which has hitherto been very little noticed. The Board of Investigation intended to try out theories, and by the most careful checking of results to learn how defects might be cured."

HANUS FILES HIS REPORT.

Says Board of Superintendents Is Not Needed, but Whipping Is.

Prof. Paul H. Hanus of Harvard University submitted yesterday to the Committee on School Inquiry of the Board of Estimate the final report summarizing the investigation of the city's schools. Prof. Hanus has little of commendation to say about the schools. The whole system, he says, is defective and needs thorough reorganization. The Professor insists upon the restoration of corporal punishment, and advises that the Board of Superintendents be abolished.

"The Board of Education," says the report, "needs a clear conception of its functions and should come to close quarters with its work. In the general system of supervision helpful co-operation under leadership should replace bureaucratic control. The Board of Examiners is decidedly efficient, but needs reorganization to improve and maintain its efficiency. The quality of teaching in the elementary schools is not good. The courses of study for them and for high schools need thorough revision.

"Provision for the discovery, segregation, and treatment of mentally defective children is inadequate and unsatisfactory. The compulsory attendance service is inefficient; it emphasizes police functions rather than preventive measures and the staff needs reorganization on a functional basis. Part-time classes should be abolished.

Prof. Hanus describes the aims of the inquiry as being constructive throughout. Schools should be constituted, he points out, to provide adequately, "first, the means of appropriate, and so far as possible complete general development; second, various kinds of vocational training adapted to the needs, tastes, and future callings of all pupils who pass at once from school to their life work, and for those who wish to improve themselves after they have gone to work." New York City, he says, meets these standards of educational opportunity only partially, and in some respects hardly at all.

The scope and quality of classroom instruction was studied by Dr. Frank McMurry of Teachers College, Columbia University, and Prof. Hanus says that while the city provides a comprehensive programme of elementary education the actual work of the schools cannot be commended.

The immediate vital importance of the discipline question which is discussed in Dr. McMurry's report is emphasized by Prof. Hanus. He calls attention to the serious administrative problems presented by persistently unruly children because of the harmful effect of such children on the classes and schools where they are found, and he argues for the restoration of corporal punishment.

He recommends that the by-laws of the Board of Education expressly forbidding corporal punishment be rescinded; that the number of parental and disciplinary schools be increased; that the mode of commitment to these schools be simplified, and that corporal punishment be allowed in them; that in other schools, when it is deemed advisable by the Principal, one class or more, composed of persistently troublesome children, shall be formed, after the type of the present ungraded classes, and that in these special classes corporal punishment be allowed under certain restrictions.

Regarding mentally deficient children, the report says:

"The entire treatment of defective children is at present inadequate, owing to inadequacy of means and methods of recognizing mental defectives, particularly the high-grade type; and there is great waste of time and effort in the present ungraded classes, owing to the attempt to teach defective children reading, writing and arithmetic, which they will never learn well enough to use, instead of vocationalized manual training, and other forms of industrial work."

The results of the tests applied by Stuart A. Courtis to 33,350 New York school children, says the report, show great inefficiency in both accuracy and speed in computation and in simple reasoning. Compared with children of other cities, New York City children are slightly better in speed, but correspondingly worse in accuracy, and very poor in reasoning.

The expert condemns severely the present requirement that every pupil who wishes to graduate from the general course in any of the high schools must take three years of foreign language and two years of mathematics, and recommends that it be abolished. He finds that other high schools and high school classes are too large.

In conclusion Prof. Hanus recommends that as the school system suffers from a lack of definite and detailed knowledge of its own working and its own cost there should be established, as an integral part of the school control, a Bureau of Investigation and Appraisal.

"This bureau," he says "should be in charge of a Chief Superintendent, directly responsible to the Board of Education, and should be so organized as to enable it to serve as the central agency for gathering and interpreting statistical and other data with reference to the schools and for making such investigations as are necessary for the internal development and extension of the work of the school system."

MITCHEL FEELS SLIGHTED.

Got No Notice of Bond Meeting, He Tells Deputy Controller.

The antagonism between Controller Prendergast and President Mitchel of the Board of Aldermen, which came to the surface on Tuesday, when the Controller left the latter out of his list of available fusion candidates for the Mayoralty, was continued yesterday at the meeting of the Sinking Fund Commission. Mr. Mitchel was angry because he had not received notice of the intended bond sale by the city.

"The notice which reached me of yesterday's meeting of the commission was folded inside the one I received for to-day," said Mr. Mitchel, directly addressing Deputy Controller Mathewson. "I wish to register a strenuous 'kick' against sending out important notices in that manner. I should have voted against the bond issue, had I been present, I think."

Political sharps are watching with interest the progress of the fight between Mr. Mitchel and Mr. Prendergast, as it may have a bearing on the local campaign. There was a report yesterday that Mr. Mitchel, who is a candidate for the Mayoralty nomination, may make a stand for reduced taxation with the hope of getting the support of the real estate interests.

Sister Accuses Rafter.

Following charges by Mary C. Rafter of 43 West Eighty-sixth Street, that her brother, Edwin A. Rafter, an executor of the estate of his father, Edward Rafter, was irresponsible and had been guilty of appropriating to his own use funds of the estate, Surrogate Cohalan yesterday signed an order enjoining Mr. Rafter from acting as executor pending proceedings begun by his sister for his removal.

Hebrew Orphans at Hippodrome.

The Shuberts are planning the annual parties of orphan children at the Hippodrome. One hundred little boys from the Hebrew Kindergarten Day Nursery, 29 Montgomery Street, will attend this afternoon. The biggest party will occur next Monday afternoon, when 500 children from the Educational Alliance will come under the escort of ten teachers.

RED-SASHED GIRLS IN LABOR PARADES

TEDDY BEAR MAKERS IN LINE

Children of Paterson Silk Strikers Will Form Part of Uptown Demonstration.

The May Day parade of the downtown Socialists and the United Hebrew Trades, which will take place this afternoon, starting from Rutgers Square, according to a statement made last evening by the Parade Committee, will have in line more unions of garment workers than ever have appeared in a similar procession. The unions of clothing workers that have taken part in the big series of strikes in the last six months will be represented. A picturesque feature will be the appearance of girls who were in those strikes and who are working under agreements with the associations of employers.

The committee last evening assigned the organizations to their places in line. Samuel Lebowitz, organizer of the United Hebrew Trades, has been elected grand marshal. The parade will be in five divisions. B. Witaskin, another representative of the Hebrew Trades, will be assistant marshal, and will be at the head of the first division. The parade will start at 1 P. M. It will be followed by a mass meeting in Union Square, in which the uptown Socialists, who will have a separate procession, will join.

The first division of the parade starting from Rutgers Square will consist of the United Hebrew Trades, Branch 2 of the Socialist Party, the Jewish and Galician branches of the party, the Forward Association, the Ladies' Waist Makers' Union No. 25, which promises to have 10,000 women in line, and the White Goods Workers' Union, which will have 7,000 women marching.

The second division, of which Philip Gosseen will be marshal, will consist of Cloakmakers' Unions Nos. 1, 2, 10, 20, 23, and 25, and the Furriers' Union. The cloakmakers are expected to have at least 20,000 persons in line and the furriers 5,000.

The third division, which Rubin Guakin is to command, will be the largest of the five. It will consist of the joint board of the locals of the Brotherhood of Tailors, the District Council of the United Garment Workers of America and the unions of other branches of the men's clothing industry. In this division will walk the unions of workers in the men's clothing trades which took part in the recent strikes.

A. Slaboda will be marshal of the fourth division, which will consist of the bakers and the miscellaneous trades, including children's jacket makers, painters, the Socialist Territorialists, the Young Socialist Educational Party, the Bund, the Pohale Circle, and several branches of the Workmen's Circle, a benevolent association.

The fifth division, of which Samuel Epstein will be marshal, will be made up of painters, cigarette makers, mineral water workers, slipper makers, and unions on the east side that have been organized recently, including the Teddy Bear Makers' Union.

The parade will march through Canal, Orchard, Broome, Attorney, Rivington, Eldridge, and East Houston Streets, Second Avenue at First Street, Bleecker, Lafayette and West Fourth Streets, Washington Square, Fifth Avenue, Thirtieth Street, Fourth Avenue, and Seventeenth Street to Union Square.

All the thousands of girls in line will be dressed in white, with red sashes, and will wear red bands on their hats. The bakers' unions will carry a large loaf made of three barrels of flour and a cake of large size, the latter emblem to be borne on the shoulders of sixteen men.

The uptown parade will start from the Labor Temple in East Eighty-fourth street at 1 P. M. for Union Square. In it will be the uptown branches of the Socialist Party and many unions. Five hundred children of the striking silk workers in Paterson will take part in this parade. They will be taken to the Labor Temple in automobiles. About 10,000 of the striking silk workers of Paterson will be in line in the uptown procession.

Similar demonstrations will be held under the auspices of the Socialists in other cities throughout the United States and in many cities in Europe, May 1 being looked on by the party throughout the world as the Socialist International Labor Day.

Mena Quitting Panama for Jamaica.

PANAMA, April 30.—Gen. Luis Mena, the ex-Nicaraguan insurgent, who was detained here by ex-President Taft's orders and released by President Wilson, will sail to-morrow for Kingston, Jamaica. He has refused to discuss his plans.

SLAVE PICTURE REFUSED.

Brooklyn Institute Rejects Proffer of "To the Highest Bidder."

The action of certain trustees of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences in rejecting an offer made by Charles A. Schieren, former Mayor of the old City of Brooklyn, of a painting entitled "To the Highest Bidder," by Harry Roseland, caused considerable talk in art circles yesterday. While members of the Art Committee have not taken any official action, according to Prof. Franklin W. Hooper, Director of the Institute, the artist was informed that the picture could not be accepted because it tended to keep alive those memories which "had better be forgotten."

Mr. Roseland, who lives in Brooklyn, said he intended to have the institute give him a hearing on his picture. He said he did not see what objection the authorities there could have to it.

STEEL BUYERS CAUTIOUS.

Forward Orders Not Expected to Hold In So Great a Volume.

The greater caution of buyers of iron and steel is more a matter of comment as the season of active outdoor operations advances. In respect to steel products this is not surprising, seeing how far ahead many consumers are committed, but it signifies that the remarkable forward buying of 1912 will probably not be repeated. As applied to pig iron, it is construed in some quarters to mean that when contracting is resumed it will not be for as long periods as were covered by purchases in the second half of last year.

The complaint of fabricators that there is needless cutting in their business is intermittently stronger. Flood repair and reconstruction work, so far as heard from, is somewhat above 10,000 tons.

Pig iron prices are stationary in some districts and weaker in others. That consumption has not fallen away is strongly urged by sellers in support of the belief that a turn is not far off, but the foundry trade is talking conservatively and making no haste to provide for the second half.

Financing details are holding back car business both in England and the South. The latest inquiry is for 5,000 cars for the Erie, making a total of about 20,000 pending. The Grand Trunk has placed 2,000 cars with the new Eastern Car Company, New Glasgow, N. S.

More bar contracts run over into 1914, particularly with implement makers, than reviews of that market have generally indicated, and makers have held to 1.40c Pittsburgh.

The Iron Trade Review says:

Insistent demand for delivery of pig iron and finished materials brightens what would otherwise be a rather gloomy picture of market conditions. Everywhere are indications of activity in consumption. Another factor which is counted on to keep most mills busy during the next six months is the extraordinarily large volume of specifications now on hand as compared with other periods of prosperity. Leading steel makers state that from 50 to 55 per cent. of finished material tonnage contracted for has been specified. One large independent maker in the Pittsburgh district has 500,000 tons in specifications on hand, equivalent to three or four months' full output of its works, and also has about the same tonnage of contract bookings which has not yet been specified. Owing to these conditions mill operators are in a cheerful mood. They intend to take a firm attitude in regard to granting suspensions or cancelations.

Owing to the strong demand for hoops and bands at good prices, and also because of certainty that cotton ties will be put on the free list upon the passage of the new Tariff bill, there has been considerable uncertainty as to where the supply of cotton ties would be obtained for this year's cotton crop. It has just been announced, however, that several Northern mills have begun rolling cotton ties. There is now apparently no danger of shortage.

Passes Constitutional Revision Bill.

ALBANY, April 30.—Senator McClelland's bill which provides for the submission to the people at a special election in June the question: "Shall there be a convention to revise the Constitution and amend the same?" was passed by the Assembly to-day, the Progressive members voting with the Democrats. If the people vote to hold the convention delegates will be elected at the November election and the convention will assemble in April, 1914.

SEES PROGRESSIVE VICTORY

Woodruff Predicts That Result of Tariff and Currency Bills.

Ex-Lieut. Gov. Timothy L. Woodruff, at the dinner of the Progressive Economic Club in the Hotel Plaza last night, said the tariff legislation in Congress and the Currency bill favored by President Wilson would lead to results that would enable the Progressive Party to elect a President in 1916.

Mr. Woodruff denied he had opposed the candidacy of District Attorney Whitman for Mayor next Fall. He said he agreed with Controller Prendergast that the two men most available were Mr. Whitman and Borough President McAneny of Manhattan.

"No man has done a greater service for this city than Mr. Whitman," he added. In announcing his support of suffrage, Mr. Woodruff explained he had no use for militants, but he admired the work of suffragists like those of California and Colorado, where their use of the ballot already had brought improved conditions in civic life.

Book about Pianos

We have just written a booklet, "The Pith of the Piano Problem," which we will gladly mail you gratis.

In this new book you will find for the first time the vital points to consider in a piano—points which no one interested in the subject can afford not to know.

But "The Pith of the Piano Problem" is not technical—anyone can understand it, and it is written in an easy, chatty style—you will be delighted with it.

The fact that "The Pith of the Piano Problem" is published by a house which backs its product with a life-time guarantee should be convincing evidence of the value of the book.

It is so easy to be deceived about a Piano. They all look much alike on the outside—yet the inside is what really counts. "The Pith of the Piano Problem" goes to the very marrow of the subject and shows you what to avoid as well as what to look for in selecting an instrument.

"The Pith of the Piano Problem" has just come from the press.

Write for your copy now, and be sure of getting one of the first edition. No cost or obligation. Write today—a postal will do.
